CURTAIL CHARGE ACCOUNTS AND BUYING ON TIME

Anti-Inflation Drive Hits Consumers.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—As another drastic step in the anti-inflation program, the Federal Reserve board tonight clamped tighter restrictions on instalment buying and imposed new curbs on charge accounts.

The action, in the form of one amendment to a prior regulation, became effective at midnight tonight. The one order issued covered the various phases of the credit restrictions.

In expanding the scope of its regulation of consumer credit the board added many new items to the list of goods covered by its credit restrictions, increased required down payments, reduced the elapsed time for payment on instalment sales, and imposed time limits on payment of charge accounts and single payment loans.

Follows Roosevelt Talk.

This action was taken, the board explained, in conformity with President Roosevelt's special message to congress on inflation on April 27, in which he said: "To keep the cost of living from spiraling upward we must discourage credit and instalment buying and encourage the paying off of debts, mortgages, and other obligations." Reserve board officials estimated that the order would curb some two to three billion dollars in purchasing power in the coming year.

"As amended," said the board, "the regulation [as applying to instalment purchases] is extended to cover a comprehensive list of durable and semi-durable goods for civilian consumption and contemplates that the volume of outstanding consumer credit, already substantially diminished, will be further contracted in keeping with the government's purpose to prevent the rapid bidding up of prices."

Scope of Regulation.

Specifically the board's action curbs the nation's credit stream, the basis on which most business has been transacted, as follows:

1. The maximum period for payment of instalment purchases has been reduced to 12 months. It has been 15 months and under the board's original regulation was 18 months. The required down payment for virtually all articles on the list issued today has been raised to one-third of the purchase price. Down payments in the past have been allowed to range between one-fifth and one-third of the price.

The few exceptions to th above rule include instalment sales of automobiles and motorcycles, for which the down payment must be one-third and the maximum maturity 15 months, the same as before; and furniture and pianos, where the required down payment is increased from 10 to 20 per cent, and the maximum time for payment is reduced from 15 to 12 months in the case of new furniture, and from 18 to 12 months in the purchase of pianos.

One-third Down Payments.

2. Hereafter, for the first time, mandatory down payments of one-third and a maximum payment period of 12 months are imposed on these commodities: automobile batteries and accessories, tires and tubes, bedding, draperies, binoculars, additional household electrical appliances, used furniture, jewelry, luggage, athletic equipment, table and kitchen ware, pottery, glassware, yard goods, and nonmilitary clothing and furs, including shoes, hats, and other haberdashery.

3. The new limitations on charge accounts provide that unless payment is made by the 10th day of the second calendar month following the date of purchase no further credit may be extended to purchase any article in today's list until the items in default have been paid for in full or have been placed on an instalment basis for payment within six months. No down payments are required on purchases under charge accounts.

4. Loans of $1,500 or less which are

Munitions factories in Pilsen, Czecho-Slovakia, and Stuttgart, Germany, as well as Nazi airdromes in Belgium, France, and Norway, were battered by RAF flyers, London reported, and German shipping off Norway and Holland also was attacked.

Aided by new British and American equipment, a huge Red army struck at three German bases where Hitler is believed planning his "spring drive," attacking Kharkov, Kursk, and Taganrog under command of Russia's premier general, Marshal Semeon Timoshenko.

General in Bomb Raid.

On the Australian front it was announced that Brig. Gen. Martin F. Scanlon had taken part in a United States bombing raid on Rabaul, New Britain. Planes of his command wrecked three Japanese planes at the Rabaul airdrome.

Allied headquarters in Australia announced that Corregidor and the other fortified islands in Manila bay had surrendered to the Japanese. The invaders had attacked at midnight yesterday from captured Bataan.

Withdraw in Burma.

In Burma a general withdrawal by the British and Chinese armies was reported under way with the Japanese advancing over the Burmese border into China at Wanting. A second Jap column was driving to encircle and outflank the British along the Indian border in preparation for a march into India.

In Madagascar, where the British landed Monday, fighting was taking place between the French troops and the invaders. The Vichy government ordered its troops in the big island to resist.

NAVY WILL TRAIN NEGRO RECRUITS AT GREAT LAKES

The navy department in Washington and the 9th naval district announced yesterday that Negroes volunteering for naval service will be given training at the Great Lakes Naval Training station. First contingents of the volunteers are expected to start their courses about June 15, when new barracks are put in commission. Recruiting of the Negroes will be started as soon as the facilities are available.

"These recruits who have recently been welcomed into the naval forces will be given every opportunity to learn the fundamentals of seamanship and military life required before being sent to specialist schools or for service at sea," the naval station announcement said.

About a month ago the navy began accepting Negroes for general service in the navy, coast guard, and marine corps.

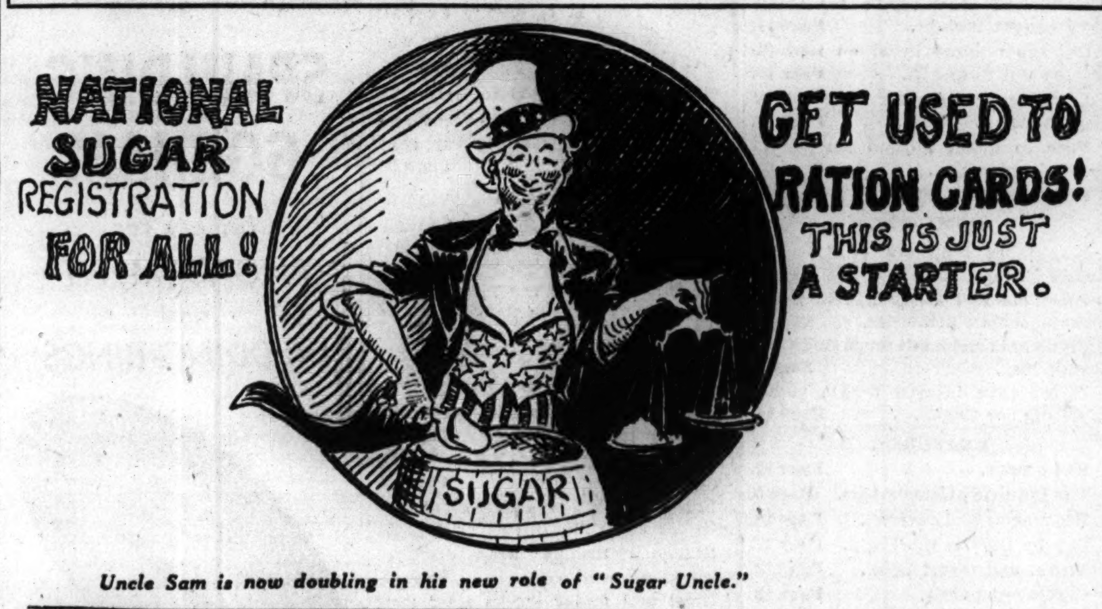
PERTAINING TO SUGAR



Uncle Sam is now doubling in his new role of "Sugar Uncle."

The whole nation will be completely registered for sugar ration cards in four days—showing how simple it would have been for the administration to poll the country on intervention or nonintervention during the debatable stage before Dec. 7.

As the old fashioned mother used to express herself in a moment of vexation when her emotions outran her vocabulary.

WAR STILLS SONG OF 'SINGING LADY'

Pleads That Children Be Taught Why Men Die.

Columbus, O., May 5 [Special].—Her voice choking and tears misting her eyes, Ireene Wicker, the original "singing lady" of radio fame who used to sing to boys and girls across the land from station W-G-N in Chicago, today urged that radio stop giving American children soft lullabies.

Ireene Wicker.

Sharing part of her stardom in entertaining millions of young radio listeners a few years ago were her children—Nancy, now 17 years old, and Walter Charles, 19—who were in the "Nancy and Charlie" travel series. Last October, Walter went overseas as a flight sergeant in the royal Canadian air force.

Audience Enthralled as Children.

As spellbound as the children who once listened to her singing "Painted Dreams" and other radio make believe, her audience of men and women listened today as she spoke quietly at the convention of the Institute for Education by Radio.

Previous speakers had stressed that radio broadcasting must emphasize the implacability of war. The delegates wondered what attitude would be taken by the slender, attractive woman who had sung and laughed for so many young folks.

"Children, too," she began quietly, her eyes glistening, "must know for what men are dying and for what they also must be asked to lay down their lives.

Children Future Defenders.

"Children are to be our future defenders. They will have to die as our men are dying today to save the democratic way of life."

Her voice broke and she struggled to regain her composure. Then she went on:

"You men are writers; you know what you are talking about. Write . . . write . . . write for the children as well as the grownups."

Sobbing, she turned away and walked quietly from the hotel ballroom where the meeting was being held. The mystified audience sat speechless for a few moments. Then a man rose and explained quietly:

"Ireene Wicker received word last night that her son was killed in action with the royal Canadian air force."

35,000 Lilac Bouquets Bring Spring to Shut-Ins; More Today

BY GAIL COMPTON.

Great rivers of color and fragrance flowed into Chicago from all sides yesterday to open the 14th annual "Share Your Lilacs" campaign.

While the blooms were being distributed among the sick and shut-ins of the city's hospitals and institutions, hundreds of persons were at work in the suburbs cutting and wrapping more lilacs in preparation for today's distribution. Workers promised an even greater supply of flowers for today.

The work of gathering and delivering the lilacs is under the supervision of the Chicago Plant, Flower, and Fruit guild, which coöperates with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in sponsoring the lilac campaign.

Work Begins Early.

The first of the two lilac days began early when huge boxes and cartons of fresh flowers were delivered to railroad stations in suburban areas. At each station members of garden clubs affiliated with the guild supervised the placement of the blooms aboard the trains. Eight railroads placed more than 65 trains at the disposal of the lilac workers and brought the flowers freight free into city terminals.

At the terminals the fragrant bouquets were loaded into trucks and sped to orphanages, old people's homes, hospitals and other institutions, most of which were on the south and west sides. Nurses, interns, truck drivers, and passers-by carried great armfuls of the delicate blossoms into the wards and placed them at the bedsides of the patients.

As the fresh and fragrant perfume swept thru the rooms and wards, eyes opened everywhere, expressions of gratitude were heard, and in many cases heads were turned aside so that sudden tears of joy would go unseen.

LILAC PICTURES.

35,000 Bouquets Distributed.

More than 90 hospitals and institutions were visited and almost 35,000 bouquets distributed.

Among the most grateful recipients of the lilacs were the veterans at the Edward Hines Jr. hospital. A huge truckload of the fresh blooms was taken directly to the hospital from the Tribune farm near Wheaton.

Several other truckloads were taken to Tribune Square before they were delivered and were piled in a colorful mass about the statue of Nathan Hale in the court between Tribune Tower and the W-G-N building. A soldier, sailor and marine posed beside the mountain of blooms for photographs. Assisting at the ceremony were T. V. Purcell, president of the guild, and Mrs. Warner R. Nelson, general chairman.

After the ceremony the flowers were loaded into the trucks and taken to Fort Sheridan and Great Lakes Naval station, where they were distributed among soldiers and sailors who are ill.

Today lilacs will be distributed to hospitals, homes, and settlements on the north side. If there are more than enough blooms to go around second visits will be made to other institutions.

Guild officials predict that this year's lilac campaign will rival last year's when a new record was set with the delivery of more than 100,000 bouquets to 25,000 patients in 158 hospitals and institutions.

FRENCH REJECT F. D. R. DEMAND; BATTLE BRITISH

Madagascar Forces Told to Resist.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Map on page 8.)

VICHY, France, May 5.—French troops tonight fought the British for possession of the island of Madagascar in the Indian ocean.

The military engagement came on the heels of the Vichy government's rejection of President Roosevelt's warning against putting up a fight for the big French island and the issuance of an order to the Madagascar garrison to resist "aggression" to the death "for the honor of France."

The fateful decisions were announced by Pierre Laval, new chief of government. He said that despite Mr. Roosevelt's note, "forbidding the French to defend their possessions, no definite gesture in breaking relations with the United States will be made by France."

British Occupy Cape.

At a late hour tonight the British were reported to be in possession of the Cape Amber peninsula, north of Diego Suarez naval base on Madagascar. Other advices said the British forces had reached Andrakaka, four miles from the naval base.

[The British said they were moving on the naval base. In Washington Secretary of State Hull disclosed that the United States was keeping an alert watch on the French island of Martinique in the Caribbean. Details on pages 7 and 8.]

The assault on Madagascar was made public by Laval, who said the British force consisted of about 20,000 men, assisted by seven units of the British fleet—two or three cruisers, two troop transports, and two destroyers.

The British approached Diego Suarez on the northern tip of the island and sent an ultimatum to the French to surrender the island unconditionally and at once.

Rejects Ultimatum.

Gov. Gen. Armand Annet of Madagascar rejected the ultimatum, replying that he would defend the island to the end.

The attack began immediately, the British making landings and using parachute troops to seize strategic points. Two British planes were reported to have been shot down.

The day's fast moving developments began with issuance of Laval's note rejecting Mr. Roosevelt's warning. The note said:

"In reply to the note handed in today by the chargé d'affaires of the United States of America, the French government raises the most energetic protest against the aggression of which Madagascar has just been the object on the part of British forces.

"It notes the assurance given that Madagascar will be returned to France some day.

"It rejects as inadmissable the pretention of the government of the United States to forbid that France defend herself when her territory is attacked.

Cites Army's Tradition.

"The French government is the sole judge of the obligations imposed by its honor. In that manner, the defenders of Madagascar have understood correctly their duties. They have not hesitated, despite their numerical inferiority, to carry out their duties according to the most noble tradition of the French army.

"England so often since the

Map of Madagascar

In all issues of tomorrow's Tribune will appear a large scale color map of Vichy France's great island of Madagascar in the Indian ocean, which has been occupied by British forces with the full approval of the United States. The British move is seen as an effort to forestall possible attempts by the Japanese to seize the island in order to sever the supply routes around the southern tip of Africa to ports in the middle east.

Japs Drive Into China; Fight to Flank British

CHUNGKING, China, May 5 (AP).—The Japanese armies stormed onto Chinese soil thru the Burma back door today and began a movement of envelopment designed to entrap and destroy the British who stand between the invader and India.

The vanguard of the Japanese columns crossed the shallow Wanting river into China's Yunnan province at the end of a 500 mile advance up Burma.

The advance to Wanting represented a 90 mile drive along the Burma supply road from Lashio.

Meager military advices told of fierce fighting in the mountainous area on both sides of the border; official reports indicated the Chinese still held the Chinese customs station of Wanting and had, for the time at least, halted Japanese reënforcements at Chukok, on the Burma side.

British Face Flanking.

Another arm of the Japanese advance, based on Kutkai, inside Burma, appeared to be trying to forge northwest toward Bhamo, head of navigation on the river Irrawaddy, 170 miles north of fallen Mandalay.

This force will try to flank and cut off the British who are withdrawing up the Chindwin river valley toward the Indian frontier.

Japanese bombers heavily raided Yungchang, 100 miles inside Yunnan province at the intersection of the Burma road and the upper reaches of the great Mekong river.

Chiang Kai-shek's military spokesman indicated, however, that the defenders were prepared to tear up even the Chinese end of the Burma road above Wanting if necessary to bar the path to the heart of free China.

"The situation is serious," the spokesman said, "but there is no alarm among our people or in the army. There will be no relaxation in our efforts to resist the enemy."

American volunteer flyers shot down eight Japanese planes in air battles today over Paoshan on the Burma road, it was officially announced in Kunming. Japanese forces, fighting their way along the road, sent bombers ahead in an attempt to bomb Paoshan. One Japanese bomber was shot down Monday, the announcement added.

Rapid Withdrawal On.

NEW DELHI, India, May 5 (AP).—Officers returning from the Burma frontier said tonight that a rapid allied withdrawal was in progress in Burma. A spokesman here said it appeared likely a considerable number of both British and Chinese troops would be captured by the Japanese.

United States and British operated air lines were doing a "last ditch" job of evacuating as many troops and refugee civilians as possible. Those being brought out were mostly women and children.

Seven planes of Pan-American airways were diverted from the China transport to the evacuation service and hauled out 1,200 persons before the Japanese virtually surrounded the air field several miles north of Mandalay.

British Are Flown Out.

The Chinese 6th army on the eastern side of the Irrawaddy river was scattered in small pockets for a hundred miles south of Lashio as well as to the north and east of this junction of the railroad connecting with the now severed Burma road.

British soldiers, who were flown out, had been fighting four months without relief, constantly faced with fresh Japanese divisions and hammered unceasingly from the air. But they came out with full equipment, ready for service again after brief repairs in the hospital.

Four days ago, three of the "Tiger squadron" tangled with a group of 30 Japanese fighters, shot down 13 and escaped without loss. On their return to their base they found the Japanese had bombed the runways. They landed on small undamaged stretches, refueled and took off for more fighting. The volunteer group has moved back to a new base.

RAF Bombs Gdynia, Port on Baltic, Moscow Claims

LONDON, May 5 (AP).—The Moscow radio tonight reported the British RAF made a daylight raid Monday on Gdynia, Baltic port where the 26,000 ton German battleship Gneisenau is reported undergoing repairs of damage sustained in the Nazi fleet's dash thru the channel. Ships and harbor installations were blasted at the former Polish port, the Moscow broadcast said. London sources said nothing was known here of this report.

ALL MANILA BAY FORTS TAKEN BY JAP INVADERS

Troops Exhausted, Short of Food.

ALLIED HEADUARTERS, Australia, May 6 (Wednesday) — (AP).— Corregidor and the other fortified islands in Manila harbor surrendered today, it was officially announced.

Besides the fortified rock that is Corregidor Island, where Fort Mills is located, the United States forts which had held out in the entrance to Manila bay were Fort Hughes on Caballo Island, Fort Drum on El Fraile, and Fort Frank on Carabao.

The end came in the second day of the final Japanese assault, launched at midnight Tuesday, Manila time, with landings from Bataan peninsula after Corregidor particularly of the American forts had been pounded again and again by Japanese big guns and aerial bombs.

Corregidor alone had 300 air raids since Dec. 29 when 35 Japanese bombers attacked for three hours.

MacArthur Statement.

A spokesman for Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who led the brilliant defense of Bataan and the forts at the mouth of Manila bay until ordered to Australia, made this announcement at 4 p. m. (1 a. m. Chicago war time):

"Gen. Wainwright has surrendered Corregidor and the other fortified islands in Manila harbor."

There were believed to be about 7,000 men and women altogether on Corregidor and the other fortified islands.

Besides the original garrisons, there was a naval detachment originally consisting of some 3,500 marines and blue jackets who were removed to Corregidor when fighting ceased April 9 on Bataan peninsula and a group of army nurses also reached the island.

Lieut. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright has been in command of the forces in that sector since March when Gen. MacArthur made his journey by torpedo boat and airplane to Australia, where he arrived March 17 to take up supreme command of the united nations forces in the southwest Pacific.

Gives Japs Naval Base.

The fall of United States guardians of the entrance to Manila bay threw open Manila to Japanese use as a naval base more than four months after the Japanese occupied the city. The naval base facilities which the United States navy had there, however, at Cavite, inside the bay from the guardian forts, were destroyed when the withdrawal from the Manila area was carried out before the fall of Manila Jan. 1.

Resistance continues, however, in the Philippines. A United States army spokesman said that fighting was progressing on the islands of Cebu, Mindanao, and Panay.

The fall of the Manila bay forts was understood to have been announced within an hour

INLAND DETAILS UNION TERRORISM TO GET MEMBERS

Workers Tell Brutality in Booklet; Ruling Awaited.

How the Steel Workers Organizing committee [CIO] built up its membership of workers in the Inland Steel plants in northern Indiana by dues picketing and sluggings is related in a booklet just put out by the company. The evidence is in the form of sworn testimony of employés who were beaten or barred from their jobs by violent acts.

Inland, which is a Chicago owned corporation manufacturing steel at the rate of 3 million tons or more a year, now is engaged in a battle with the SWOC, which has demanded a closed shop, a check-off, and a raise of $1 a day for each man.

Before Labor Board.

The case is before the National War Labor board for decision, and industry and labor all over the country are awaiting anxiously for the precedent that will be established — approval or disapproval of the closed shop and check-off.

The company, whose book of 145 pages is entitled "Facts," contends: [1] that many of the SWOC members were coerced by dues pickets into signing up last year; [2] that the check-off is an admission of the union's right to be subsidized by the employer at the employés' expense, and [3] the closed shop is too important an issue for the board to decide —that congress should debate and decide on a national policy toward it.

Officials of the steel firm have decided that the whole case is of such supreme moment to the war effort and to American institutions that the public should be fully informed of the issues. It was announced that Clarence B. Randall, a vice president, would hold a press conference in Washington, D. C., today and release the booklet and all the evidence which has already been presented to a three man panel of the board. Arguments are still to be heard by the full board.

Opposed by Many Workers.

Many of the Inland workers were opposed to SWOC domination last year and defied the dues pickets. At one time this particular form of violence was enjoined by the federal District court, but according to the company it was resumed last summer and fall. Excerpts from the testimony given by non-CIO workers follow:

John Thomas Karonek, a roller in the East Chicago plant, said that he was on his way to work when his car was stopped by "a mob of men" he estimated at 150. "I stopped and these men kept hammering at the car till they busted the windows out the right side, busted the windshield, broke the headlights, and tore the handles off the doors . . . they yanked me out . . . a bunch of these guys says kill him and fists started flying in all directions." He was taken into a "dues car" and made to pay up. "I didn't have no choice but to pay my $4."

E. R. McMillan, roller in a cold strip mill, was dragged from his car at the plant gate. "While I was in the car they forced me to back up and made me get out of the car and they slugged me. . . . I did not know who the men were . . . they were all strangers. There were about 150 to 200 and they had picket badges on. They dragged me out and made me sign up. I was coerced into joining. I paid them $4 at the Baltimore hotel, which was about 50 feet from the place where they stopped my car. They shoved me over. I have worked for Inland since 1911."

Joseph Gross, a grease cleaner at the cold strip department, was halted at the gates by the pickets. "They told me to go home if I ain't got no dues card. . . . I made a bee line and got about the middle of the bunch. . . . They jerked around and shoved around until they had me down and while they had me down they gave me a couple of fist pokes on the cheek. I bruised my elbow . . . and bumped my hip. . . . There were about 30 pickets altogether. Five attacked me. I recognized two of them. . . . Joe . . . and Lewis . . . both are CIO stewards. I didn't sign up . . . my old man signed up because he didn't want to see no bloody battle line. My father signed up for me."

Carl L. Woodin, a locomotive engineer for the company and a member of a railroad brotherhood [AFL], was stopped at the plant gates and told he could not work without a CIO card. He persisted in an attempt to go thru. "They surrounded me and in a circle about three men deep . . . they shoved me back with their hands." When Woodin tried another part of the line, he said, he was told: "If you are looking for trouble this is a good place to get it. You might as well forget about going to work. Either that or go down and join up with the CIO." He did not sign up and it was four hours later before he could get to his work.

Charles Ward, a truck driver and a member of the AFL teamsters, was halted by pickets near the plant. When he showed his union card he was told: "We do not recognize the AFL in the plant, only with the exception of masons." He was held by two men. "I tried several times to crash the line and each time I would be confronted with several men." He was able to get to work, but over three hours late.

Sam Pinepinto, who tried to go thru a dues picket line on Aug. 28: "I walked up to the gate and they grabbed me by the arm and asked for my book. A fellow told me there was a line over there and I could sign up. I told him I didn't have time and walked on." Another man who tried to get thru was told he would "have his head busted." Pinepinto was halted. "I saw pickets stop cars and men from going into the plant. There were red flares stuck in the telephone poles. They had a sound car that played the 'Star Spangled Banner' and said we should sign up and get our dues book." Unable to get thru, he went home, missing a night's work.

John K. Bryan was refused permission to enter the plant and upbraided because he had been "in opposition to their union and that I was branded . . . and could not get into their union for any lousy $3 initiation fee; that it would cost me more and plenty more." He saw about 65 men stopping workers on foot and in cars. Unable to get thru the crowd, he went home.

Charles Bailor, "Met some pickets. . . . They grabbed hold of my shoulder and asked me where my dues book was. . . . They said no book, no work. I tried to go ahead, but the men pushed me back and I stood there . . . and saw it was useless to try again. . . . I saw the pickets stop several cars." Bailor got into the plant later by an alley entrance.

Hubert Waltz, who was halted by pickets who asked to see his dues book: "I said I haven't got it. They said you can't go to work; pull over to the side. There were 35 in the group around my car and others behind them. I knew it was no use to try and go thru them. One of the reasons why I didn't try was because the union had put out orders saying that the injunction was no go."

Clarence A. Martin, who ran thru a picket line to reach his job, refusing to stop when 15 men piled on his car. "I am a free American and feel I can work any place I please and if they keep up there may be trouble."

Joe Lisczak, who was halted by pickets and told: "If you don't join you can't go in." Lisczak said he had seen other men roughly seized by the shoulders and pushed around.

Inland has presented data to the three man panel of the War Labor board that has heard the evidence showing that the average wage of their workers is estimated at $1,993.

ASKS NEW DRAFT ORDER FOR MEN WITH FAMILIES

Bill Divides Class A Into Seven Groups.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—Sweeping revision of the 3-A dependency classification of men registered for conscription and awaiting a call to the colors was asked today in a bill introduced by Sen. Robert A. Taft [R., O.]. In his measure, the senator proposes to do away with the present system of lumping together all men with dependents, regardless of number or status, and to substitute a series of grades or classes based on the degree of dependency in individual cases.

Meanwhile, the house military affairs committee reported the pay increase bill for all branches of the armed services. It wrote into the bill a proviso restricting the granting of so-called "quickie" commissions to men without military training from civilian life. This proviso would limit such commissions to specialists whose particular knowledge or skill cannot be obtained by the army and navy in any other way. It also would require the services to report the details of such commissions, including names and reasons, to congress every 60 days.

Pay Boost Has Senate O. K.

The pay increases for soldiers and sailors have already been approved by the senate and the house is expected to act late this week or early next.

Under the legislation, the base pay in all branches of the service is increased from $21 to $42 and moderate increases are provided for each succeeding grade up to and including ensigns in the navy and second lieutenants in the army and marine corps.

In introducing the bill for a change in dependency classifications, Taft warned that "many men with actual dependents" face conscription for active military service. He asserted the uncertainty arising in the minds of registrants from the existing system is threatening to disrupt the civil life of the nation.

The bill would require that each of the proposed classes of dependency would have to be exhausted by the local boards before the next one could be called up.

Proposed Draft Classes.

Following are the classes listed in the order in which they would be called:

1. Men under 35 years old who are unmarried and childless, or married since Sept. 16, 1940, the date of the draft act.
2. Men between 35 and 45 who are unmarried and childless, or married since Dec. 20, 1941, when the draft was extended above 35.
3. Married men under 35 without children.
4. Married men over 35 without children.
5. Men under 28, married before the draft, with children.
6. Men between 28 and 35, married before the draft, with children.
7. Men over 35, married before Dec. 20, 1941, with children.

As a further safeguard against hardship, Taft urged speedy action in handling pending legislation to grant family allowances to members of the services with dependents. Bills providing for deductions from the pay of soldiers and sailors for the support of dependents plus the payment of federal benefits for wives, children, and other relatives are pending before the military affairs committees of both houses.

"There has been great discrimination thruout the United States with reference to the question of dependency," Taft said. "Some local boards have been very strict indeed, and others have classified in 3A practically every man who is married.

Asserts Boards' Rules Differ.

"Boards have made different rules to determine when a wife is dependent. The question is further complicated by the arrival of children, so that today many men are in the army who actually have dependents unable to support themselves."

The measure would in no way affect the jurisdiction of local boards regarding occupational deferment, Taft emphasized. Nor, he added, is it intended to be retroactive regarding men already drafted.

Action on the pay increase bill in the house committee came after protracted consideration of an amendment barring all untrained civilians from commissions regardless of their prior training in private life. In its original form the measure was introduced by Rep. James I. Faddis [D., Pa.], who asserted that only graduates of accredited officers' schools or training courses ought to be eligible for commissions.

Opposed by Patterson.

At a morning hearing this proviso was opposed by Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson and Brig. Gen. John H. Hilldring, assistant chief of staff in charge of personnel. They insisted that only men from the ranks or officers' training graduates are appointed for strict military functions, whereas civilian experts are necessary in such special skills as procurement and supply, radio operators, industrial engineers, etc., for which the peacetime army had little chance to build up a pool of experts.

Patterson said that the war department was building an army of 6 million men but did not indicate when that goal would be reached.

The compromise version, permitting the commissioning of specialists with regular reports to congress of these appointments, was finally agreed upon at a closed afternoon session. The vote was 2 to 1, according to Chairman Andrew J. May [D., Ky.].

WPB CUTS GAS AND FUEL OIL TO 50 PCT. IN EAST

17 States Affected by Order.

Washington, D. C., May 5 (AP).—Gasoline consumption in the east will be slashed 50 per cent below normal starting May 16, the War Production board announced tonight. This means that many of the area's 10,000,000 motorists probably will get as little as five or six gallons a week. The reduction becomes effective the day the 17 states and District of Columbia which comprise the area begin using ration cards.

While the over-all curtailment will be one-half, informed sources explained that it would cut nonessential users of automobiles about a 60 per cent, since necessary vehicles will continue to receive their full requirements.

Autos "National Resources."

The WPB action, taken on recommendation of Petroleum Coördinator Harold Ickes, came shortly after Joseph B. Eastman, defense transportation director, declared "every owner of a motor vehicle in public or private service should realize that he holds this vehicle in trust for the national war effort and that it should be used only for purposes of necessity." He said this applied to the whole country, not merely to the east.

Eastman's statement, issued in connection with the creation of a division to administer sweeping new powers over all rubber tired vehicles, warned that the rubber shortage is a "grave reality."

See No Seizure of Cars.

He did not amplify his remark that automobiles and tires are a "national and not a private resource," but other office of defense transportation spokesmen said it was "purely rhetorical" and did not imply federal requisitioning of vehicles, tires or tubes.

Simultaneously with the gasoline order, WPB directed that deliveries of light fuel oil also be reduced by 50 per cent below last year, beginning May 16 in the same area. This was the first cut on fuel oil, used for house heating. The order applied to deliveries to suppliers.

Oregon and Washington, already cut one-third below normal, were not mentioned in today's order.

On May 16, WPB explained today, the Office of Price Administration will place in effect a temporary emergency gasoline card rationing plan in the east, which will remain in effect until July 1 when a more elaborate rationing program will go into operation. Officials declined to give any hint as to the possible ration allowance for each motorist, under the card system.

REVEALS MIDWAY BEAT OFF FIVE JAP ATTACKS IN A DAY

Pacific Fleet Chief Gives Honors to Defenders.

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., May 5 (AP).—The repulse of five Japanese attacks on Midway Island, the last on March 10, was revealed officially today. Midway is 1,149 miles northwest of Hawaii. It still is in American hands, altho Wake Island, 1,200 miles west of Midway, was captured by the Japanese early in the war.

The announcement followed the return of Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, from inspections and the awarding of honors to marine corps aviators and naval personnel for their heroic defense of the Hawaiian outpost.

Nimitz revealed Midway had been attacked each month since Dec. 7 except April. He personally decorated the marines for shooting down a four engined Japanese patrol seaplane making the last attack March 10.

Flyer Gets Navy Cross.

Capt. James L. Neefus, leader of the intercepting flyers, was given the navy cross. Distinguished flying crosses were awarded First Lieut. Charles W. Somers, Second Lieut. Francis P. McCarthy, and Marine Gunner Robert L. Dickey. Dickey is recuperating at the Mare Island, Cal., navy hospital. The medal will be forwarded to the mainland for presentation.

In making the awards to the others at Midway, Adm. Nimitz said:

"It is a pleasure to visit this command, which on several occasions since Dec. 7 has demonstrated the alertness and ability to resist enemy attack.

Attacked by Submarines, Too.

"On the opening day of the war you successfully repelled bombardment attacks by enemy cruisers and destroyers. Since you have been attacked each month save April. Once in January and twice in February you were bombarded by submarines. In each instance your prompt return fire caused the enemy to submerge and withdraw before damage was inflicted. In at least one case the enemy sustained probable damage. On March 10 aircraft approaching Midway were discovered and one was shot down and destroyed many miles from the objective. None reached the islands. . . ."

Neefus' action included taking fighter planes aloft in the face of difficult aerial combat conditions and heavy cloud formations which favored the Japanese.

The Americans suffered no losses.

Others Given Honors.

Comm. Cyril T. Simard of the naval air station at Midway, and Lieut. Col. Harold D. Shannon, commanding the marine defense battalion, were awarded letters of commendation by Nimitz.

Three naval reserve seamen, first class, and three marine corps enlisted men were cited and advanced one grade for efficient operation of aircraft warnings. They were Robert B. McHunn, Ace B. Callan, Claude A. Webster, Staff Sergt. Donald E. Wambold, and Privates Michael Gaydon and Martin Y. Andres.

Neefus' home is in Gainesville, Fla.; Somers' is Salisbury, N. C.; McCarthy's is Newtonville, Mass., and Simard's is La Mesa, Cal.

PHILIP MURRAY RAPS JOHN LEWIS FOR NOT KEEPING CIO PLEDGE

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 5 (AP).—Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial organizations, today openly charged his former chieftain, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, with failure to give him the support in the CIO which Lewis once pledged.

The charge was delivered during a 90 minute address to a tense audience of 700 delegates attending the opening session of the Pennsylvania Industrial council [CIO] representing 500,000 members.

"I was asked, I was pleaded with to become president of the CIO, knowing in my heart that many of the organizations and many of the men affiliated with the CIO did not want me . . ." said Murray. "I was told—and 600 CIO delegates heard it—that 'right or wrong,' you have my support.'

"I have not received that support and, whilst I have not, I'm not going to beef about it particularly—I'm going to keep fighting and fighting."

A CIO spokesman said Lewis uttered the "right or wrong" statement at a state CIO convention dinner in Harrisburg honoring Murray following Murray's ascendancy to the CIO presidency.

WOMAN REVEALS $13,500 U. S. PAY, $22,500 'EXTRA'

Mrs. Rosenberg Has 2 Private Jobs.

Washington, D. C., May 5 [Special]. Influential members of the house appropriations committee declared today that they were determined to write into all future supply bills a provision prohibiting federal administrative officials from holding "sideline" jobs in private industry.

This resulted from disclosure at a closed meeting of an appropriations subcommittee today that Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg of New York, regional director of the Social Security board, receives large salaries from private industry in addition to her federal pay.

Mrs. Rosenberg's federal post pays $7,500 a year on a full time basis. In addition, she revealed, she is paid $20,000 a year for part time work as public and labor relations consultant to the Macy-Bamberger Stores in New York and Newark, and $2,500 a year for similar services for I. Miller, New York shoe dealer.

Salaries Total $36,000.

Mrs. Rosenberg, a frequent visitor at the White House, also is a consultant on the staff of Nelson Rockefeller, coördinator of American affairs, for which she receives $6,000 a year. Her total income is $36,000 a year of which $13,500 is paid by two government agencies and $22,500 by industry.

Arthur J. Altmeyer, chairman of the Social Security board, who accompanied Mrs. Rosenberg to the meeting revealed that in accepting the regional directorship six years ago, Mrs. Rosenberg made it a condition that she continue as labor consultant for private firms. For the most part the examination of Mrs. Rosenberg, was mild and friendly, particularly by administration supporters.

Fear Conflict of Jobs.

Committee members questioned whether the private work of Mrs. Rosenberg might not impinge on her government work. Altmeyer and Mrs. Rosenberg said the two activities were entirely different but some members of the committee were reported to doubt it.

Referred to occasionally as a "trouble shooter" for high administrative officials, Mrs. Rosenberg has worked on some important assignments on labor matters for President Roosevelt. She is secretary of the President's combined War Labor board comprised of AFL-CIO officers.

CRITICS NEEDED TO SAVE LIBERTY, THOMAS WARNS

New York, May 5 [Special].—Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, tonight expressed fear that the increasing efforts of the Roosevelt administration to suppress criticism may lead to loss of civil liberties which the nation is warring to preserve.

He deplored the attempt of the President and his associates to ascribe criticism "to the baleful machinations of the foreign enemy" and to term critics "a kind of sixth column who wittingly or unwittingly do Hitler's bidding."

Thomas attacked various propaganda and censorship agencies as inefficient and confusing.

While granting Mr. Roosevelt's sincerity of intentions, he asserted:

"I state a fact written in blood and tears on the pages of history that good men and their intentions are mortal but power lives on and grows by that on which it feeds.

Great Peril in Repression.

"In our America no dangers from stupid or wrong headed criticism are comparable to the dangers of repressing it. Without criticism England already would have been lost. In our own country racial discrimination, graft, waste, inefficiency and indecision would have weakened us as no foreign enemy could do.

"On the whole it becomes increasingly difficult in the press and on many radio stations fully to discuss issues literally of life or death to the people.

"In the denial of liberty in America and the restrictions of freedom of speech to the right only to preach war and more war, lies a danger to everything we love not to be found in any sixth column which the President and his supporters have discovered."

Discusses "Bogus Patriots."

Of the President's fireside chat warning that the war effort "must not be impeded by a few bogus patriots who use the sacred freedom of the press to echo the sentiments of the propagandists in Tokio and Berlin," Thomas retorted:

"Offhand most Americans would probably say amen to these sentiments. But wait a minute.

"What are the standards of honest criticism and how does one test falsification of act? When are the self-styled experts ignorant when they disagree with the administration? Is every man a fraud and not entitled to the 'sacred freedom of the press' if he happens out of conviction to make some criticism which bears some resemblance to some remark in the millions of words put out by enemy propagandists?

"Indeed, this is as good a time as any to say that the government is not getting its money's worth, or the taxpayers' money's worth, out of the innumerable, uncoördinated, inharmonious, overstaffed, and overpaid agencies of propaganda and censorship.

"Between the lot of them they help public morale—or do they?—by first telling us to be sure to plan to can vegetables and fruit and then telling us that we cannot have sugar; by announcing that in the eastern states the gas ration will be cut to two gallons and a half, and then denying it, and by giving us information on battles weeks after everybody else in the world has heard about them.

"For this service Sen. Robert A. Taft [R., O.] has estimated that the people of the United States pay some 5,000 men about $30,000,000 a year. Some of these self-sacrificing patriots are reported to be drawing higher salaries than they ever drew in their civilian lives."

GOV. BUSHFIELD AND BERRY WIN IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Sen. Bulow of Congress Pensions Group Loses.

Sioux Falls, S. D., May 6 [Wednesday] —(AP). — Sen. W. J. Bulow was defeated for the Democratic nomination to succeed himself, incomplete but representative unofficial returns from South Dakota's primary election on Tuesday showed today.

Tom Berry, former governor and state party chairman, held a lead of 18,504 to 8,356 over Bulow as reports from 1,166 of the state's 1,948 precincts were tabulated.

Gov. Harlan J. Bushfield [R.] will be Berry's opponent for the senate in the fall on the basis of returns from 1,170 precincts. He was leading Secretary of State Olive A. Ringsrud, who accused him of "isolationism" in her campaign speeches, 39,725 to 24,585.

Supported Pensions for Congress.

Bulow was chairman of the senate civil service committee which reported out the "pensions for congress bill."

Rep. Karl Mundt [R.] outran Herbert S. Barnard 4 to 1 to win renomination in the 1st district. His Democratic opponent in November will be Fred Hildebrandt, a former representative, who retired in 1940 to seek a senate seat.

Incomplete returns indicated the four way Republican gubernatorial race must be decided at the party's June convention. None of the four received the 35 per cent of the vote necessary for nomination. Tax director Joe H. Bottum held a slight lead over Attorney General Leo A. Temmey, former Attorney General M. Q. Sharpe, and Rural Credits Director Millard G. Scott.

MADDEN LEADS SCHULTE

Indianapolis, Ind., May 6 [Wednesday].—Rep. William T. Schulte, labor backed congressman from Indiana's steel [1st] district for five terms, today appeared beaten for Democratic renomination by Ray J. Madden, former Lake county treasurer, who learned his first politics from the Bryan brothers in Nebraska.

Incomplete returns from yesterday's primary election gave Madden 6,339 votes against 4,306 for Schulte. Schulte refused to concede defeat. Madden moved to Gary from Omaha several years ago.

Five other incumbent congressmen opposed for renomination held substantial leads in skimpy unofficial returns. Six incumbent congressmen were renominated without opposition.

Returns Are Delayed.

Despite the fact that counting of ballots began at 6 p. m. following one of the lightest primary turnouts in Indiana history, election officials said no substantial count of returns would be available before tomorrow afternoon. In Indianapolis all ballots were being counted by a central board of canvassers instead of by precinct workers, a procedure adopted because of previous election frauds.

Renominated without opposition were Rep. Raymond S. Springer of Connorsville, 10th district, a Republican, and Rep. William H. Larabee, of New Palestine, a Democrat now representing the 11th district but seeking reëlection in the 10th because of reapportionment.

Robert A. Grant, Republican representative, was renominated over Herman W. Voges of Elkhart by an overwhelming majority. In the corresponding Democratic race Lewis Murphy appeared headed for victory.

Brisk Florida Race.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 5 (AP).—Three Florida congressmen appeared headed for renomination on the basis of early unofficial returns from today's Democratic primary election, while Rep. R. A. [Lex] Green of Starke and Earnest Overstreet of Miami were running a nip and tuck race for the state's new sixth seat in the house.

With unofficial returns from 381 precincts out of 1480 tabulated, Green had 32,970 votes; Overstreet, 24,877; Wallace Tervin of Bradenton, 4,194, and Barney Cohen of Orlando, 3,687.

Bankhead Renominated.

Montgomery, Ala., May 5 [Special].—Senator John Bankhead [D., Ala.] was renominated without opposition in today's primary election and 8 of 9 incumbent congressmen, 6 of whom had no opposition, also won renomination.

Chauncey Sparks, Eufaula bachelor attorney, on unofficial returns from 1,112 of Alabama's 2,291 boxes, had a majority of 1,603 over four opponents for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. Sparks' total was 54,766.

THE QUESTION.

Did you ever keep silent and regret it?

WHERE ASKED.

The Century building, 202 South State street.

THE ANSWERS.

Adeline Stachon, pay roll clerk, Morton Grove—When I broke out with an uncomfortable red rash, I went to work and suffered in silence. It's too bad I didn't mention it sooner for a couple of days later the doctor said it was measles and two weeks later three others in my office became ill with the measles.

Eileen McCarthy, stenographer, 1239 Winona street—In our class reunion I was voted as having changed the most in 10 years. None of them recognized me. Several times before I had met different ones of the class, but always waited for them to speak first. They never did and I'm sure I missed a lot by keeping silent.

Agnes Habler, order clerk, 1875 North Hoyne avenue—Originally, I had intended to have my long hair trimmed a bit, but when the beauty operator pointed out the advantages of the then popular pineapple bob I had no comments to offer. It was cut so short my friends hardly recognized me. It took a long time to get it back.

Mary Higgins, bookkeeper, 5304 Crystal street—Because I thought it was rather uncomfortable work to push myself into a promotion and a raise I just sat back and waited. I waited a year and if I had spoken up, as I should have, I would have been that much ahead.

Walter Prosniewski, certified public accountant, 5204 Henderson street—My wife talked me into buying one of those new style Panama hats in Florida. I remained silent and believed everything they said about what it did for me. Now I have a hat that I could do without.

Frank Cartwright, errand boy, 3072 Haussen court—When two of the photographers walked into the dark room I was so engrossed in my own work I didn't pay any attention to them. They of course didn't know I was there and turned on the light. They ruined all the films which represented hours of work.

FIRE HITS N. J. TOWN.
Hackettstown, N. J., May 5 (AP).—A fire in the heart of this town of 3,000 persons destroyed a bank and a department store and damaged several smaller buildings before being brought under control tonight.

FLYNN CLEARED BY GRAND JURY IN PAVING DEAL

New York, May 5 (AP).—A Bronx county grand jury tonight absolved Edward J. Flynn, national Democratic chairman, after an investigation into charges that city materials and city labor were used in paving a courtyard at Flynn's Lake Mahopac estate.

The jury cleared Flynn of having had knowledge that city employés and materials were used on the job, declaring:

"The evidence adduced showed that Edward J. Flynn had never expressed any desire that this work be done under city auspices or by city employés and without expense to him, but that, to the contrary, he had asked and expected that the work would be done by a private contractor to be properly charged for and paid by him."

The presentment said the work was done by employés of the Office of the Bronx borough president and that Flynn eventually paid the laborers at their regular city wages and returned paving blocks and gasoline to the city.

80 Witnesses Heard.

Touched off by charges from Paul J. Kern, ousted municipal civil service commissioner, the inquiry produced a parade of more than 80 witnesses, including Flynn, his wife, Mayor Fiorello La Guardia, and a score of high city officials.

The grand jury also declared that Kern's allegation of a conspiracy between Flynn, La Guardia, and Commissioner of Investigation William B. Herlands to suppress Kern's investigation were "entirely without foundation."

Discussing Kern's charges that there was widespread corruption in the Bronx, the presentment declared that the county is "singularly free of fraud and corruption." It added, however, that "'there were many irregularities revealed, that records kept were insufficient, and that insufficient administration opened the door to abuse."

Kern is Criticized.

The grand jurors said they believed assertions by James J. Lyons, Bronx borough president, that he was ignorant of the Lake Mahopac incident but "strongly condemned that ignorance."

Kern, who was ousted by La Guardia for "insubordination," was criticized in the presentment for his private investigation which "hampered the orderly progress of an experienced and competent investigator."

ARMY CITES 30 UNITS AS HEROES IN PHILIPPINES

Yanks and Filipinos Win Praise for Bravery.

Washington, D. C., May 5 (AP).—The war department today published general orders citing more than 30 units of the American and Philippine forces in Bataan, Corregidor, and other Philippine fighting zones for outstanding bravery in action during the earlier stages of the invasion of the islands.

Adding to more than 100 previous individual citations for gallantry, these citations included all the men in the various units, and were issued at President Roosevelt's orders on recommendation of Gen. MacArthur.

Detachments of the United States army, the navy, and marine corps, the Philippine scouts, and the Philippine army were included.

North Luzon Force Praised.

The citations follow:

"The north Luzon force, United States army forces in the far east, is cited for outstanding performance of duty in action. Attacked on Dec. 23, 1941, when in a state of partial mobilization and training, in the vicinity of Lingayen gulf, Pangasinan, Philippines, the north Luzon force withstood repeated assaults by greatly superior forces.

"When forced to withdraw by sheer pressure of numbers, despite the very heavy casualties inflicted upon the enemy, this force maintained complete cohesion while executing difficult delaying actions under heavy ground attacks supported by continuous bombardment from unopposed dive bombers.

"Losses in some organizations exceeded 50 per cent, but the undaunted valor of the depleted command made possible the successful withdrawal into the Bataan peninsula on Jan. 6, 1942.

South Force "Outstanding."

"The south Luzon force, United States army forces in the far east, is cited for outstanding performance of duty in action. Attacked on Dec. 24, 1941, when in a state of partial mobilization and training, in the province of Tayabas, Philippines, the south Luzon force withstood repeated assaults by greatly superior forces.

"When forced to withdraw because of a double envelopment, this force maintained complete cohesion while executing difficult delaying actions. Threatened with destruction by an attack on its rear, it threw out a covering force, halted the enemy advance and luded the trap, completing an extremely difficult movement into the Bataan peninsula on Jan. 1, 1942.

"The Philippine department, United States army forces in the far east, is cited for outstanding performance of duty in action during the period Dec. 8-Dec. 31, 1941.

"With its headquarters and its installations under intense aerial bombardment, utterly without protection, all of its agencies not only continued to function with marked efficiency but, also, by virtue of magnificent devotion to duty under fire, expended their activities in order to further the partially completed mobilization of the Philippine army.

Evacuated Its Supplies.

"Under increasing hostile bombardment it successfully evacuated all its installations and large quantities of additional supplies, by road or water, to the Bataan peninsula, thus contributing in great measure to the successful execution of the strategic plan of the commanding general, United States army forces in the far east.

"The far eastern air force, United States army forces in the far east, is cited for outstanding performance of duty in action during the period Dec. 8-Dec. 22, 1941.

"Deployed on inadequate air fields, at most places without anti-aircraft protection, and only partially equipped with modern airplanes, it was attacked on Dec. 8, 1941, by an overwhelming force of the enemy.

"Displaying magnificent courage and devotion to duty, it engaged the enemy that was greatly superior in numbers at every point and fought its limited equipment to destruction. Despite heavy losses, air and ground echelons continued to function at maximum effectiveness and extracted toll from the enemy far out of proportion to their meager means.

Coast Artillery Cited.

"The 515th coast artillery, anti-aircraft, United States army forces in the far east, is cited for outstanding performance of duty in action.

Constituted initially as a provisional unit on Dec. 8, 1941, when hostilities began, it effected its organization, obtained its materiel from depot stocks, and was in position to fire by daylight of Dec. 9, 1941. During the period from Dec. 9, 1941, to Jan. 6, 1942, this regiment defended initially Nichols field and portions of the city of Manila against heavy aerial attacks, materially reducing the effectiveness of the hostile bombardment.

"After the evacuation of Manila this regiment, thru skilfully executed displacements, successfully covered the retirement of the ground forces into the Bataan peninsula. Thru technical skill and courage and devotion to duty, the regiment contributed in large measure to the successful execution of the difficult movement that made possible the prolonged defense of Bataan.

Took Heavy Jap Toll.

"The 200th coast artillery, anti-aircraft, United States army forces in the far east, is cited for outstanding performance of duty in action. From Dec. 8 to Dec. 22, 1941, this regiment defended Clark field, Pampanga, Philippines, against attack by overwhelming numbers of hostile medium and dive bombers.

"Altho it suffered heavy casualties in personnel, the regiment, thru magnificent courage and devotion to duty, continued to display outstanding technical ability and executed a heavy toll from the attacking forces, thus materially reducing the effectiveness of the hostile attack.

"When Clark field was uncovered by the withdrawal of the north Luzon force, this regiment, displacing to the rear, successfully covered the retirement into the Bataan peninsula, contributing in large measure to the successful execution of the difficult maneuver that made possible the prolonged defense of Bataan.

Filipinos Get Award.

"Headquarters, headquarters detachment and army troops, United States army forces in the far east, are cited for outstanding performances of duty in action. During the period Dec. 8-Dec. 31, 1941, operating under continuous aerial bombardment, these units planned and directed the delaying action that made possible the withdrawal of the north and south Luzon forces into the Bataan peninsula; they planned and executed the evacuation of Manila and thru prodigies of labor, working to complete exhaustion of personnel, brought about the movement of supplies and equipment that made possible the prolonged defense of Bataan, the execution of demolitions that effected the delay essential to the success of the withdrawing and the maintenance of communications without which the maneuver might have failed.

"The 1st Philippine corps, United States army forces in the far east, is cited for outstanding performance of duty in action. Attacked on Jan. 21, 1942, in the Bataan peninsula by Japanese forces that were superior in numbers, training, and equipment, and with complete superiority in the air, its units maintained position thru sheer tenacity despite penetrations in front and left rear.

"Skilfully executed counterattacks, driven home with magnificent courage on the part of the troops, resulted in the isolation of four hostile elements and their consequent annihilation, thus restoring on Feb. 14, 1942, the integrity of the corps front.

Second Corps Cited.

"The 2d Philippine corps, United States army forces in the far east, is cited for outstanding performance of duty in action. Attacked on Jan. 7, 1942, in the Bataan peninsula, it withstood continuous assaults by superior forces supported by waves of unopposed medium and dive bombers operating over front lines and artillery positions.

"Its flank having been turned by a hostile penetration on Mount Natib, it executed skilfully conceived counterattacks with magnificent elan, thus making possible its successful withdrawal to a prepared battle position on Jan. 26, 1942.

"The Philippine department, United States army forces in the far east, is cited for outstanding performance of duty in action. During the period from Jan. 6 to Feb. 14, 1942, in the Bataan peninsula, all elements of the Philippine department, operating under conditions that imposed the utmost hardship upon officers and men, under continuous aerial bombardment, performed prodigies far beyond reasonable expectations, in the execution of its mission.

Maintained Supply Flow.

"Improvising means under the most difficult conditions, it maintained equipment and the even flow of supply and evacuation, making possible the magnificent resistant of the 1st and 2d Philippine corps on the battle position.

"The 200th coast artillery, anti-aircraft, and the 515th coast artillery, anti-aircraft, United States army forces in the far east, are cited for outstanding performance of duty in action. From Jan. 7 to March 8, 1942, these regiments were constantly in action on the Bataan peninsula, covering air fields, artillery, and rear installations.

"Under constant attack by an enemy enjoying unopposed superiority in the air, these regiments, despite heavy losses in men and materiel, maintained a magnificent defense thru outstanding technical ability and courage and devotion to duty, contributing in large measure to the successful defense of the Bataan peninsula.

Pilots Also Lauded.

"The Fifth interceptor command, United States army forces in the far east, with its attached units, is cited for outstanding performance of duty in action during the period Jan. 6 to March 8, 1942.

"Operating in the Bataan peninsula and on Corregidor, its meager air element constantly carried out hazardous reconnaissance missions and executed numerous surprise attacks against hostile ground, air, and naval elements, despite the overwhelming force of the enemy.

"The courage and resourcefulness of its pilots have been worthy of the most profound emulation. Its ground units, operating under constant air bombardment, prepared, maintained, and defended airfields and essential installations. The spirit, courage, and devotion to duty of this unit made possible a major contribution to the prolonged defense of this area.

"Surpassed All Records."

"The harbor defenses of Manila and Subic bays, United States Army forces in the far east, are cited for outstanding performance of duty in action, during the period from Dec. 29, 1941, to Feb. 28, 1942.

"Altho subjected to terrific bombardment by enemy air echelons and prolonged fire by hostile land batteries, with heavy casualties and major damage to all utilities, this command, thru outstanding courage and devotion to duty, maintained its defense at the peak of battle efficiency.

"Anti-aircraft artillery units surpassed all known records in accuracy of fire, taking heavy toll of the attacking hostile planes; seacoast artillery units fired with tremendous effect in support of ground forces on Bataan and on hostile batteries and troop concentrations in Cavite province; service elements, working day and night without regard to enemy action, repaired and maintained essential installations.

"Thru its magnificent effectiveness on the fortified islands and on Bataan, the harbor defenses of Manila and Subic bays wrote a brilliant page in the history of the coast artillery corps.

Headquarters Staff Too.

"Headquarters detachment, headquarters company, and army troops, United States Army Forces in the Far East, are cited for outstanding performance of duty in action during the defense of Bataan from Jan. 12 to Feb. 14, 1942.

"The foresight and precision in planning by the staff, the effective execution of these plans by the service elements, the courage and coolness under fire, and the marked devotion to duty of all elements, made possible, despite manifold handicaps, the preparation and execution of the plans which resulted in the successful defense of Bataan against the repeated and varied attacks by superior enemy forces thruout this period.

Naval Units Cited.

"The harbor defenses of Manila and Subic bays and naval and marine corps units serving therein, United States forces in the Philippines, are cited for outstanding performance of duty in action during the period from March 14 to April 9, 1942, inclusive.

Altho subjected repeatedly to intense and prolonged artillery bombardment by concealed hostile batteries in Cavite province and to heavy enemy aerial attacks, during the period above mentioned and, despite numerous casualties and extensive damage inflicted on defense installations and utilities, the morale, ingenuity, and combat efficiency of the entire command have remained at the high standard which has impressed fighting men the world over.

"On March 15 approximately 1,000 240-mm. projectiles were fired at Forts Frank and Drum and large numbers of lesser caliber projectiles struck Forts Hughes and Mills. Again on March 20 over 400 240-mm. shells were fired at Fort Frank and a lesser number at Fort Drum, while enemy air echelons made a total of 50 attacks on Fort Mills with heavy aerial bombs.

Took Toll of Planes.

"During the entire period all units maintained their armament at a high degree of efficiency, while seaward defense elements executed effective counter battery action.

"Anti-aircraft batteries firing at extreme ranges exacted a heavy toll of hostile attacking planes, and naval and marine units from exposed stations assured the defense of the beaches and approaches to the fortified islands.

"By unceasing labor and regardless of enemy activity, essential utilities were restored and the striking power of the command maintained unimpaired.

"As a result of their splendid combined efforts, ruggedness, and devotion to duty the various units and services comprising the harbor defenses of Manila and Subic bays frustrated a major hostile attempt to reduce the efficiency of the fortified elements.

Lists Units Cited.

U.S. KEEPS WATCH ON MARTINIQUE IN THE CARIBBEAN

Relations with Vichy on Day to Day Basis.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—The United States is keeping an alert watch on Martinique, strategic French island possession in the Caribbean, during these days of diplomatic tension with the Vichy government since the return to power of Pierre Laval, pro-Nazi leader, Secretary of State Cordell Hull disclosed today.

Following the British landing on Madagascar, the world's fourth largest island, which lies off East Africa, Hull described American relations with Vichy as being on a day to day basis. He said the subject of Martinique was receiving full attention along with other phases of the French situation.

100 Planes on Island.

His statement was interpreted as indicating that the United States will seize France's Caribbean holdings in the event of any break with Vichy. The British landed forces on Madagascar to prevent the axis powers from taking the island and operating on the flank of British communication lines to Australia, India, the middle east, and Russia. Martinique would be seized, according to military experts, to prevent the enemy from gaining a foothold in the vital Caribbean area.

Since the fall of France a French aircraft carrier and a cruiser have been at Port of France, harbor of Martinique. Also at this port are more than 100 American planes, which were being shipped to France before it was defeated by Germany.

Hull said that American forces will be ready to back up the British occupation of Madagascar, if necessary. He said this country would not hesitate to send men or ships to the island if such action were deemed desirable.

Roosevelt Silent.

The landing of British forces on Madagascar was discussed at two White House meetings today, but President Roosevelt declined to discuss the matter at his press conference. Before the latter conference he met with legislative leaders and the Pacific war council.

Members of the Pacific war council joined in hailing the British move as an effective means of maintaining supply lines in the Indian ocean. The council was also occupied with consideration of sending supplies to China.

"The seizure of Madagascar is for the good of the French people and the good of France," said Walter Nash, New Zealand minister.

Chinese Minister Speaks.

Dr. T. V. Soong, Chinese minister of foreign affairs, said that the meeting was also concerned with the gravity of Japanese successes in Burma, which have cut one of China's principal lines of supply—the Burma road.

"China will never be cut off from supplies," he said.

The congressional leaders reported that the chief executive seemed to be very well satisfied with the situation at Madagascar. Those who came to the White House for this conference were Vice President Henry A. Wallace, Speaker Sam Rayburn, and Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.].

Mum on Axis Reports.

At his press conference Mr. Roosevelt refused to discuss axis reports that two American battleships, the North Carolina and the Washington, had sailed thru the Mediterranean to the Indian ocean to coöperate in the occupation of Madagascar. He laughingly said the ships were en route to Shangri La, fictional utopia, from which a week ago he said American planes had flown to bomb Tokio.

He expressed doubts of axis reports that two French cruisers were at Madagascar. He said the basis of the reports was undoubtedly the fact that two French cruisers left their home port one morning recently, but returned to port that night. American intelligence is fully aware of the movement of French vessels, he said.

Corregidor Falls

Arrow locates Philippine island fortress of Corregidor, which has fallen to the Japanese. Forts Drum, Frank, and Hughes have been surrendered also.

A BOMB OR NO BOMB, TRAFFIC COMES TO HALT

Several hundred homeward bound loop workers were delayed several minutes during the rush hour last evening as the result of a bomb scare on the Clark street bridge. The cause of the scare now lies buried in river mud under the bridge.

At 5:40 p. m. Bridgetenders Frank Ward and Frank Davis saw a pedestrain pick up an object from the middle of the bridge, near the east sidewalk, then drop it and run. Ward and Davis hurried out and found the cause of his sudden fright.

It resembled the black casing of a hand operated fire extinguisher. It lay in such a position, near the separation of the bridge leaves, that the opening of the leaves might have crushed it and, if a bomb, exploded it. Davis and Ward called Clarence Bartlett, a policeman, who stopped traffic and then tossed the suspected object into the river. As he did so, a liquid chemical was seen to pour from the casing. The police bomb squad may be asked to retrieve the object so that an examination may be made of the contents.

U. S. BOMBERS HIT RANGOON BASE AND FIRE PLANES

NEW DELHI, India, May 5 (AP).—Heavy bombers from the force commanded by United States Maj. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton caused many fires and large explosions this morning in a sharp raid on the Mingaladon airdrome just outside Rangoon, Burma, where 70 Japanese planes had been spotted by reconnaissance flyers.

The raiders defied thunderstorms as well as a concentration of searchlights and anti-aircraft fire both over the airdrome and Rangoon. The hangar and some planes on the runways were left burning, a communique from the United States headquarters announced. The raiders used 250 and 500 pound bombs.

The American planes returned safely to their base.

2 SWIM ASHORE IN ICY WATER AS CANOE CAPSIZES

Lake Michigan's rolling waters are still full of winter's chill. William C. Smith, 21 years old, who was captain of the 1941 Maine Township High school football team, and Miss Doris Carr can testify to that.

The couple were in Miss Carr's canoe last evening when it capsized a half mile off Wilmette harbor. No one saw their plight and they had to swim ashore, pushing the tiny craft ahead of them. The trip required a half hour. Exhausted and chilled, they were sent to the Evanston hospital.

Smith's home is at 1027 Touhy avenue, Park Ridge. Miss Carr, who is 20, is the daughter of J. O. Carr, 901 South Crescent avenue, Park Ridge.

AXIS DIPLOMATS WILL START TRIP HOME TOMORROW

Washington, D. C., May 5 (AP).—Movement of axis diplomats and nationals to Lisbon to be exchanged for American diplomats, consular officials and nationals will begin Thursday.

The state department said that on that day the Swedish liner Drottningholm, which arrived in an American port last week with Americans who had been stranded in Sweden, will sail for Portugal with the first group of axis officials and nationals slated for exchange.

The state department also is arranging to charter another Swedish ship, the S. S. Gripsholm, for use in the exchange of Japanese officials and nationals for United States and Latin American diplomats and nationals.

CORREGIDOR AND OTHER MANILA BAY FORTS FALL

ARRANGE TERMS

Washington, D. C., May 6 [Wednesday]—(AP).—The war department announced today that fighting had ceased on Corregidor and terms were being arranged for the capitulation of the island forts in Manila bay.

The war department's communique on the military situation as of 3:15 a. m., Chicago war time, said:

"1. Philippine theater: The war department has received a message from Corregidor advising that resistance of our troops has been overcome. Fighting has ceased and terms are being arranged covering the capitulation of the island forts in Manila bay.

"2. There is nothing to report from other areas."

Officials gave no information as to when the fighting ended.

Believe Wainwright at Fort.

The communique, No. 216, came more than 16 hours after a Japanese landing attack was reported in progress.

It was believed here Lieut. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright had remained at Corregidor to treat with the enemy he so long had repulsed.

Short of food and ammunition, harassed by almost continual shelling and frequent dive bombing attacks, the defending forces reported yesterday that "a landing attack was in progress" on the island fortress.

Pill boxes, barbed wire entanglements and other beach defenses were believed to have been blasted away by the never ending bombardments from both sides of Manila bay.

Shortly before Gen. Wainwright reported that a frontal assault was under way he received this message from President Roosevelt:

"In spite of all the handicaps of complete isolation, lack of food and ammunition, you have given the world a shining example of patriotic fortitude and self-sacrifice."

Mr. Roosevelt's message was unstinting in its praise for the valor and heroism of Corregidor's defenders.

"No Finer Example."

"During recent weeks," it said, "we have been following with growing admiration the day by day accounts of your heroic stand against the mounting intensity of bombardment by enemy planes and heavy siege guns.

"The American people ask no finer example of tenacity, resourcefulness, and steadfast courage. The calm determination of your eadership in a desperate situation sets a standard of duty for our soldiers thruout the world.

"In every camp and on every naval vessel soldiers, sailors and marines are inspired by the gallant struggle of their comrades in the Philippines. The workmen in our shipyards and munitions plants redouble their efforts because of your example. You and your devoted followers have become the living symbols of our war aims and the guarantee of victory."

Corregidor has been the mainstay of the fighting in the Philippines. It was the anchor of the fighting on Bataan, and haven for the fortunate few who were able to avoid capture by the Japanese when Bataan or Manila fell.

3,500 Sailors on Island.

Army nurses were evacuated to the fort when the fighting ceased on the peninsula. A naval detachment originally 3,500 in number, consisting of marines and blue jackets who were left stranded in the area by the fall of the Cavite and Olongapo naval bases, was successfully transferred from Bataan to the island. Some survivors of Bataan daringly swam the 2½ miles to the island despite shark infested waters.

Gen. MacArthur's wife and their 4 year old son lived in the fortress from the time Manila fell until they left with the general for Australia.

Silenced Shore Batteries.

Corregidor is an island of solid rock which protrudes from the surface of the water at the entrance to Manila bay. It is a natural fortress.

Thus while big gun turrets were protected from horizontal fire, they had little sheathing against attack from the air. Nevertheless, the gunners on Corregidor proved the accuracy of their fire by silencing shore batteries and sinking Japanese barges.

At the time of Bataan's fall, the men both there and on Corregidor had been on short rations for more than two months, but there had been no shortage of ammunition.

SUGAR RATIONING JOB HALF OVER; LITTLE HOARDING

More than half of Chicago's 3,396,000 inhabitants last night had their first sugar rationing books. On Monday volunteer workers had registered 821,301 sugar users. By 8 o'clock 1,872,253 had registered and 1,778,949 were given books.

Those whose surnames begin with M and N should register this morning. After 2 p. m. those with names beginning with O, P, Q, and R are to sign up.

The average declaration, Michael F. Mulcahy, ration administrator figured from Monday's tabulations, was 1.9 pounds. Only about 5.2 per cent of the registrants failed to get books because they had more than 2 pounds per person. One Lake View woman declared 700 pounds.

Henry Pope Jr., state rationing administrator, announced early today that tabulations from the state outside Chicago show 2,180,383 have been given books, 995,961 of them yesterday, with seven counties missing.

BRITISH MOVE ON VICHY SEA BASE AT MADAGASCAR

Planes and Ships Protect Landing Force.

LONDON, May 5 (AP).—British commandos, regular infantrymen, and royal marines moved upon Madagascar's Diego Suarez naval base tonight. The British forces, in a swift incursion, struck from the reaching hand of the axis a vital Indian ocean position and effected a major allied coup in the world-wide struggle for mastery of the seas.

"Operations are proceeding and our casualties have so far been light," the admiralty and war office said in a brief joint communique at 10 o'clock tonight. "It is understood that the governor general of Madagascar has declared his intention to resist."

Break Coastal Defenses.

The landing forces, protected by warships and planes, dashed ashore at Courrier Bay, 10 miles across the isthmus from Diego Suarez itself, at dawn. By nightfall they had broken the Vichy French coastal defenses, captured a battery which had shelled the landings, and were smashing at the back door of the base thru the hot tropical jungle.

Attempting, apparently, to stand at the shoulder of Vichy, the German radio earlier in the day said a French submarine and tender had been sunk and that there were French casualties.

Diego Suarez was the primary British objective, altho it is likely there will be a subsequent move against Tulear on the southwest coast. Tulear has a good airdrome from which the allied planes could patrol the entrance to Mozambique channel between Durban and Tulear, 900 miles apart.

Led by Veteran Officers.

British troops exclusively were conducting the operation, altho in the cause of all the united nations. There were none of the "Free French" nor dominion forces such as fought in the invasion of Syria.

Distinguished, high ranking and veteran officers led the occupying forces, Adm. E. N. Syfret commanding the naval escort and Gen. R. G. Sturges of the royal marines, who fought at Gallipoli in the first world war, leading the troops.

Madagascar, almost as big as Texas and the world's fourth largest island, commands Mozambique channel and the southern routes of allied supplies to the near east, Russia, and India.

Thus was destroyed what an informed source declared was a Japanese plan to seize Diego Suarez with the connivance of Vichy and make it a base for axis attacks on allied shipping.

Envision Jap Sea Attack.

But this same informant conceded the possibility that the Japanese high command might at once send its powerful Indian ocean battle squadron against Madagascar in a desperate attempt to dislodge the British from the northern tip.

Of necessity, this would involve a straight, swift blow across the Indian ocean, bypassing such obvious stepping stones as the Seychelles and Amirantes Islands, Mauritius and Reunion.

Illinois Tech to Graduate 392 as Safety Engineers

The Illinois Institute of Technology will graduate 392 students of industrial safety engineering at special exercises in Hotel Sherman tonight. The safety courses are part of the institute's war training which 1,092 persons have been taking. Others will be graduated June 10 and June 30.

FRANCE REJECTS F. D. R.'S DEMAND; BATTLES BRITISH Troops Resist Attack in Madagascar.

armistice has manifested hostility to France, and the aggression which she had just carried out against Madagascar could not surprise the French government.

"The French government, on the contrary, regrets to note that the government of the United States today approves and supports the British government and cannot but leave to President Roosevelt the part of the responsibility which will fall on him in the consequences which will result from this aggression."

Marshal Petain, chief of state, and Adm. Jean Darlan, defense chief, joined Laval in denouncing the attack on Madagascar and in urging French troops—probably 20,000—to fight the British.

Petain in a message to Gov. Gen. Annet said:

"I have learned of the aggression of which Madagascar has just been the object on the part of the British forces. An ultimatum demanding the unconditional surrender by the commander of the military force was answered: 'We will defend ourselves to the very end.'

"That was the only answer he could have made and he made it. Tell him I am behind him in this tragic trial in which he is defending French honor.

"To the civilian population unjustly attacked, to the soldiers, sailors and airmen, and to their chiefs I address my greeting and that of France."

Darlan Makes Plea.

Darlan, commander of all French armed forces, sent this message to Madagascar's defending forces:

"Once again the British, instead of fighting their own enemies, seek the easiest path of attacking a French colony far from the metropolis.

"Marshal Petain has asked you to defend Madagascar, and I know that you have responded patriotically to his appeal.

"Firmly defend the honor of our flag! Fight to the limit of your possibilities and make the British pay dear for their act of highway robbery.

"The whole of France and its empire are with you at heart. Do not forget that the British betrayed us in Flanders, that they attacked us treacherously at Dakar and in Syria, that they are murdering civilians in the capital [thru air raids], and that they tried to make the women and children of Djibouti [French Somaliland] die of hunger.

"Defend yourself. You are defending the honor of France. The day will come when England will pay. Long live France!"

Bitterness Is Increased.

The attack on Madagascar has made a bitter impression in France and public sentiment against the British has increased. The French people have been greatly perturbed by the heavy casualties as a result of British bombing raids on occupied France.

The French have expressed the belief that the British seek to compensate themselves for the loss of their possessions by seizing French colonies.

France has 1,000 new airplanes and a fleet consisting of two modern battleships, a dozen cruisers, 23 destroyers, 40 submarines, and numerous smaller craft. Its army, tho lacking in modern equipment, consists of 100,000 men in the homeland, 140,000 in North Africa, and 120,000 in the colonies.

FRENCH LOSE ANOTHER SLICE OF EMPIRE, ONCE THE SECOND LARGEST

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The passing of Madagascar under British control will mean that the Vichy government has lost effective control of more than a third of the are of the prewar French colonial empire and more than half its population.

That empire, which was the world's second largest totaling 3,791,000 square miles in area and with a population of 65,598,000, now is split among Vichy, the axis [Japan], the "Free French," and the allies.

The status of this empire follows, with the controling forces shown in brackets:

Colony—	Area, sq. mi.	Population.
French India—Yanaon	200	293,000
["Free French"]
Indo-China	286,000	23,250,000
[Japan]
North Africa	433,000	16,085,000
[Vichy]
West Africa	1,820,000	15,000,000
[Vichy]
Equatorial Africa	900,000	3,500,000
["Free French"]
Somaliland	9,000	50,000
[Vichy, but under close British watch]
Madagascar [an' nearby islands	238,000	4,000,000
[British]
St. Pierre, Miquelon [off Newfoundland]	93	3,916
["Free French"]
Martinique, Guadeloupe, French Guiana [in America]	35,107	496,000
[Vichy, but watched by United States]
Oceana [including New Caledonia in Pacific Protected by United States]	10,000	100,000
["Free French"]
Syria	60,000	2,820,000
[Recognized as independent after British-"Free French" occupation]

This shows that more than 33,000,000 of the population and 1,494,000 square miles of the area have been lost by Vichy.

REPORTS BRITISH BOMB SCORED HIT ON TIRPITZ

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, May 5.—British bombs scored a direct hit on the 35,000 ton battleship Tirpitz when it was in Kiel harbor prior to transfer to its present anchorage at Trondheim, Norway, according to an eyewitness account by a Swedish seaman published in Ny Dag.

"Altho the British attacks on Kiel usually were made from a great height, the bombs hit their targets with astonishing precision," the seaman said. "Thus after every bombardment the biggest wharf in Kiel was regularly set ablaze, and on one occasion a British bomber scored a direct hit on the Tirpitz."

Describing living conditions in Kiel, the seaman said:

"Since the outbreak of war I have been in Kiel several times. Conditions today are greatly changed. One evidence of increased nervousness is that foreign seamen must be accompanied by a German soldier."

He was credited with shooting down two German planes before he was shot down in Germany, where he spent three months in an internment camp.

GEN. SCANLON IN 'FORTRESS' JOINS RAID ON RABAUL

Japs Increase Bombing of Port Moresby.

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AN ADVANCED ALLIED AIR BASE IN AUSTRALIA, May 5.—Brig. Gen. Martin F. Scanlon has taken part in a bombing raid on Rabaul, New Britain, it was announced here today.

The 55 year old general, in a B-17 'flying fortress," flew over the target area yesterday, but heavy cloud formations over Rabaul made it impossible to find the objectives and no bombs were dropped. However, several other bombers, which flew a different course, found a hole in the clouds and scored direct hits.

Three Planes Are Hit.

Another flight of United States bombers scored direct hits on three enemy planes on the Rabaul airdrome. A number of other planes were believed damaged by fragments and three large fires were observed. The planes then came in low and strafed buildings with their machine guns.

After the bombers returned, a spokesman said:

"The general was tossed about a bit, but he wanted the boys to know he is willing to get into the thick of it rather than just sit back."

Fight Off Moresby Raid.

[By wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

MELBOURNE, Australia, May 5.—The Japanese are maintaining pressure against Port Moresby, New Guinea. Nine heavy bombers escorted by 10 zeros ineffectually attacked the airdrome Monday. Allied fighters intercepted them, hitting four bombers and one zero.

While the enemy's bomber strength in this raid was less than on Sunday, the Japanese apparently are trying to counter allied fighter defense of Port Moresby by sending more zeros to protect the raiders, but the number shot down Sunday was the largest yet.

In four days the Japanese have lost 13 machines in the air and 33 on the ground, with 9 damaged, yet the Japanese offensive is perceptibly increasing. Correspondents emphasize the need for maximum fighter protection on New Guinea.

Allies Raid Bases Again.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, AUSTRALIA, May 6 [Wednesday]—(AP).—Allied bombers struck at Japanese bases at Lae, New Guinea, Rabaul, New Britain, for the second straight day yesterday, and caught a number of Japanese planes on the ground at the former position, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

Europe in Days Before War Is Vividly Pictured in Leo Lania's Autobiography.

War Bringing Reading Gain, Experts Assert

BY FANNY BUTCHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 5.—Books are going to be read by a great many people who were not readers before the war, speakers declared here today at the annual convention of the American Booksellers' association in the Hotel Astor. Three whole unexplored continents of readers, they said, will be found in: [1] Latin America, [2] the military services, and [3] the new workers in war industries.

Hubert Herring, director of the committee on cultural relations with Latin America, said that not only are Americans reading more books about Latin America, but Latin Americans are reading more and more books in English about the United States. As evidence of this nation's literary interest in Latin America he cited John Gunther's "Inside Latin America" and T. R. Ybarra's "Young Man of Caracas," both of which went to more than 400,000 members of the Book of the Month club.

Harry M. Snyder, veteran bookseller, said that his business with Latin America had more than doubled recently.

Prior to 1939 500 copies of a book about military affairs was a large sale in one year, said Bowman Brown of the Military Service Publishing company, but now 20,000 copies often are sold in a month.

How long books with tactical information will be available to the public is a question, he said, but meantime many draftees are reading books who never owned one before, and their friends and parents and sweethearts are buying military books just to be able to understand the letters the soldiers write home. Most military books have to be revised every two or three months to keep up with the new regulations of the rapidly expanding army, Mr. Bowman said, and a book may well become obsolete before it actually is printed.

But the largest number of new technical readers for books probably will come from the workers who want to improve themselves in their war jobs. The most useful of such books will be of the self-help type, according to Ronald W. Kent, assistant director of the Essex county, New Jersey, vocational schools, who feels that books will help to make training much easier and faster for workers, and that many who had not been used to books will find them a necessary part of their lives.

Less frivolity about this business of reading, and the more readers the merrier, seemed to be the conclusion of the meeting.

Speaking before a book and author night audience at the convention tonight, William L. Shirer, author of "Berlin Diary," declared: "The war may be decided before this summer is out. If the Russians are still on their feet this fall Hitler has lost the war."

Chinese Author

Helena Kuo, Chinese author of "I've Come a Long Way," reviewed today.

China of Today Is Vitally Alive in These Books

"Destination Chungking," by Han Suyin. [Little-Brown, $3.]
"Village in August," by T'ien Chun. [Smith & Durrell, $2.50.]

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

The new China lives in these three books. The first two are records of vital years in the lives of two young Chinese women. The third is the translation of an important contemporaneous Chinese novel which is being read by thousands in China.

Han Suyin is the pen name of an author who cannot disclose her real name during the war. An American who collaborated with her in preparing the book also prefers anonymity.

Those who think the Chinese an unimpassioned, stoical people will never think so again after reading "Destination Chungking." Han Suyin feels intensely about all the issues of modern China and portrays her emotions in living, glowing prose.

From the beginning her story is engrossing. Her childhood in Peking and her friendship with the little boy, Pao, who lived on the same street, have a delicate, nostalgic quality like "Peter Ibbetson." Her later meeting with Pao in England, where they were both being educated, and the narrative of their romance and their voluntary return to take part in China's struggle against the Japanese is as fascinating as fiction and as dramatic. The most vivid chapter is the description of the bombing and burning of Chungking.

Thru the entire book one is always conscious of the impassioned patriotism of the young author.

"I've Come a Long Way" is a quieter story. Helena Kuo, like Han Suyin, is a modern, and has been educated not like the Chinese women of the old days, but like the progressive, public spirited ones of the present. In her own country she was one of the few women journalists, and in 1938 she went to England on a sort of good will mission to promote friendliness to China.

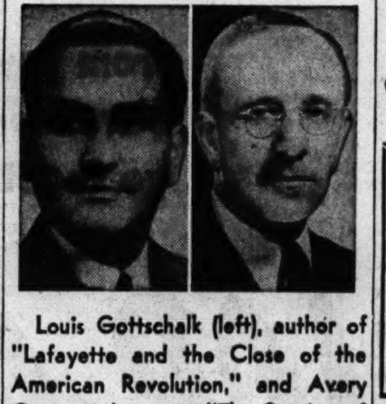
She visited the continent, and her account of life on the Riviera just before the war is highly entertaining. As a refugee, she sought shelter in this country, and her impressions of us are revealed in the final chapters of the book.

"Village in August" tells of the struggle in which China is now engaged. It is a moving genre picture, a narrative of a group of men of varied types who make up a straggling little contingent of the army. These very human small farmers, artisans, and peasants are guerrilla fighters, living as best they can, always on the move, hungry and thirsty more often than not, constantly in danger of sudden death.

Their heroine is Anna, a young Korean girl, a fighting martyr to the cause of freedom. With a gun strapped to her back, she marches with the men, enduring their hardships, urging them on by her example, weakening only once for a brief hour.

"Village in August" gives to the American reader a new and realistic study of a cross section of the millions of little people who are risking their lives to make China free.

Historians



Louis Gottschalk (left), author of "Lafayette and the Close of the American Revolution," and Avery Craven, who wrote "The Coming of the Civil War." Both books are reviewed today.

3 New Volumes Turn Spotlight on U. S. History

"Lafayette and the Close of the American Revolution," by Louis Gottschalk. [University of Chicago Press, $4.50.]
"The Coming of the Civil War," by Avery Craven. [Scribner's, $3.75.]
"The Old South," by Thomas Jefferson Wertenbaker. [Scribner's, $3.50.]

This is a great day for history!

Two members of the department of history at the University of Chicago have published important books simultaneously. Louis Gottschalk, chairman of the department, has given us another panel in the monumental biography of Lafayette which he says probably will run to six volumes. Avery Craven, who is professor of American history at the university, offers a revaluation of the causes of the Civil war which probably will cause as much pro-ing and con-ing as any recent book on that always firebrand subject.

Thomas Jefferson Wertenbaker, chairman of the department of history at Princeton university, gives us in "The Old South" a fine foundation volume for the better understanding of the social and economic psychologies of the south.

It is impossible, of course, to give any comprehensive idea of either their importance or their individual qualities in the brief space available on a newspaper book page. All three of them are books which scholars will take apart and put back together in learned reviews. Trained historians will have to tell you whether their authors are preaching historical gospel or heresy. Altho I am not a historian, as that mythical person, the man in the street, to whom most books eventually are addressed, I can tell you that each one of these learned gentlemen does in his own way hold a revival meeting. To the lay reader, each of these books is eminently interesting.

This panel of the life of "Lafayette" may well prove to be for Americans the most alluring one of the proposed six, for the greater part of it is devoted to Lafayette's long months in the service of the young American army, and practically every bit of it is devoted to his service to our country, getting aid for the young America in his native France and in Spain when he was not actually fighting on the native soil of his "adopted father," George Washington.

Here are the detailed records, set down with dignity and scholarliness, of the historical reasons for the historical slogan of the first World war, "Lafayette, We Are Here."

It is possible to read this volume alone, without its predecessors, with unflagging interest.

Prof. Craven has written a more controversial book. There has been too much preconceived emotion about the Civil war, he seems to be saying, too much acceptance of the fact that there is a "northern" and a "southern" point of view [and never the twain shall meet], and he intends to turn the X-ray of reason on those emotional findings and to show the skeletons in their honest bone structure.

Perhaps both northerners and southerners will howl with pain at the sight, but they will both have a clearer idea, when they have finished this very interesting book, not only why the Civil war happened, but how all wars happen, for Prof. Craven tacitly suggests that politicians fanned into emotional flame differences which were fundamentally economic rather than moral.

Prof. Craven writes with a lilt and uses dry humor for punctuation.

Prof. Wertenbaker's "The Old South" is a popular reconstruction of the life and times of pioneer Maryland, Virginia, and the Carolinas. Every phase of life, from the houses which grew out of the climate as well as the memories of the settlers, to the complex life which was necessarily lived in the isolation of the plantations and the later small farm settlements of the Piedmont, lives in these pages. No detail is too insignificant to be used if it illumines the picture, and no inference shied away from if the findings of today's historians give it factualness.

In both the Wertenbaker and the Craven books, slavery is viewed as an economic phenomenon, is treated historically. F. B.

Observes Europe

Leo Lania, who writes his observations of prewar Europe in "Today We Are Brothers," reviewed in adjoining column.

N. U. Journalism Sorority Will Hold Banquet Friday

Iota Sigma Epsilon, journalism sorority of Northwestern university, will hold its 10th annual journalism banquet at 6:30 o'clock Friday evening in Abbott Hall, Northwestern downtown campus. Edward M. Tuttle, editor of Row, Peterson & Co., will be the guest speaker. Among the guests of honor will be Kenneth E. Olson and Frederic N. Litten of the Medill school of journalism and Genevieve Foster, author of "George Washington and His World."

Autobiography Scans Europe in Prewar Era

"Today We Are Brothers," by Leo Lania. [Houghton-Mifflin, $3.50.] Published yesterday.

Readers who remember the horror-filled pages of Leo Lania's "The Darkest Hour," the vivid record of France's collapse and his own terrible days in a refugee camp and of the almost incredible escape which he and his family [separately] managed, probably will expect Leo Lania's autobiography likewise to be dramatic. In that they will be disappointed, for his detailed memoirs end with his flight to France. The seven years of his emigré life there are quickly summed up in a final chapter, and none of the experiences which gave "The Darkest Hour" its great popularity is retold in this book.

What "Today We Are Brothers" does is to give readers a picture of the Europe in which politics became the motivating force as seen by a man peculiarly placed to know what the politics meant and gifted enough as a journalist to be able to describe and interpret what he saw.

Leo Lania is racially a Russian but actually a cosmopolitan European. He was a member of the Communist party in his youth, but later resigned. As a young man he served as a German soldier in the first World war, and the pages which describe the battles of flesh and spirit he lived thru are as dramatic as anything in "The Darkest Hour."

With the newspaper man's versatility he knew France, Italy, Germany, Russia, England, and with his political background he understood better than most what was happening to democracy in the world—and he draws an interesting picture of its last days in Europe.

But "Today We Are Brothers" is by no means a political book, or even a book about the changing heart of Europe. It is primarily a book about Leo Lania, who wrote plays and novels and produced films and knew "characters" as well as watched political history being made. F. B.

"The Girl Who Stood Alone"

By Roy Vickers
Copyright: 1942: By Roy Vickers

Just before the beginning of the present war, the lawn mower company for which June Clayton works as a secretary has become an armament factory, unbeknown to June. Thru failure to destroy some spoiled sheets of a confidential report she has copied, the report is stolen by Henry and Jacob Ferrer, German agents, who have lent her a car to try out before buying. Henry is arrested, but Jacob escapes with the report. Henry tells police June gave him the report. June is questioned by Glenday of the British secret service who, convinced of her innocence, agrees to shield her if she will work for him. Still posing as a secretary, she is not allowed to tell her Aunt Dorothy Mallen, with whom she lives, nor her fiancée, Ralph Eddis, that she is now in the secret service. Her first assignment is to go to a party with a Maj. Stranack, in the British service, and meet Matarasso, an exporter, and his aid, Frank Rawlins. En route to the party, Jacob Ferrer jumps into her car and forces her to give him a lift as he shoots two pursuing policemen, and June barely escapes arrest. While at the party June hears the police broadcast an alarm giving details of Jacob's shooting and a description of herself. Leaving the party Stranack tells her he will burn her fur jacket to keep police from recognizing her.

INSTALMENT IX.

WORRIED SWEETHEART.

June got into the car without question, laid her wrap on the seat, and the car started.

"We're going to Kilvern," announced Stranack, half over his shoulder. "You'll have to get that blue dress off as soon as possible."

"Right-ho," she answered and waited, but there was no more until they reached Kilvern street and then, as he slowed:

"Polly Flinders, who outfitted you this evening, has turned up for your job. She'll hear your step and open the door. Good night."

"Good night," echoed June. As soon as she got out he drove away. The secret service, she thought irrelevantly, seemed to like making little mysteries out of nothing.

As he prophesied, the door was immediately opened by Miss Flinders, who promptly demanded: "What are your measurements?"

This time June gave them with alacrity. Miss Flinders was leading the way upstairs past Glenday's room.

"You'll probably be able to use most of Phyllis' wardrobe," said Miss Flinders. "Her stuff will be no good by the time she comes out of prison."

Up another flight of stairs to the floor above Glenday's.

"Was—Phyllis—a criminal?" asked June.

"Yes, of course! So am I. So is Glenday. So is Stranack. And so, I gather, are you. You can wear black. So could Phyllis."

Miss Flinders had switched on the light, revealing a room half as big again as Glenday's room below. In the center was a long kitchen table mounted with multiple mirrors, at the side of which was a telephone. All around the walls were lockers.

"This is the dressing room," explained Miss Flinders. "All the stuff that side is 'straight.' This side is mostly makeup. Thru that door over there is a bathroom. Take your dress off."

While June was doing so, Miss Flinders was busy at one of the lockers. She produced a black silk evening dress and matching cape on a hanger. June took them and put them on.

A glance in a long mirror had told June that the dress was a passable fit.

"The shoes and stockings are wrong," she said.

"It does not matter if you look ridiculous," said Miss Flinders. "We must get rid of the blue dress, however. Glenday's instructions. Too many people have already seen you in it. But the police will, of course, trace the car back to Ferrer, since neither the tax nor the insurance has been transferred to you."

"That's true," and June nearly added: "How did you know?" She remembered now that Glenday had known a surprising amount about her. Some of the information could not have been obtained from Mr. Tarlinghouse, either.

"Give me your blue dress," Miss Flinders took the ice-blue chiffon. It hurt just a little to see her roll it up with the crystal bolero and thump it.

An electric stove stood where there had once been an open grate. It was a large electric stove and on top of it was what looked like a device for cooking, but was not. Miss Flinders opened the top of the stove and thrust the dress into it.

"You've got to bed it down," she said, thumping it as a man might, "then you close the lid. Then this switch. If you don't attend to all the details you're likely to burn a fuse, which puts the lights out and annoys Glenday, altho he's asleep now and wouldn't know. You needn't wait. I will attend to the metal parts."

Miss Flinders went to the telephone and dialed and then, without any preliminaries:

"That girl is ready now," she said and hung up.

Leaving Miss Flinders, June went downstairs and waited in the hall passage until she heard the hum of an engine outside.

She saw that the driver was in uniform and sat in the back of the car. He did not ask her address, did not speak to her at all, but soon she saw that he was heading in the direction of Richmond. The chauffeur, if such he was, puzzled her.

"Excuse me——" she began.

"It's quite all right," he assured her. "You don't have to pay me. You don't have to tip me. And you don't have to talk to me."

She was snubbed and she resented it. When he stopped outside Grasmere she gave him the curtest "Thank you" and got out.

Clutching her bag that contained over a hundred pounds, she glanced up at Aunt Dorothy's window; the light was out. So she was careful with the gate and was walking on tiptoe when she stopped, aware that there was a man between her and the front door, altho she could scarcely see at all.

"Ralph! It must be about midnight——"

"It is," he said. There was a little pause. "I've been hanging about since 10."

"But I thought——"

"Listen, June. Tom couldn't come so I stayed at home. I heard that police message on the radio and I've been worried out of my wits."

"What—police—message?" As she spoke she was almost certain that he was not deceived.

"June, for God's sake—don't try to fool me! The radio gave a Morstyn sedan on Barnes Common at 7 o'clock. Your hair. Your age. Your jacket. Your dress." He gripped her wrist. "June, you've got to tell me what you've been doing."

It was exasperating that danger should come from Ralph—thru his excessive devotion. But at that minute June could think of it only as his fussiness.

"I can't understand what's the matter with you, Ralph," she said with a show of irritation. "If you were anxious about me—well, you can see I'm all right, only tired."

"Phew! I'm terrifically relieved. Don't be insulted, darling. But it seemed so funny—and where is your car? Why didn't you come home in it?"

"There now! We've waked poor Aunt Dorothy!"

The light flashed on in Aunt Dorothy's room. From a corner of the blind a thin pencil of light fell on June.

"That's not the dress you were wearing when you went out. You were in blue!" exclaimed Ralph.

"That proves I'm guilty of robbing a bank—or was it a smash-and-grab raid! Good night, Ralph!"

"June, I didn't mean——"

"Maybe not. But you spoke so darned offensively. So I shall not tell you what happened to my car nor anything else."

"Okay," he said gloomily.

She went to the front door. After a moment's hesitation he came after her.

"We're not having a row, are we?" he asked.

"Of course we're not!" He would have taken her in his arms but she held him off. "I'm so tired, Ralph."

That was not the reason, tho. Since circumstances — and Glenday — had changed the whole scheme of things for her, June wondered if her informal engagement to Ralph hadn't been a mistake from the start. Their viewpoints now seemed so different.

Not for the world would she hurt his feelings, however, if she could help it, and when he said he would see her tomorrow, she replied:

"I'm awfully sorry, but I can't make a date. We're in a fearful rush at the works, you see."

And she was sorry to have to resort to deception. Yet, in the secret service duty to country must come first and . . . wasn't she answerable to Glenday?

Guessing nothing of the reasons for her abrupt change of manner, Ralph said again: "Okay," that wretched word he used so often to express all sorts of meanings. And this time it was expressing doubt of her.

June hurried upstairs where she saw her aunt's door ajar.

Thru the doorway came the question, too: "Is everything all right, dear? Come in, won't you?"

SMITTY—IT'S A SMALL WORLD

LITTLE CHICAGO CURES YANKS OF AUSSIE FEVER

City's Hospitals Contribute Most of Staff.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AN ADVANCED ALLIED BASE IN AUSTRALIA, May 5.—"Tell the girls back in America not to worry. We are taking good care of the boys here," a Chicago nurse told me today at a field hospital which has been set up at this allied base under the direction of a Chicago officer.

Capt. I. M. Bradley.

Here, in an amazing combination of strange Australian countryside and modern hospital equipment, I found many of the Chicagoans who are with the AEF in Australia. Many were working in the newly improvised hospital as doctors and nurses, while a few others were patients.

The nurse who reassured the American girls that the soldiers are being taken care of was Lieut. Eileen Conlan of 6201 Dorchester avenue, who graduated from Mercy hospital nurses' school in 1939. At the time she was treating a Chicagoland patient, Lieut. Edward Pacawsky of 2103 North Main street, Racine, Wis.

Chicago Doctors There.

He was to have been discharged today after a month in the hospital for treatment of a ligament which he tore when he stepped into a trench during a blackout.

[Second Lieut. Edward Pacawsky is the son of Tony Pacawsky of Racine, a tavern owner, and Mrs. Pacawsky. Lieut. Pacawsky was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1940. He enlisted as a flying cadet in the army air force more than a year ago.]

Lieut. Conlan is one of the more than 30 nurses attached to this hospital, some of whom are waiting to be transferred to other institutions.

In addition to the nurses many army doctors from the Chicago area are working at this base hospital under Lieut. Col. C. R. Mitchell, a Chicagoan. He has eight married sisters and three married brothers on Chicago's north side.

Some Patients Have Mumps.

Capt. J. W. Guerin of 5132 West 24th street, Cicero, said about 60 per cent of the patients in the hospital had dengue [bonebreak] fever.

Most of the ailments in the hospital have been minor in character. A number of the troops had mumps.

The whole hospital is arranged in an assembly line scheme. Patients are admitted to a house at one end where their history is taken. If a long stay is required the patient is moved to the next building.

Lieut. Helen Cawley of 1166 Hyacinth court, Highland Park, was on duty at the receiving ward today. She finished her training at St. Francis hospital on Sept. 1 and joined the army Oct. 15.

"I joined the army to see the world," she laughed.

One of the buildings which houses the dental department is in charge of 1st Lieut. Irving Hecht of 3526 Fifth avenue, Chicago.

"Our equipment is first class," he said, "but we need a few more things. We expect to have a laboratory soon and to be in position to make plates."

[Lieut. Irving Hecht formerly practiced dentistry at Madison street and Pulaski road. He is 39 years old. His wife, Margaret, said last night that she and their sons, Robert, 7, and Richard, 5, had received a cablegram from him upon his arrival in Australia.]

Near the dental office stood Pvt. 1st Class Walter Wanielista, 23 years old, 5436 West 24th street, Chicago.

Surgery Well Equipped.

Two Chicago nurses working in the surgery ward praised this department highly. Lieut. Ruth Hansen of 9903 Exchange avenue, said they had "a beautiful setup." She likes Australia very much, but said "the darned ants have a great appetite for nylon hosiery. They have eaten mine all up." Miss Hansen went from the Cook county hospital into the army 14 months ago.

Lieut. Winona Schmidt, 2631 North Kimball avenue, is studying anesthesia.

[Lieut. Schmidt, who is 24, was graduated from Calvin Park High school and St. Elizabeth's hospital school of nursing in 1940. She was commissioned in the army nurse corps a month later. She was formerly stationed at Fort Sheridan. She cabled her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schmidt, after she arrived in Australia.]

The surgery department is equipped with excellent instruments and X-ray equipment and can set up three operations at once, according to Capt. I. M. Bradley, 3042 Diversey boulevard, an assistant to Col. Mitchell. He also praised the nurses as being thoroly experienced. One of them is Lieut. Mari O'Donnell of 7001 South Park, a graduate of Mercy hospital.

KELLY IS SEEKING 3 MILLION TO USE FOR CAMOUFLAGE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5 [Special].—Expressing his belief that Chicago is subject to enemy air attacks, Mayor Edward J. Kelly today pressed in person a request for $3,000,000 from the Office of Civilian Defense to camouflage and otherwise protect vital war plants in the Illinois metropolis.

The Chicagoan stopped briefly in the capital on his way home from Florida and held a series of short conferences with government officials before departing this afternoon for Chicago on the Capitol Limited.

Among those he visited was James M. Landis, director of the OCD, to whose agency Chicago has applied for funds to protect plants producing arms and munitions there.

Kelly said he told Landis that a total of $3,500,000 was the estimated cost of the project, but that he would be willing to settle for $3,000,000 to start the work of concealing the largest and most important factories.

The mayor also revealed that he had obtained the promise of Leon Henderson, head of the Office of Price Administration, that a rise in the cost of milk to Chicagoans will not be permitted under the wartime price ceilings.

Another of the brief conferences, Kelly said, was with war department officials who assured him that the proposed new Douglas Aircraft plant would be located in Chicago. It had been reported that downstate interests were importuning the army to have the factory located down state.

ASKS CONGRESS TO LIMIT POWER OF RADIO BOARD

Fears FCC May Suppress Newspaper Stations.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—Serious apprehensions are entertained by newspaper owned radio stations that the Federal Communications commission seeks power to bar them from the air, Neville Miller, president of the National Association of Broadcasters, told the house interstate commerce commission today.

The committee is considering a bill which would amend the radio control law to permit the FCC to suppress radio stations which it determines to be "against public policy." The attitude of the FCC has given rise to the fear that some radios owned by newspapers would quickly be ruled off the air under this new power, the committee was told.

"Public policy should be formulated by congress and not by the commission," Miller said, noting that the courts had agreed with that interpretation of the formulation of policy.

Apprehension by Stations.

"While the commission says that it merely wants to conduct investigations to learn the facts, there is great apprehension on the part of newspaper owned stations that the commission will hold that they are against public policy."

Chairman Clarence F. Lea [D., Cal.] said representatives of newspaper owned stations would present their case to the committee on May 19.

Frank E. Mullen, vice president and general manager of the National Broadcasting company, said that "the concept of a free radio must be adhered to if we are to emerge into postwar days as a strong and vigorous agency for the work of reconstruction."

"A free radio supported by private enterprise, free from government subsidy or ownership, is one of our democratic bulwarks," he told the committee. "A combination of science, art, and sound business management has given to the public and American business a national broadcasting service without equal.

Carries President to Nation.

"It has made it possible for the voice of the President to reach the entire nation at the same instant. World shaking events are told almost as they occur. The American people are united in a common objective as the program of the nation's war effort is reported."

Mullen said it was clear that both self-regulation and government regulation must play an important part in the free and continuous functioning of the broadcast structure

"While we are immediately concerned with the present problems of radio and the demands of a nation at war, legislation should envisage the future in a nation at peace," he said.

The witness expressed the fear that the commission, under the proposed reorganization, might interfere with radio advertising.

EXTEND POPULAR W-G-N FARM HOUR THIRTY MINUTES

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The Farm hour, aired over W-G-N weekday mornings except Saturday, has been extended a half hour and now runs from 5:30 to 6:30 a. m. The boost in time has enabled the program to add several service features for farmers. Information on war gardens is now included. The Farm hour from time to time will be picked up from representative farms in the Chicagoland area so that on the spot descriptions of farm activities may be given.

The Museum of Science and Industry in Jackson Park yesterday opened a demonstration for the general public titled "The War on the Air Waves."

"Jamming" and other types of planned interferences are explained. Triangulation technique used by the communications commission in locating illicit transmitters is demonstrated. These demonstrations will be open to the public daily at 2:15, and on Saturdays and Sundays at 11:15 a. m.; 1:30 and 3 p. m.

Mutual's Opera Festival will open with the presentation of Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess' next Saturday. Todd Duncan, Anne Brown and the other stars now appearing in the current revival will be heard in this broadcast over W-G-N from 10 to 11 a. m. which will be presented in behalf of the sale of war bonds.

George Marchan, who conducts the All-Slavic program at 10:30 p. m. week nights on WGES is coöperating with the treasury department in a series of war bond programs starting tonight directed to Slavic peoples. Ald. William Rowan will speak tonight on the show; John Toman, county treasurer, will speak tomorrow, and Prof. John A. Zetina of Loyola university's law school, on Friday.

NOTE APOLOGIZES FOR SUICIDE.

STRIKE ALL FOES, NOT HITLER FIRST, SAYS AUSSIE AID

Calls Talk of Priority in War Absurd.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 5.—The war cry of certain Anglo-American officials that "we must conquer Hitler first" was deplored by Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, Australian minister of external affairs here today. He said:

"In this matter, to talk of seniority or priority is absurd."

The Australian minister admitted that this kind of talk had caused him "worry and distress," adding:

"Japan is such a powerful enemy that you must take full account of her strength and of the new empire she already has gained. The Pacific is not a sideshow. It is a vital part of the war."

Points to Big Jap Grabs.

In an address before an international press conference, he referred to the way Britain and the United States have underestimated Japan's strength and pointed out that "in less than five months Japan has occupied new territories which will constitute one of the richest empires in all history." He mentioned how even now "Japan's most forward and greatest base is Singapore, not Tokio," a fact which those talking about lengthy lines of communications "conveniently forgot."

Instead of continuously assessing their resources as proof of ultimate victory, he said the allies should start counting their economic losses. He pointed out how in Malaya the allies yearly are losing 48,000 tons of rubber, 80,000 tons of tin, and nearly 1,250,000 tons of iron ore, and in the Netherlands East Indies and British Borneo 7,500,000 tons of petroleum, and 500,000 tons of rubber.

Sees Two Blows by Japs.

"Yet there are those who are still inclined to take refuge in abstract calculations of the axis' and united nations' strength," he complained, warning that "unless we fight all our enemies all out all the time we shall defeat none of them."

Japan has the means at hand to strike hard in two directions, against Australia and India, he said, adding that if Australia and New Zealand are overrun by the Japanese, democracy itself "would be outraged and perpetually disgraced."

At the same time, however, that Evatt was protesting against the "beat Hitler first" attitude, Air Marshal A. T. Harris commander in chief of the bomber command here, gave an interview "exclusively for Australia' to the Sydney Sun in which he said:

"When Germany is smashed the time is come for the final kick in the pants for Japan."

Sure, every acre's raising more.... Now what's upping the mileage from this oil?

How does prize wheat or corn at the county fair get that way? Sure, man-made soil improvers—modern synthetics—were added to improve on nature.

AND MODERN SYNTHETICS in Conoco N*th* motor oil make it yield mileage that outscored all other brands tested in the sensational Death Valley Certified Competition. Five big-name quality brands got every fair chance against Conoco N*th* oil. All were run till engines failed and none came closer than 58% of the mileage totaled by Conoco N*th*! . . . the oil you can have for your needed Spring oil change that's now overdue . . . the oil whose best known man-made extra substance—at no extra premium—gives your engine OIL-PLATING.

OIL-PLATING backs up the familiar fluid type of oil film with a surfacing of lubricant close-bonded to inner engine parts. Every cylinder wall, for instance, becomes a wall of OIL-PLATING that doesn't all drain dry during all the time you use Conoco N*th*. Even after all-day parking, the OIL-PLATING is still up to the topmost piston rings, ready to lubricate before any oil can circulate. That's one plain way of foiling excess wear, and keeping up mileage with your engine OIL-PLATED.

But Conoco N*th* oil also includes Thialkene inhibitor . . . another synthetic . . . invented to inhibit or restrain the dangerous "jelling" of oil under excess strain. Engine heat and pressure can even gum up oil into something like fly-paper coating—only dirtier, and not much better for mileage. Against this threat, Thialkene inhibitor was created for Conoco N*th* (U.S. Pat. 2,218,132). And Conoco N*th* out-mileaged the others in the Death Valley Test—from 74% all the way up to 161%. You can get real optimistic about your own mileage. Conoco N*th* will come through for you. Change at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company

U.S. FLYER SWIMS TO WRECKAGE AND SAVES SUB VICTIM

Three More Ships Sunk Off Atlantic Coast.

The submarine sinking of three more ships off the Atlantic coast was announced yesterday by the navy department. Survivors of two of them reached Cocoa, Fla., and those from the third were landed at Toms River, N. J. The losses brought to 153 the number of vessels sunk in American waters since Pearl Harbor, with 909 known dead, 1,212 missing, and 4,609 rescued. Details of the new sinkings follow:

PLANE ALIGHTS IN OCEAN

Cocoa, Fla., May 5.—A daring rescue at sea by the two man crew of an American patrol plane was described today with the announcement that two merchant ships had been torpedoed and sunk off the Atlantic coast.

The rescue was made by Ensign John F. Gray of Champaign, Ill., pilot of the plane, and Wesley White of Jacksonville, Fla., the plane's radio operator. The two sighted an injured survivor of one of the torpedoed ships clinging to a piece of wreckage and Gray brought the small plane down on the heaving sea near him.

White jumped from the plane and swam to the sailor, who had suffered a broken leg when his ship sank.

Makes Splint from Wreckage.

The flyer fashioned a crude splint from a floating board and lashed the splint to the man's leg with a piece of canvas torn from a life raft which was floating near by. Then White hoisted the injured man aboard the raft and paddled back to the plane with him.

There was room in the plane for only two persons, so White remained on the raft while Gray flew to a hospital with the sailor. Another plane picked up White later.

The rescued sailor, Thomas Jones, 27 years old, of Birkenhead, England, had clung to the wreckage for three hours.

Both Torpedoed Sunday.

He was one of 42 survivors rescued from his ship, a medium size British freighter which was sunk Sunday morning. Five of the crew were killed when a torpedo struck the ship's engine room. Forty-six crew members were rescued from the other ship, described as a united nations freighter, and 18 of its crew lost their lives. The united nations ship also was torpedoed Sunday.

When the British ship was torpedoed and began to sink, John Park of Vancouver, B. C., her senior pilot, gave orders to abandon her.

"Then the gunner told me he could see the submarine," Park said. "He begged me to let him try to hit it. I told him to go ahead, but we were settling all the time."

The gunner, Sid Webber of Beansville, Ont., said 15 shots were fired and several near misses were scored on the submarine.

"But I don't know that we did any damage," he said.

Former Resident of Elgin.

Champaign, Ill., May 5 [Special].—Ensign John F. Gray, pilot of a navy plane which rescued a U-boat victim in the Atlantic ocean, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralston Gray of Champaign. The family lived in Elgin before moving here six years ago. Gray, who is 25 years old, attended Elgin High school and was graduated from the University of Illinois in 1938.

CREW OF 36 RESCUED

Toms River, N. J., May 5 (AP).—A small Norwegian freighter was sunk off the Atlantic coast April 30 by a submarine that was sighted on the surface just before the attack, the 4th naval district announced today.

The ship's entire crew of 36 was rescued after 14 hours in lifeboats. Survivors said they saw the submarine off the starboard bow about 10:50 p. m. and that a torpedo exploded amidship a few minutes later.

The crew abandoned ship immediately, and another explosive ripped into the after part of the vessel 5 minutes later. The ship sank within 15 minutes.

2 CENTERS OF NAZI WAR PRODUCTION BOMBED BY RAF

LONDON, May 5 (AP).—Giant new British bombers struck deep into the heart of Germany and her vassal states overnight, hurling bombs on both the Skoda arms works at Pilsen in old Czecho-Slovakia and on war factories at Stuttgart in Germany's southwest.

Other British planes attacked German airdromes in France and Norway and shipping off Norway and Holland, and fighter squadrons sped across the channel again this afternoon on new expeditions.

Zeebrugge, Belgium, and points in occupied France were the targets of four daylight thrusts. The British said they lost six planes and destroyed four German craft.

Four bomb carrying German fighters made a brief attack on a southeast coast town early tonight, inflicting a number of casualties in small homes which were demolished.

Nazi Convoy Attacked.

BERLIN, May 5 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—Nazi bombers yesterday attacked the English south coast town of Eastbourne and at night the naval base at Cowes on the south coast. Eighteen RAF planes were declared downed yesterday over the channel and the continent. A bomber was shot down at Stuttgart.

Tuning Up for Army-Navy Benefit

BIG HOLLYWOOD SHOW'S TONIGHT, AND IT'S NO MOVIE

Film Stars Galore to Aid Service Funds.

The curtain goes up at 8 o'clock tonight on the Hollywood Victory Caravan's army-navy relief show in the Chicago Stadium. In the audience will be thousands of movie fans who will pay from $1.10 to $50 to see one of the greatest collection of movie celebrities ever assembled outside Hollywood.

Chicago gave a thunderous welcome to the trainload of movie stars when they arrived at the Union station yesterday from Detroit, where they staged one of their one night stand performances Monday night.

Police Keep Crowds Back.

A tremendous cheer went up when Pat O'Brien walked briskly out of the trainshed in a sweater and slacks. There was another cheer for Eleanor Powell, and another for Jerry Colonna, whose drooping mustache, as all could see, is genuine.

One by one the rest of the stars appeared, the actresses in approximately $50,000 worth of furs and some of them wearing orchids. Service men in the assemblage joined lustily in the acclaim for Claudette Colbert, who gave the $1,000 she was paid for her appearance in Bob Hope's radio show at the Great Lakes Naval Training station last night to buy tickets to the Caravan show for soldiers and sailors. Hope and Groucho Marx will alternate as master of ceremonies at the show tonight.

Many Notables in Group.

Among the stars to take part are Bing Crosby, Charlotte Greenwood, James Cagney, Desi Arnaz, Joan Bennett, Olivia De Havilland, Charles Boyer, Cary Grant, Frances Langford, Merle Oberon, Frank McHugh, Oliver Hardy, Stan Laurel, Ray Middleton, Joan Blondell, and Risé Stevens.

The proceeds will go to the Navy Relief society and the Army Emergency relief, for use in giving financial aid to needly families of service men.

Tickets were still available last night at $1.65, $2.20, $5.50, and $11. The committee in charge was hopeful that the Chicago show would net $80,000.

MRS. DILLING IS WITNESS AT U. S. SEDITION PROBE

Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling, author of "The Red Network," made a brief appearance yesterday before the federal grand jury which is investigating alleged sedition in the Chicago area.

After less than half an hour in the grand jury rooms Mrs. Dilling emerged smiling. "I was before them only a very short while," she said, "and I've been given to understand I'll not be called again." Neither J. Albert Woll, United States attorney, nor his assistants, William J. Connor and Paul Plunkett, would discuss her appearance. It was expected that a subpena soon will be served on Albert W. Dilling, against whom Mrs. Dilling has a divorce suit pending.

Also called yesterday were three members of Mrs. Dilling's staff in the Patriotic Research bureau, 8 South Dearborn street. They were Miss Jean Ludgren, Miss Mary Leach, and Miss Edna Litwiller. Two others who appeared before the investigative body yesterday were Capt. William J. Grace, head of the Citizens' U. S. A. committee, and Miss Gertrude Bowden, Mrs. Dilling's former secretary.

A BLUE EYED BLONDE OF 18 CHOSEN QUEEN OF BENTON HARBOR FETE

Benton Harbor, Mich., May 5 [Special].—A pretty blue eyed blonde, Marion Radtke, 18 years old, of St. Joseph, was chosen tonight as the queen of the 19th annual southwestern Michigan blossom festival. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Radtke, fruit growers living south of St. Joseph, and is employed in a Benton Harbor department store.

Second place in the contest, in which girls representing 12 cities competed, went to Johanna Vander Sys, 17, a high school senior of Grand Haven. Two girls tied for third place. They are Thora Dallard, 19, of Benton Harbor, and Donna Sahlen, 20, of South Haven.

Miss Radtke, who competed as "Miss St. Joseph," will be crowned tomorrow night at a coronation ball at St. Joseph. The festival opened Sunday and will end Friday night. For the first time in the 19 years the event has been held the annual blossom parade was not a part of this year's festival as a result of the war.

DEMAND STATES REMOVE BARS TO WAR TIME TRADE

Nelson, Eastman Tell What Must Be Done.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—Joseph B. Eastman, director of the Office of Defense Transportation, and Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production board, addressing representatives of 48 state governments in conference here today, demanded that local restrictions on transportation, construction and industry be nullified for the duration of the war.

As for railroads and highway regulations, Eastman warned that statutory barriers at state borders can be lifted by federal action under the war powers confered by the constitution. He said he hoped, however, that state legislatures, voluntarily and promptly, will amend laws that impede interstate train and truck movements.

Various Barriers Reviewed.

State boundary hurdles for truckers include licensing laws and varying limitations on weights and sizes of vehicles. Eastman said some of these statutes were prompted by railroad lobbies to embarrass truck lines.

Local laws embarrassing railroads in some states include restrictions on the maximum length of trains and the minimum number of men that must comprise a crew.

Gov. Julius P. Heil of Wisconsin told the convention that the police of his state, without awaiting legislative action, have stopped enforcement of trucking statutes that interfere with the free movement of highway freight.

Assails Building Codes.

Nelson told of building codes, health ordinances, and licensing laws which he said must be repealed for the duration of the war. He said some of these were enacted for regional advantage or for the advantage of some selfishly interested group. Others were enacted, he said, for peacetime benefits that the public cannot afford in wartime.

For the duration of the war he asked "minimum practical requirements in regard to plumbing, heating, ventilation, electrical work, and so on."

REDS OPEN DRIVE TOWARD KHARKOV, KURSK, TAGANROG

BULLETIN.

MOSCOW, May 6 (Wednesday)—(AP).—Russian guerrillas operating on the Borisov-Minsk railway 400 miles west of Moscow and far behind the German advance lines have blown up two Nazi troop trains and killed or wounded 500 Germans, the Moscow radio said today in quoting President Natavelich of the Nazi occupied White Russian republic.

MOSCOW, May 5 (AP).—Stealing the jump on Adolf Hitler, hundreds of thousands of Russian soldiers, supported by tanks and planes, smashed head-on today at three key German bases from which it was believed the Nazi Fuehrer was planning his spring or summer drive.

Under command of Marshal Semeon Timoshenko, the first Russian general to turn back the German military machine with the recapture of Rostov last November, the Red army struck at Kharkov, Kursk, and Taganrog in the strongest Nazi held section of the long battleline.

Forces Massed at 2 Cities.

The Russians—both new and seasoned troops—were supported everywhere by a full winter's accumulation of British, American, and soviet arms.

The Nazis are known to have been gathering troops in Kharkov and Taganrog, both of which have been reported within artillery fire of the soviet lines, for a drive toward the Caucasus and its oil.

Guerrillas operating on the Kalinin front northwest of Moscow were credited with killing 1,500 Germans in three days. A Red army unit before Leningrad was reported to have advanced to a new position, then beat off repeated German counterattacks.

Claim Red Landing Repulsed.

BERLIN, May 5 [from German broadcast]—(AP).—The German high command announced tonight that the Russians made an unsuccessful attempt to land Sunday night at a point on the sea of Azov behind the Nazi lines.

HOST OF LILACS SWEETENS DAY FOR THOUSANDS

Young and Old Shut-Ins Get a Glimpse of Spring.

BY MARTHA MURPHY.

Yesterday was the first day of spring for many of the war veterans at the Edward Hines Jr. hospital. Bouquets of regal purple lilacs distributed in the 14th annual "Share Your Lilacs" campaign embodied sunny spring skies and perfumed breezes to patients who never go out of doors.

"We've all been watching THE TRIBUNE for weeks, waiting to see when Lilac day would come this year," one of the nurses said. Vases were ready and waiting for the blooms in all of the wards. Some had been made of quart jars painted green.

In the women's wards, nurses and yeomanettes of the World war spent hours arranging and rearranging the frosty cones. "These prove it's the most beautiful time of the year outside," a silvery haired woman said.

In one of the women's wards at Cook County hospital Miss Mary R. swung a sprig of pale mauve blooms back and forth in her hand.

Across the aisle another woman buried her nose in a spray of lavender lilacs. "I want to smell the perfume right out of them," she said.

SPRING FOR SURE

BY DOROTHY COUNSELMAN.

That land of nod got mighty noisy when lilacs interrupted the afternoon siesta at the Helping Hand Day nursery, 3146 Vernon avenue. The fun began when young Butch woke up with a war whoop to tell the rest of the kids that spring had come for sure.

"Aw lemme have some," pleaded Charles. "My mom, she loves flowers."

Most of these small Negroes have never seen the country; but for them the lilacs brought fairyland to town.

Flowers for dessert was the order of the day at Provident hospital. Even chocolate pudding took second place as the patients in the Children's ward practically turned somersaults over their cribs to snag a lilac or two.

LIKE FAIRYLAND

BY MAURINE MYERS.

"It smells like fairyland," murmured the little girl as baskets and boxes of lilacs were unloaded on the playroom floor at the De Paul University Day nursery, 2146 North Halsted street. More than 30 children crowded around to look at the cargo which smelled so deliciously.

Sister Louis sought to keep some sort of order among her small charges. But a riot broke out as tiny fists were thrust out for a share of the big bouquets. Davy was sent back to wash his face before he might claim his flowers, but he was soon clutching a fistful of the deep purple blooms.

PLEASANT AWAKENING

BY JUNE GESERICK.

The patients at Children's Memorial hospital, 707 Fullerton avenue, had a pleasant awakening from their naps yesterday afternoon. They found their rooms filled with lilacs. Eddie, 5, moved his wheel chair as close as possible to the blooms and exclaimed: "Gee, they sure do smell nice."

Constance, 11 years old, who is confined to a wheel chair, said the Lilac day blooms were "so beautiful, I wish I could be outside to see them grow."

FUN WITH JIMMY

BY IRENE STEYSKAL.

Children's ward in St. Luke's hospital. . . .

A bristling, rusty colored forelock and a pair of snapping, bright eyes were about all that was visible of 6 year old Jimmy, but behind his swathing of bandages Jimmy was as vocal as a buzz saw and as active as a baby jeep. For such fellows as Jimmy a hospital bed isn't big enough for maneuvers.

Books had failed to interest him. The interns' routine of tricks had been exhausted. If he had to stay in, Jimmy wanted a pony. But ponies in hospitals are a bit impracticable, so the lilacs arrived just in time. Jimmy stopped short, sniffed, and sniffed again.

"Gee," he breathed, "violets!"

"They're not violets, silly!" chorused Patsy, rolling over on her stómach and propping her chin up on her hand, and Rosemary, spinning up in her wheel chair, "They're lilacs."

HIS FIRST LILACS

BY JEANNE McCARTHY.

Jerry saw his first lilacs yesterday and liked them. Jerry is 2. To him, St. Vincent's Infant and Maternity hospital is home. Jerry conducted his inspection in the blue and white nursery. He eyed the flowers suspiciously, fingered them cautiously, and tossed one on the floor to test its bouncing qualities. Jerry then sniffed one. His blue eyes widened and he grinned broadly. He waved the flower at his young friends, and they smiled back, in agreement with his decision.

BOY MEETS BOUQUET

BY MILDRED WILDS.

A lilac bouquet and a little boy met yesterday for the first time this spring in Shriners hospital for Crippled children, 2211 North Oak Park avenue. The lilacs were fresh and fragrant. Eddie, the boy, was mostly wide eyes and smiles. Excitement ran all thru the south ward of the hospital when Nurse Barbara Davis came armed with purple and white tributes from suburban gardens. Leonard, Toby, and Edith Joy all enjoyed the big bouquets which sifted some perfume from the outdoors into their sleep.

HANDLED WITH CARE

BY GLADYS PRIDDY.

Brown-eyed Mexican children standing in orderly rows at the entrance of the University of Chicago settlement house yesterday didn't exclaim or laugh as they received little sprigs of lilacs. They curled little fingers around the stems with all of the care with which they might handle a precious doll.

None would take many flowers. The great bouquets from THE TRIBUNE truck were to stay at the settlement house, at 4630 McDowell avenue, a neighborhood in which the Mexicans are one of the leading nationality groups.

In the nursery school, Rose Marie and Rachel wanted to sleep with their single lilac between them. Roger, 3, stayed awake long enough to see his "only a little bouquet" put in water to keep for his mama.

BREATH OF SPRING

BY LLOYD NORMAN.

"That's the breath of spring," exclaimed one man as armloads of fragrant lilacs were brought into the workshop of the Chicago Lighthouse for the Blind, 3323 Cermak road.

A row of men working on telephone instrument parts turned unseeing eyes toward the door.

"They're lilacs," one said. "May I take some home? They'll brighten my room with their aroma."

"I used to have a lilac bush out in Downers Grove," another broke in. "Lilacs have always meant spring to me."

TROUBLES FADE AWAY

BY BERNICE O'CONNORS.

The patients' troubles seemed to fade away as large bouquets of lilacs were distributed at the Women and Children's hospital. The room was crowded with nurses, happy to see the delighted expressions on their patients' faces.

Margaret, a resident of Chinatown, has spent five months of her first 12 in the hospital. She had her first introduction to fresh flowers yesterday. Celebrating her new adventure, she smiled shyly as the photographer snapped her picture in her quaint little crib.

REALTORS INSIST ON RENT BOOSTS UNTIL DEADLINE

Seek 4½ Per Cent Increase Over March Levels.

Chicago renters who signed May leases at increased prices will have to pay the increases in May and June, in most cases. Governors of the rental and management division of the Chicago Real Estate board made this clear yesterday at a meeting with Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [19th], chairman of the rent and price committee of the Chicago Defense council.

The rent ceiling which fixes prices at the March 1 level becomes effective June 28, Lindell was reminded by the realtors, who said they were going to insist upon the higher price for the two months which is their legal right.

Refuses to Support Appeal.

Lindell refused a request of Leonard Downie, executive manager of the Chicago Real Estate board, for his support of the board's appeal to the federal government for permission to enforce a rent increase of 4½ per cent. A survey has shown Chicago rents generally have been increased 5.6 per cent.

The realtors implied property owners would not pay their taxes if the requested 4½ per cent rent increase is not granted and wound up the meeting with an admission that the rent ceiling is a federal order and must be complied with if the increase is refused.

Unable to Avoid Control.

"My personal opinion," Downie said, "is that Leon Henderson [federal price administrator] and the federal government want to put rent control in force in Chicago and there is no way we can stop it.

"The average May 1 rent increase was 5.6 per cent. We are asking for 4½ per cent and many owners have adjusted their leases down to this figure.

"Some industries have been able to make a 6 per cent profit. Real estate would be glad to realize 6 per cent. Inquiries among owners show that taxes will suffer. Landlords will pay operating costs first, then their living costs, and finally do a little decorating. If there is anything left they may pay taxes."

Several realtors at the meeting expressed the opinion that the sooner a federal rent administrator takes charge of the situation in Chicago the better it would be for owners and tenants. Downie said he did not believe the government could do anything in Chicago until June 28.

CREATES OFFICE TO SUPERVISE ALL CANADA CENSORS

OTTAWA, Ont., May 5 (AP).—Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King announced today creation of a new office of director of censorship which will have jurisdiction over several censorship branches which heretofore were responsible to various ministers. Col. O. M. Biggar of Ottawa, joint chairman of the Canada-United States defense board, was named head of the new censorship office. He will retain his defense board post. King said the new directorate would cooperate with United States censorship authorities.

"YOU'LL NEVER BE BALD, SON, BECAUSE WE ARE GOING TO CONSULT JOHN E. WARNER"

When father lost his hair 18 years ago, he was sure that his baldness was inherited and he had no one to turn to but various quacks who offered to regrow hair on a bald head. Science has never discovered a way to regrow hair on a bald head—and baldness remains a permanent condition except in very rare cases to the unfortunates so afflicted, but rapid strides have been made by John E. Warner and his Associates in the prevention of baldness. Statistics show that 85% of all baldness is due to local scalp conditions which can be checked and corrected if caught in time. Thousands of men have saved and improved their hair through the Warner method of treatment, but no case is ever accepted unless beneficial results are certain.

Many cases treated have resulted in a more luxuriant growth of hair and a greatly improved appearance. Each case is studied individually and constantly and each person treated is given detailed instructions at the conclusion of the treatment so that a healthy head of hair is a permanent condition.

FEES FOR TREATMENT ARE VERY MODERATE AND ARE PAYABLE AS THE TREATMENTS ARE TAKEN, NOT IN ADVANCE. There is a separate department for women. Hours, 10 a. m. to 8 p. m. daily; Saturday to 6 p. m.

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

WE'RE GOING BACK TO BATAAN!

THE REPUBLICAN CITADEL.

The Republican party was founded here in the middle west. There are a number of cities, among them Jackson, Mich., and Ripon, Wis., which claim to be the birthplace of the party. They are midwestern communities. Before 1860 the party had developed strength in New England, but the middle west was its citadel. Here in Illinois and Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Wisconsin, and Iowa its great principles of freedom were formulated. Here in Chicago its first successful candidate for the Presidency, Lincoln, was nominated. He was long regarded in the east as an uncouth frontiersman and it was only after his death that the country came to see how much it owed to this man who had brought a new spirit and a new doctrine from the prairies to Washington.

In a sense, of course, it was not a new doctrine that he upheld. Jefferson's party was originally known as the Republican party, and it was properly so named because it stood for republicanism against the monarchist tendencies of the Federalists. Lincoln, Medill, and their co-workers revived the name for their new organization which was opposed to slavery and the oligarchy which supported it. The Republican party in Lincoln's day as in Jefferson's and in our own was dedicated to the perpetuation of the republican form of government, the government of free men whose fathers had rejected the monarchism of the Federalists and whose descendants today reject the absolutism of the New Deal.

In its long history the party has not always been faithful to the principles for which it was founded. From time to time it has known timidity and corruption, but it has always been able to win its way back. Its farthest departure came in 1940 when great wealth gained momentary control of the party thru clever promotion and backstage manipulation. The ring of eastern millionaires who seized control at Philadelphia were representative of an element which has often sought to use the party and has never contributed anything to its fundamental strength.

The Republican party to which our country owes its survival and which has contributed so much to its greatness was born in the middle west and has been most loyal to its principles when it has enjoyed the leadership of midwesterners. The party is menaced today as it has often been in the past by the efforts of easterners to corrupt it and sell it out for financial and social advantage. The midwestern leaders must regain control to bring the party back to its true line, the line of Lincoln and Jefferson. That is their duty and their great opportunity.

CHICAGO IN THE WAR.

The best kind of patriotism in time of war is the efficient accomplishment of the things which will bring the war to a victorious issue in the least possible time. Chicago has been content to let other cities specialize in war hysteria and play at war. For its part, Chicago has gone about the job of getting things done quietly, but with a degree of determination that some other centers of loud patriotism might do well to emulate.

The plants of the Chicago area hold 2 billion dollars in war contracts and the number of contracts held in the Chicago ordnance district is the greatest of any of the nation's 13 ordnance districts. Production is great and is constantly growing greater. New plants are springing up on every side. Cook county, with its great pool of trained labor, its central location in a system of converging transportation facilities, and its high reputation for efficient industrial production, is the top manufacturing county of the nation. In a very real sense it is the heart of what has been called the arsenal of democracy.

Output of war material is only one phase of Chicago's war effort. Chicago is giving great assistance in financing the war. How great can be gathered from the fact that the treasury department, on the basis of past response, has assigned Cook county the highest quota for buying war bonds this month of any of the nation's 3,070 counties.

Then there are the young men Chicago is sending into the armed services. Enlistment and draft figures are not made public, but we know that there is no shirking here. Chicagoans are wherever the fighting is. Capt. Wermuth was the one man army of Bataan. Lieut. Comm. O'Hare is the hero of naval aviation. Another Chicagoan, Arvid Olson, is squadron leader of the "Flying Tigers" of the American Volunteer group of pilots who have done so brilliantly against the Japs in Burma. And these are but a few among tens of thousands.

Chicago had no delusions about the nature of war before war came to our country. We knew that war meant the sweat of labor, that it meant pledging our wealth, that it meant readiness to sacrifice life itself. Because we knew the cost so well, we did not join in beating the martial drum as it was beaten in some other quarters. But when war did come we hastened with all our beings to do the things that were necessary. We are not deluded that the war can be won in the night clubs or in the swivel chairs of Washington. We know that it will be won on the production line and the firing line. Perhaps for the very reason that we always knew what sacrifices would be necessary, we were that much more prepared to meet them. We did not have to go thru any painful transition period as did the drum beaters to whom the hard demands of war came as a shock for which they were unprepared.

HOW ABOUT SOME 1-B CIVILIANS?

The army is getting ready to take some of the 800,000 single men in the draft who have been placed in class 1-B because of minor physical defects. These men are to do guard and clerical duty, work in the quartermaster depots, and perform other such services behind the lines.

This is honorable service. The men have, in most cases, minor defects which do not affect their efficiency in civilian life and the nature of modern war being what it is, it is not improbable that many of the 1-B men, before the war is over, will see combat. Flat feet or leaky heart valves have no relation to courage or intelligence.

Now that the army has taken the lead, the civilian branches of the government ought to fall into step. One thing that is badly needed in Washington is a few hundred thousand 1-B civilians in the bureaus. The other day a magazine which has taken a leading part in the attempt to smear critics of incompetence in the war effort itself indulged unconsciously in a most devastating criticism of the Washington burocracy. It printed a couple of pages showing the young men of the department of justice disporting themselves at a swimming party in Washington. The men in the picture, it was obvious, were almost all under 30. They cannot at their age have attained any such experience in the law as would make their presence in bombproof jobs essential to the war effort.

There are plenty of myopic and flatfooted lawyers past the age of 45 in this country. The slackers in the Washington bureaus ought to be in the fighting services. The places in the bombproofs can be taken by men who are unfitted for military duty.

VICHY AND MADAGASCAR.

Dispatches from Vichy under date of May 3 told how the cordiality of relations between France and Japan was confirmed with colorful ceremonies in honor of Adm. Nomura, head of the Japanese commission in Berlin, and Rear Adm. Abe, member of the commission in Rome. Laval and Adm. Darlan made the occasion one expressing sympathy and friendship in a manner bound to be conspicuously offensive to the nations Japan had attacked. In a fashion it was a culmination of the double dealing which has characterized the Vichy government in recent weeks, ever since Laval was given the chief post in the government. The following day the British descended upon the French Island of Madagascar.

The expedition probably was under way before Laval paid his compliments to the Japanese in a manner intended to be significant of coöperation. Madagascar has been recognized as a danger spot from the beginning of the Japanese attack. It lies on the route from South Africa to the Red sea and to India. The incident of Sunday in Vichy only confirmed what the United States and Great Britain had reason to suspect was impending. Laval's conduct in making a show of his attitude toward Japan was timely as a justification, if any were needed, for the action taken by the British expedition. It was opportune in a manner he did not intend it to be.

Vichy's submission to Japan in Indo-China in July of last year was sufficient indication of what might be expected in other territory under Vichy administration. The French agreed to let the Japanese in and at that moment the present war actually started. It is apparent now that the Japanese thought we would recognize the fact. It will be recalled that as the Japs moved into Indo-China all Japanese ships bound for American ports were stopped at sea, by instructions from Tokio, and refused to answer radio calls. Jap freighters in our Pacific ports hastened to put to sea. There is no doubt that the Japanese realists thought that the United States would understand that a war had begun. The state department did declare that the occupation of French Indo-China was primarily in preparation "for more obvious movements of conquest in adjacent areas." Japan was on its way to Malaya, Singapore, and the Dutch East Indies, but the blow did not fall on the United States until four months later.

The Vichy government is the worst problem child in diplomacy and international dealing. It is playing both ends of the game, knowing that if the enemies of Hitler, Mussolini, and Japan win France will not be punished for what some of its politicians do in collaboration with the world's enemies, and if those enemies should prevail the coöperation given them will get better terms for France.

There is naturally a great deal of sympathy for a people so oppressed as the French, and a great deal of understanding of their position. But the French government is in a position to deliver a stab in the back and it may not be unwilling to do so. Laval is putting himself in the position of being an open enemy and may have to be treated as such.

Editorial of the Day

A NAVY VOICE CRIED UNHEEDED.

[Kansas City Times.]

"The potential awareness of air power in relation to future political and national interest in the far east has not yet been realized by American statesmen and naval minds. If they will stop and study this subject, it may come to them with a dull, sickening thud."

This prognostication came from the pen of a dyed in the wool naval line officer who never piloted a plane, the late Rear Adm. William Freeland Fullam, whose one man campaign for a "three plane" navy unfortunately has long since been forgotten. [By "three plane" he meant a navy above the surface, on the surface, and below the surface.]

The occasion of Fullam's observation was a vote in the British house of commons, back in 1923, authorizing expenditure of from 50 million to 100 million dollars for the naval base at Singapore. "It is clear," he added, "that England needs neither expensive forts nor battleships at Singapore or Australia. There is but one way a fleet can take the offensive today—by strong submarine and air forces. The air force will dominate. . . . It must be perfectly plain that . . . Japan could easily demolish the English base at Hongkong unless England maintained an overwhelming air force and strong submarine fleet in that vicinity."

Fullam, who entered Annapolis in 1873 and was captain in command of the battleship Mississippi when the army bought its first airplane, was a rear admiral in December, 1914, when the navy had 15 pilots and 11 planes. He made an unheeded and reiterated plea for air power at that time. He also proposed that the marine corps be divorced from the navy. Because of these heretical opinions he was put in command of the Pacific fleet reserve force when America entered the first World war. He was retired at 64 in 1919 and died in Washington in September, 1926, having devoted much of his time and energies toward heralding the new naval era.

Fullam told an Aero Club of America meeting, three years after the armistice, that "sea power or fighting power in the future will be entirely dependent upon control of the air." Twenty years ago, addressing a congressional investigating committee, he said:

"The best naval minds of all countries are agreed that a dreadnought fleet with guns of maximum power cannot approach a hostile coast; it cannot maintain a close blockade; it cannot safely venture more than 200 miles from its protected base; it cannot leave home at all unless it is guarded night and day from attack by airplanes and submarines. . . . In short, the surface fleet no longer rules the oceans. Air and submarine power have dethroned the battleship. With these incontrovertible facts in mind, it is not difficult to outline a sound and modern naval policy for the United States."

New in the science of government is the sensation of compulsory well-being. By official order, the populace in Hitler Germany will be merry thru the month of May or else.—Atlanta Constitution.

The mass of colorless communiqués from the war zones occasionally offers a nugget of the precious ore from which good stories are made. Among such bits of treasure for the imagination was the dispatch about the Australian who did a bit of beachcombing in the wreck of a plane from Batavia and found diamonds valued at $1,000,000. . . . Oddly enough, the finder seems to have been the Australian type called a swagman.

Another news item of romantic appeal dealt with the escape of Gen. Giraud from a German prison. Some day an enterprising author will compile a book on famous escapes and give us the complete dossier of Gen. Giraud in a chapter that will probably follow the saga of Chicago's Tommy O'Connor.

A WAR MOTHER MOURNS.

It's time to plow the sandy field for corn;
The trees the boy set out are blossoming;
The sun this morning turned a red bird's wing
To gold among the elms; few Springs have worn
The radiance of this, the time of year
He loved—when echoes of a fluted note
Would fly to heaven from a feathered throat;
The time when heaven, I know now, was here.

I realize, at last, how Mary dreamed
Of her Son coming back some April day
To help at home. (The sandy field will stay Unplowed this year.) It must, to her, have seemed
A miracle that good was multiplied

The Duke Views with Alarm.

Hon. Linemaster: About the only aggravation she aint thought of so far this year is one of her special treats called "a basket picnic." So for a while at least I'm having my inning while she aint having her outing. I'm very careful lately not to use any talk around tha shack that contains tha words "picnic" or "basket," for fear it might slip her a reminder.

Yesterday I pulls a boner when I fergets myself and says, "How come you hadda buy a new wash basket?" I changes tha subject darn quick and keeps on talking a'la "How nice your hair looks, mama," but tha pussy is already out of tha bag and as Napoleon used to say, "Alas poor Yorick I knew her well." She tells me that that reminds her that she's gonna plan a Lincoln park basket picnic.

Last year's excursion comes to my memory. At home we'd never think of sittin down to sausage, potatoe salad, pickles, hard-boiled eggs, pickled beets, cold ham, and etc. And this is exactly what she packed. Tha kids don't squawk cause they know I'm good for ice cream cones, pop, peanuts, etc., so by tha time we're ready to eat they aint hungry and dont haita eat tha other junk. I always wonder why people refer to bees as "busy bees" cause they always find time to attend all outings. Mebbe its because they keep tha people busy trying to knock em for a row.

What gets my nanny is tha parleying of deviled eggs and angel food cake. You might just as well try an picture Hitler eating kosher sausage on an english muffin. The nicest part of last year's picnic was when I stretched out after eatin an took a snooze. Just as I'm dozing off another bunch of goofs start playing ukelelees and some of them played soft ball.

After getting a mess of tha music in my ears an a soft ball right in tha middle of my puss I says to tha mama that it would be a good idea to go on home, but she says thats impossible cause tha food aint all et up yet.

THE SEVEN SEAS.

The Seven Seas have our hearts in thrall,
Their pulsing is felt in cottage or hall.
One sea is smooth as the turtle dove's breast,
Opal and pearl from east to west;
One when the sun cleaves the morning mist
Has the lure of a faceted amethyst;
One when the spring rains dimple the sands
Is grooved by the silversmith's cunning hands.
One has deep billows of malachite
And the hollow ships resound to their might;
One is gray as a bitter shroud
Under the storm wrack of scudding cloud;
One holds the carbuncle's august fire
When the setting sun is a hero's pyre;
Stained perhaps with some revelry—
Nay, with an ichor more sacred far
From a goblet's oblation to Freedom's star.

DIGESTIVE UPSETS OF CHILDHOOD.

INFANTS and young children are peculiarly susceptible to digestive upsets. The causes are many and varied.

Tiny babies—when hungry—nurse voraciously and perhaps gulp a substantial amount of air. The ensuing "burp" will not only relieve distension, but may empty the stomach of its contents. If such episodes occur occasionally, or should only a teaspoonful be spit up, the matter may be looked upon as of little moment. But when the tot vomits after every feeding and, in consequence, fails to gain—investigation is in order. There may be some blockage at the outlet of the gastric pouch which prevents food from reaching the intestine.

In some instances, treatment with fairly thick gruels will be helpful. In other cases, however, the exit may be so narrow that a simple surgical operation will be necessary to enlarge it. These little ones withstand such a procedure without hazard. Healing is rapid and the subsequent advance in weight and growth is spectacular.

Overfeeding may be responsible for vomiting, as may the consumption of edibles which the youngster cannot digest. The first sign of a nose or throat infection or a contagious malady may be the prompt rejection of nutriment. Particularly if fever is present, we must search for organisms in the airways or the throat. Sometimes, following a discharging ear or a severe cold, bugs will find their way into the intestines and create havoc. We may say, then, that in general the symptom should notify us that something is wrong.

Diarrhea is a frequent accompaniment. When both manifestations are observed we think ordinarily of food poisoning. But this, too, means that bacteria have invaded the alimentary canal and the slightest carelessness in the preparation of the formula may inaugurate a fairly serious disorder. The danger lies in what is tantamount to starvation, with excessive drying of the tissues. Fluids and solids are lost so extensively that the child becomes an easy prey to the advance of an infection.

Many of us can recall that dreadful disease, cholera infantum. We rarely encounter the ailment nowadays because mothers have learned how to prepare nutriment in a sanitary fashion. Bottles and nipples are boiled, with the result that contamination is avoided.

But germs abound and, every now and then, one of our youngsters will be extremely ill. It is rarely safe to manage such a condition without expert help. In fact, the replacement of water may call for prompt action if the circulation is to be preserved. An excellent remedy for milder seizures is scraped apple pulp, which may be fed periodically and which appears to have the power of discouraging the multiplication of organisms within the bowel. In addition, it is able to hold water in a sort of jell and reduce the number of stools.

Children who are old enough to run around and visit the neighbors may well be cautioned not to partake of refreshments should they be offered. Cookies and candies that are passed from hand to hand are choice microbe gleaners. While we need not be finicky, cleanliness about everything we put into our mouths is one of the first rules of good hygiene.

SKIN INFECTION.

H. J. writes: I have been afflicted with carbuncles and would like to find and eliminate the cause. What is responsible?

REPLY.

Infection, which may gain the upper hand when the resistance is low. You should have skilled medical care as these lesions are more serious than ordinary boils. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on boils and carbuncles.

DOODLING.

P. P. writes: For several years I have been quite nervous. Recently I began to bite my finger nails. Can you advise me how to quit this habit?

REPLY.

Interest is the answer. You can find so much satisfaction in what you are doing that no other compensation will be needed. Cross-stitching will keep both hands occupied. Gum chewing is less cannibalistic.

"THE GIVER OF BREAD IS ALSO LORD."

Ogunquit, Me., April 28.—In 1880 a distinguished English scholar, Thomas Hodgkin, published his great work, "Italy and Her Invaders," in which he told the story of the fall of the Roman empire and the collapse of ancient civilization. It is a curious fact that, altho there is no period of the world's history more worthy of the study of thoughtful persons, it receives but little attention in our schools and colleges.

At the end of his second volume Mr. Hodgkin summarizes the causes for the collapse of the Roman empire and finds two chief causes: First, the pauperization of the poorer classes by means of the public dole; and second, the destruction of the middle classes by crushing taxation. Along with this there was an accumulation of vast wealth in the hands of a few. The closing paragraphs of this second volume seem worthy of attention:

"The pulverisation of the burgher class by the fiscal oppression practiced upon the Decurions may possibly contain some warnings for benevolent administrators who, in their very zeal for the improvement of the condition of the people, may allow local taxation to attain proportions which, were any pause to occur in the onward march of the country, might be found well-nigh intolerable.

"But of all the forces which were at work for the destruction of the prosperity of the Roman world none is more deserving of the careful study of an English statesman than the grain-largesses to the populace of Rome. Whatever occasional ebbings there may be in the current, there can be little doubt that the tide of affairs, in England and in all the countries of western Europe, as well as in the United States of America, sets permanently toward democracy. Will the great democracies of the 20th century resist the temptation to use political power as a means of material self-enrichment? With a higher ideal of public duty than has been shown by some of the governing classes which preceded them, will they refrain from jobbing the commonwealth? Warned by the experience of Rome, will they shrink from reproducing directly, or indirectly, the political heresy of Caius Gracchus, that he who votes in the forum must be fed by the state? If they do, perhaps the world may see democracies as long lived as the dynasties of Egypt or of China. If they do not, assuredly now as in the days of our Saxon forefathers it will be found that he who is 'giver of bread' is also lord. The old weary round will recommence, democracy leading to anarchy, and anarchy to despotism, and the national workshops of some future Gracchus will build the palaces in which British or American despots, as incapable to rule as Arcadius or Honorius, will guide mighty empires to ruin amidst the acclamations of flatterers as eloquent and as hollow as the courtly Claudian."

NEWSSTAND DEFENSE STAMP SALES.

CALLS HIMSELF A SUCKER.

Chicago, April 30.—I am one of the suckers [landlord to you]. I am 47 years old and offered to join up recently, but was rejected. I served two years on a troop ship from New York to Brest and St. Nazaire, France, during the last war. I started with nothing, but may own an apartment building now if I can pay the $40,000 mortgage. I bought the building by working more than 40 hours a week without time and a half.

I stopped at the County building a couple of days ago to pay half the taxes, which amount to approximately $3,000 for 1941. Stood in line. Department crowded with employés and political appointees drawing $9.65 per day. Not many of these men were working, but they did not have time to answer any questions or give information. I guess they did enough ringing doorbells to get some alderman elected and they are entitled to the payoff.

Taxes up each year; cost of repairs, decorating, coal, janitor, etc., much higher; hardly enough rent coming in to pay these expenses. Local politicians encourage tenants to resist even small increases.

Other suckers like myself have visited the tax collector's office in the County building and have looked around. They are not all blind. They have carried an unreasonable tax burden for years to support the system. They have lost their property. They have been abused and cheated by dishonest tenants. They have taken it on the chin year after year. Maybe they are not entitled to the same consideration given the farmer or labor. Perhaps we are the wrong kind of people.

I think I will go out and buy a bottle of whisky which might cure the stomach ulcers I have acquired thru worry, and let the government furnish me and my children with a nice home with hot and cold running water.

LANDLORD.

HIGH COST OF RATIONING.

Chicago, May 2.—We hear about buying war bonds. I wonder how much it is going to cost to regiment the American public with reference to sugar. We hear about saving paper. I wonder how many tons of paper it is going to take. I wonder how many steel file cabinets; also clerical and stenographic hire it is going to take. Why cannot the American public be trusted and put on their honor? The administration could at least try it out.

A SOUTHERNER ON GRANT.

Notre Dame, Ind., April 29.—I have just read your editorial, "Grant and the Peace." I question several of your statements. In the first place, Grant is certainly not remembered with gratitude by any southerners. His only contribution in "mending the sectional cleavage of the Civil war" was that of being commander in chief of the northern troops which finally conquered the south.

Grant was President during the so-called reconstruction period—a period which will forever be a blot upon the history of our country. He and his associates did more to bring about ill-feeling between the north and south than the whole war itself. It is not resented so much in the south as the "reconstruction." Sometimes we in the south can believe that Lincoln was sincere sometimes; but we never think of Grant as anything other than a mediocre general and politician.

WITNESSES' SIGNATURE.

Chicago, April 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Is it necessary or customary for the witnesses to the signing of a will to be present at the reading of the will in the Probate court [2] when all the legal heirs and all the legatees and beneficiaries in the will have signed an acceptance paper?

N. W.

1. There is no statutory provision for the reading of a will. The witnesses must be present in court to testify that the will was properly executed, if that is what you mean to ask.

2. We do not see that this has anything to do with it.

MOVES TO AMEND HATCH ACT BRING REPEAL DEMAND

Teachers Protest Curbs on Political Acts.

Washington, D. C., May 5 (AP).—A senate hearing on legislation to exempt teachers from the Hatch act today brought demands for repeal of the law, which curbs political activities of many persons paid from government funds.

"This is a monstrosity in a free country," declared Sen. Ellison D. Smith [D., S. C.] after representatives of teachers' organizations had testified that under the law faculty members of institutions receiving any kind of federal funds are barred from participating in even local elections.

When Sen. Theodore F. Green [D., R. I.], chairman of the elections committee conducting the hearing, reminded Smith that the Hatch act was not before the committee but only an amendment, the South Carolinian retorted: "Well, it ought to be."

"I hope we have an opportunity some day to get rid of it," said another committee member, Sen. Abe Murdock [D., Utah].

Cites Michigan Example.

Sen. Prentiss M. Brown [D., Mich.], author of the amendment to exempt teachers, told the committee that under the Hatch act members of the faculty of the University of Michigan were prohibited from participating in local elections in Ann Arbor when party labels were used.

"This is most unfortunate," he said. "It is wrong to take out of political life one of the most beneficial elements."

Donald Du Shane, secretary of the Committee for Defense of Democracy, National Education association, declared the act already applied to "hundreds of thousands of teachers," and added: "It is perfectly conceivable that it will apply to two-thirds of the teachers in the country when they get thru interpreting it."

General Defends Act.

Appearing as a representative of the Friends of Public Schools, Maj. Gen. Amos A. Fries, retired, said this organization opposes Brown's amendment. He said teachers should be subject to the same restrictions as every one else under the Hatch act.

With a considerable extension of public funds going to colleges and univeristies, even to private universities, said Prof. James K. Pollock of the University of Michigan, further restrictions on the activities of teachers may follow.

"You shouldn't put teachers in the same class as highway employés," he declared.

Another witness, Miss Mabel Studebaker of Erie, Pa., representing the classroom teachers of the NEA, said that teachers were taking "the line of least resistance" and veering away from political discussions in order not to run afoul of the Hatch act.

Day by Day on the Farm
By GAIL COMPTON

Cows Go to Pasture.

May 5, 1942.

THE Angus cow herd at the Fox river farm has moved out to the timber land and woods pasture for the rest of the summer. The metal chains about their necks that carry their registration numbers have been loosened so the animals can take on fat, and from now on they will lead a wild life.

The big wooded pastures have a lush growth of new grass and the bottom land along the river promises to supply all the feed the cattle will need this summer. Once a day or once every two days the manager will go out to look at them but the rest of the time they will be alone.

Act Like Wild Cattle.

After a month of this the cows begin to act like wild cattle and will run when they see any one approaching. Standing knee deep in the dark green grass, they look more like wild animals on the African veldt than a middle western breeding herd of beef cows.

The cows that have calves have been turned onto 80 acres of sweet clover seeding. This pasture will be plowed before long and put into corn but in the meantime it serves as excellent early pasture.

These animals have finally been taken off their silage ration as the silo was about empty and there was plenty of fresh grass to substitute. However, the farther down in the silo the sweeter the silage became until towards the end it was like candy for the cattle and a feeding of it was the high point of the day.

Miss Their Daily Treat.

Now the cows miss the silage and every time they hear an unusual noise at the barn or the sound of a wagon driving up, the entire herd lumbers up the hill to the feed bunks, hoping to find some silage. The herd has been making this run from pasture to barn three and four times a day. Eventually they will give up the idea of getting any more silage and will be content with their grass.

The hay fields at the farm are getting an excellent start because of the unusually warm weeks at the start of the season. The continued dry and hot weather brought the seedings along rapidly and now the hay stands almost 5 inches high.

The manager is worried, however, for if the farm does not get a good supply of moisture before long the hay will head out short and the yields will be lightened considerably.

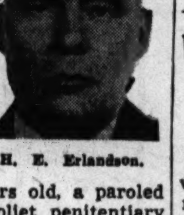
VOTE TO INDICT PAROLEE FOR GOON SLUGGING

Identified by Victim in Union Battle.

The Cook county grand jury was reported yesterday to have voted a true bill charging Harold E. Erlandson with assault with intent to kill after hearing evidence on the goon slugging of Larry Belles, a member of the roofers' union, in the doorway of Belles' home, 533 Oakdale avenue, on April 2.



H. E. Erlandson.

Erlandson, 34 years old, a paroled convict from the Joliet penitentiary who lives at 2864 East 79th street, was identified by both Belles and his wife, Thera, as one of the goons who assaulted Belles.

Fought Officers at Convention.

Belles had just returned from the national convention of the United Slate, Tile, and Composition Roofers, Damp Waterproof Workers' association in Philadelphia, where he and other rebelling members sought to oust officials of local 11 and demanded an accounting of the local's funds.

Belles, who had been expelled from the union, since has been reinstated. Frank Wodylak, an international vice president, has been sent here to investigate local 11. Both Belles and Wodylak are under police protection.

Help Unseat National Chief.

Targets of the protests voiced by Belles and other local 11 rebels were Peter Riley and Luke Ward, business agents.

The revolting group made the trip to the national convention at their own expense and are said to have been a factor in the unseating of George Jones, international president.

GERMAN PAPER 'TONE CHANGED,' O. K.'D FOR MAIL

Washington, D. C., May 5 (AP).—The postoffice today admitted to the mails the May 2 issue of The Philadelphia [Pa.] Herold, a weekly publication for which a hearing will be held May 14 to determine whether its mailing privileges should be revoked because of alleged violation of the espionage act. The paper is printed principally in German.

Vincent M. Miles, postoffice department solicitor, said the decision on the May 2 issue would have no effect on the subsequent hearing.

Miles said the entire tone of the magazine seemed to be changed in the May 2 issue.

He said the edition omitted two columns, one in which "previously has appeared flagrant types of violations of the espionage act" and one entitled "Unter Dem Mikroskop" [under the microscope], which Miles said "generally consists of reprints of articles without identification of the source."

He added that the issue "uses language more temperate thruout, particularly in the editorial columns."

WOMAN PLUNGES TO DEATH FROM HOTEL WINDOW

An attractive and well-dressed woman, identified thru effects and her registration at the hotel as Mrs. Lenora Rockoff, leaped or fell from her eighth floor room at the Lincoln Park Arms hotel, 2738 Pine Grove avenue, late last night or early today. She was about 36 years old.

Mrs. Lenora Rockoff.

Efforts were being made to find A. L. Rockoff, believed to be her husband, at former addresses that appeared among her belongings.

In the woman's room the window was open, and there was evidence that she had come in shortly before from a shopping trip.

The body, fully clothed and covered with the window screen beside it, was discovered in a courtway by a first floor tenant when she opened her window. It was believed the woman had not been dead more than an hour. She had registered April 28 and had made no phone calls.

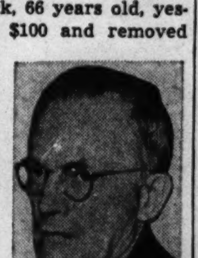
ROAD OFFICIAL OUSTED, FINED $100 BY COURT

Edward O. Clark, 66 years old, yesterday was fined $100 and removed from office as highway commissioner of Niles township after he pleaded guilty to diverting public funds before Judge Julius H. Miner in Criminal court. Clark had held the office 18 years.



Edward O. Clark.

The penalty was recommended by Assistant State's Attorney Joseph Burke, who prosecuted the case, but said that Clark did not know he was violating the law. Maximum fine under the malfeasance law is $10,000.

Burke told the court that Clark exceeded his authority last Dec. 4 when he offered to do road work for Morton Grove, Niles, and Skokie, which resulted in illegal expenditure of $1,797.25 of Niles township funds.

Clark said he was in ignorance of his official duties and offered to resign, but Judge Miner rejected the suggestion, observing that Clark and his family had benefited from his actions since Clark paid his son, Edward C., $14 to $16 a day as a truck driver and himself $6 as supervisor.

DRUNKEN DRIVER WITH NO LICENSE GETS JAIL TERM

Theodore Etheridge, 1239 Oak avenue, Evanston, an advertising salesman, 50 years old, yesterday was sentenced to the Bridewell for three months and fined $100 by Judge Harry H. Porter in the Evanston municipal court for driving an automobile when drunk and driving without a license. Etheridge, police said, lost his driver's license five months ago for driving when drunk.

Thirty-five per cent of the 393 persons arraigned before Judge Jay A. Schiller in the Chicago Safety court in April were convicted. In the same month last year 33 per cent of 573 defendants were convicted. Arrests this year declined 31 per cent.

Of the 393 arraigned in April, 255 were freed and 138 were convicted, the latter including 117 fined, 14 sent to jail, 7 placed on probation, and 19 deprived of their driving priveleges. In April, 1941, convictions were obtained in only 190 of the 573 cases.

DEATH NOTICES

In Memoriam.

SCHEER—Ann Scheer.
Just one year ago today,
Mother, dear, you passed away.
With God's help, I hope and pray
That we'll meet again some day.
Often we pause and think of you
And think of how you died;
To think you could not say good-by
Before you closed your eyes.
No one knows the silent heartaches,
Only those who have loved can tell

WISCONSIN GETS READY FOR BUSY TOURIST SEASON

Requests for Information Indicate Big Year.

Madison, Wis., May 5 [Special].—If the volume of early inquiries for vacation and fishing information in Wisconsin is any yardstick, the American people are again demonstrating their ability to take things in stride and to adjust themselves to changing conditions.

J. H. H. Alexander of the state conservation department says the requests for information are coming in about as rapidly as in 1941, a banner tourist year in Wisconsin.

Fishing Licenses Increase.

Recently compiled figures show a total of 158,352 out of state fishing licenses sold last year. This was an increase of 15 per cent over 1940. In these figures Mr. Alexander sees history repeating itself. In the first World war the participating nations turned largely to outdoor pursuits for relaxation and rejuvenation.

The inquiries indicate that this state's inland location is important to many persons. Far removed from both coasts, it appears to stand little chance of suffering a tourist blackout this season. And it is easily reached.

Transportation Is Adequate.

Seven railroad systems serve Wisconsin. Three steamship lines dock at Lake Michigan ports. Commercial air lines send in their planes from Chicago, Detroit, and the northwest. Motor coaches on frequent schedules reach even remote areas over the state's 80,000 miles of hard surfaced highways.

Mr. Alexander believes that, despite tire rationing, automobile tourists will continue to account for a large percentage of recreation seekers in 1942. He calls attention to the fact that more than 7 million new cars were licensed in the last two years and that many older cars were equipped with replacement tires prior to the rationing.

Canada Imposes 40 Mile Speed Limit for Autoists

OTTAWA, Ont., May 5 [Special].—The dominion government has set a speed limit of 40 miles an hour for automobiles traveling on the main highways of Canada. The war measure, applicable to motorists from the United States as well as residents of this country, is designed to reduce the consumption of gasoline and save wear and tear on tires.

What about travel to California and the Southwest this year?

● There has been much uncertainty on the subject of vacation travel while our country is at war. We are constantly asked these questions:

Has enjoyment of travel objectives in Santa Fe territory been restricted?

With rare exceptions, as this is written, one is as free as ever to enjoy the infinitely varied attractions of California, Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona.

Is normal Santa Fe service to these objectives still available?

Nothing has been or will be permitted to interfere with the utilization of any Santa Fe facility required to win the war. Subject always to this prime responsibility, however, we will make every effort to maintain regular and efficient service to, from, or in California and the Southwest.

Among the Santa Fe streamliners, and our many other fine trains, we believe you will find just that type of service that will best fit your inclination and purse.

A Friendly Suggestion

All-out war has imposed a great traffic load upon American railroads. Movements of troops and war material must have first call. But you can help us maintain regular civilian rail transportation by doing any one or all of these things: ● Make reservations as early as you can. Buy your ticket at the same time, if possible. Round-trip tickets save time, worry and money. ● If you must cancel reservations, do so promptly, thus releasing space for others. ● Travel is heaviest during July and August, on week-ends and holidays—pick other months, and other days, whenever convenient. ● Please turn freely to us for help on any western travel problems.

READ THIS STORY, THEN SOLVE THE PUZZLE AND FIND THE MISSING WORDS

IT was the last year of the nineteenth century—the year 1899—when Douglas MacArthur, jauntily dressed in a single-breasted suit and broad brimmed western fedora, left his home in Wisconsin and traveled East to enter West Point. This was the advent of what was to be a long and remarkable career in the United States Army.

Douglas thoroughly enjoyed life at West Point. He was First Corporal as a Yearling, ranking First Lieutenant as a Second Classman and First Captain in his First Classman year. He starred in baseball and football. He was very popular and it was said that eight young women were interested in him, but he denied these rumors by saying, "I never engage more than one enemy ________

Sally Receives Requests from Men in Service

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Two requests from service men in the morning mail.

We feel sure that some reader can help Pvt. S., who writes from California:

"Dear Miss Brown: I am now in a section of the United States cavalry, but expect to be transferred to a veterinary corps which is stationed here. I am very much interested in the care and treatment of horses and other animals, and would be very thankful if any reader has books on veterinary subjects which I could have. I would appreciate any such books and will be glad to pay postage on them."

If any local veterinarian has books for this young man, we will be pleased to supply the name and address.

A group of seven boys signed the following letter, which comes from a camp in Tenessee:

"Dear Friend: Our regiment was recently dedicated. We are still without recreational materials and are therefore requesting your assistance. We would like the help of your readers in outfitting our recreational center with articles which will help us to spend our leisure time. All kinds of games, playing cards, a radio, phonograph or records, magazines, or other reading matter will be greatly appreciated.

"There are men from 44 states in the regiment, and we, the undersigned, are from Chicago. C. K."

Full information will be given to any interested reader.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY

To Youngsters —from an Oldster.

Every day now personnel directors are besieged by high school and college girls looking for work during summer vacation.

Somewhere along the line, let's hope there is a wise "oldster" to say to these youngsters:

"Look—you're going to work on your first job. You think it will be 'good experience.' But, most of all, you think it will 'be fun.'

"Yet, the day you put on your hat and go to work you are a different person from the carefree, hatless schoolgirl. Nobody will be paying for your education then. In business, you must pay your own way and earn every dollar. People who don't rarely last very long.

"You will discover certain compulsions. You must be punctual, responsible, coöperative, intelligent, exact, courteous, energetic, neat, and adaptable. You must accomplish something, perform some service, contribute something for which a company is willing to pay.

"'O, well,' you think, 'I'm not going to take it too seriously. After all, mother and father are footing the bills, and all this means is that I'll have some money of my own.'

"And there you are wrong! Did you ever hear your father speak of 'my own money'? Look around you on pay day . . . at the man with the graying hair in the next office [he has a sick wife to support] . . . at the ambitious young typist [she has a younger brother to put thru school] . . . how many of them have their 'own money'? Almost everybody who works must share his earnings if only with Uncle Sam—something to think about on that first eventful pay day."

Good Old Summertime.

The voice from the gallery is heard from: "Has any one let you in on the fact that three [not one, not two, but three] examples of feminine pulchritude get out on the roof of the Rookery building for about an hour every day from 12:30 p. m.? They sit and soak up the rays of Old Sol, but looking and watching them is nothing compared with witnessing the astounding number of mere males who fill all available windows in the following four buildings, all of which look down upon the roof of the Rookery:

"The north side of the Continental building.

"The west side of the Bankers' building.

"The south side of the Field building.

"The east side of the City National Bank building."

But why? How come? What for?

Girls, Girls, Girls.

Changing patterns: In Evanston there are girls behind the butcher counters; in Kenilworth the men have disappeared from behind most of the vegetable counters and girls have taken their places; in South Shore drive a girl is an attendant at a filling station; a large grain brokerage has put all girls in the mailing room; there's a rumor that a large hotel is considering installing girl bellhops . . . and . . . last week, to add to our confusions, a handsome Plymouth Rock chicken walked up and down in front of a camera shop looking for all the world like a picket.

N. B.

Dear White Collar Girls [and Boys]: Will you please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelop when your letters request an answer?

Those Little Red Jackets Back in Favor

BY REA SEEGER.

The little red jacket or short coat is going around again! Vivid shades of red wool cut with snap and swagger, buttoned with huge pearl discs, are ideal all-purpose toppers for any wardrobe. Such clever red tops slide over all your summer cottons—dresses or suits—your printed silks, your dark background dresses of solid color. And they'll contrast summer dance and party clothes with the same bright distinction.

Most of these red affairs swing around the hipline. There are fitted daytime models with long sleeves copied from the trim little jackets of any two-piece suit. These can be worn with contrasting skirts, using checked, striped, or even dotted materials . . . or worn as red accent for white tailored skirts of almost any fabric. Box coats of red are made of flannel or wool, with the flare at the back, straight lines in front. Pockets are part of the trim along with the big buttons . . . and the decorative wide seaming.

You'll find thin woolens and thicker wools for a selection. The thicker fabrics make the more casual type; smart finds for spectator sports clothes. The thinner wools make the more dress parade models that can double for evening jackets all summer. All these red jackets have price tags easy on any limited budget, just what you need as the pickup shot for a wartime wardrobe.

D. A. R. Signs for $106,000 in War Bonds

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

Delegates to the 51st Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution, who have gathered here for the first time outside the nation's capital, pledged and purchased $106,000 in war savings bonds yesterday in the Stevens hotel. Of the amount, $24,000 was pledged for the national society by Mrs. Samuel James Campbell of Mount Carroll, Ill., treasurer general, to complete a quota of $50,000 for the calendar year of 1942.

The society's super saleswoman, Mrs. Russell William Magna of Holyoke, Mass., an honorary president general who proudly calls herself "the gold digger" of the organization, was responsible for the enthusiastic response in the opening of the sale which will continue thru tomorrow.

Wearing a costume of D. A. R. blue with a banner of national defense stamps across her shoulder, the tiny, energetic woman mounted the platform, gave a pep talk worthy of a football coach, put thru a resolution backing the war bond program, and proceeded to sell bonds at a rate of $3,028 a minute. It was an old story to her. As national finance chairman and later president general of the society, Mrs. Magna raised $2,000,000 to pay the mortgage on the society's $4,000,000 Constitution hall in Washington, D. C.

"The organization is used to giving me money and I flatter myself by thinking that the members enjoy doing it," Mrs. Magna explained with a cheerful smile. "My goal is to have every state society and every one of our 2,563 chapter pledged 100 per cent behind the war savings bond program."

The $24,000 pledge for the national society was submitted by Mrs. Campbell, a stately, businesslike woman who is expected to be a candidate for the office of president general at the next election. In the fiscal year of March 1941-'42, the treasurer general has invested $82,000 in national defense bonds for the society. During her term of office also, the current fund of the society has increased from $186,042 in 1941 to $191,117 this year and the endowment fund shows an increase of $11,762.

Among the largest pledges of state organizations were $10,000 from Massachusetts, $7,500 from Illinois, $5,000 from Texas, and $3,000 from Washington. One of the largest chapter pledges was $1,500 from the Louisa St. Clair chapter of Detroit, Mich.

Boyd Fisher, associate field director of the war savings bond staff for the treasury department, asked the delegates to purchase bonds on instalments month by month.

"The rich have given until many begin to feel poor," he said. "The poor have pledged, every pay day, a share of what they expect to earn. What can you as pioneer women of 1942 do? I have no doubt that you perform again the miracle of the loaves and fishes and that you will produce more cash from empty purses.

"I would like to see your purchases today take the form of instalments or regular commitments. The whole plan is voluntary and it takes a special resolution to do this in a campaign in which nearly every other act of the citizen is prescribed or proscribed. This is almost the last great war program in which the citizen is permitted to decide for himself what to do."

At the night session Dr. Chang-lok Chen, Chinese consul general in Chicago, told the organization it is a fallacy to believe the Japs may revolt against their government. "They have been reared for a century on aggression and domination, and disciplined by bloody militarists," he said. He said the Chinese, on the other hand, have been governed for 2,000 years along democratic lines and the people demand that they be left free.

Dr. Chang-lok said when the Japs brought war on China they expected a victory in three weeks. Military experts all over the world predicted they would win in three months, but the war has now been going on for five years, and China, starting with a rag-tag army of a million men, now has 6 million trained fighters, 3 million in reserve, and 30 million that can be called up.

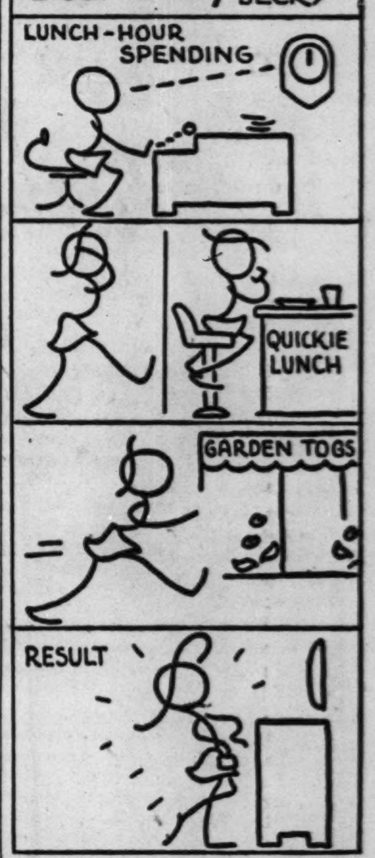
Northwestern U. to Hold Candle Lighting Tonight

As part of the ceremony, 25 students will be inducted into the Flying Wildcat squadron of naval aviation by Lieut. Henry Penfield, former mayor of Evanston.

Dear Diary BY BECKY



Swapping of Food by Nations to Aid Children Proposed

Washington, D. C., May 5 (AP).—Possibility of the government swapping surplus foodstuffs in the western hemisphere for the benefit of children was discussed today at the eighth Pan-American Child congress.

Mordecai Ezekiel, economic adviser to the secretary of agriculture, told delegates from 21 American republics about present programs of stimulating food consumption and production in the United States.

"Eight million relief clients and six million school children are now having their diets supplemented thru these programs," he said.

"There are extensive school lunch programs in Argentina. Uruguay, Chile, Colombia, Brazil, Peru, Venezuela, Mexico, Ecuador, Costa Rica, Paraguay, Cuba, and Nicaragua all have breakfast or lunch programs for undernourished children.

"As the system of government subsidies for adequate nutrition is extended, it might be made even more effective by trading food surpluses of one country, such as wheat, beef or sugar, for surpluses of other countries, such as cocoa or bananas, to the advantage of the school children in both."

Want to Wear Bright Shoes? Mind the Feet

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

If you have signed up as a little red shoe girl, you must realize that you have taken a foot responsibility to which you must live up. Those shoes are going to catch the eye first, which is the perfectly good reason for wearing them. And they are gay and adorable and a cheering note all around IF the feet inside them are handled properly. And that means with toes pointed straight ahead, and the step stemming with flexibility from the balls of the feet.

Perhaps only girls and women with small feet should wear the red or other striking colored shoes, but girls with all kinds of feet will try them out, and that's their privilege. But there's one sure-fire trick of minimizing foot and shoe size. It is by stepping forward lightly on the balls of the feet, with the toes pointed straight ahead. The improvement is seen from both the front and rear views.

Look for yourself some day, any day, at the feet approaching you, and also preceding you down the street. See how much more noticeable are those feet that are turned out widely. If they didn't so detract from the beauty of the person, they'd be comic, for an old vaudeville way of getting a laugh is to wear big shoes in feet turned out at extremely wide angles.

We think that this foot-handling feature is one still left for the great body of women to conquer. Our young ones, on the whole, handle their feet with greater neatness, no doubt because of the efficient physical training received in schools where they are warned against the toeing-out practice.

Older women can lay foot discomfort and aches and pains thruout the body as the result of the type of foot handling under discussion.

Mend, repair, and make over clothing to conserve America's materials!

By popular demand, the sewing-bee is back. American women everywhere are getting together and sewing more than ever before. Chances are you're pitching in, too... mending, repairing and making over your family's clothes.

Think how much more you could do with an electric sewing machine... how much easier it would be to do finer work faster, with a professional finish.

Electric sewing machines are available in console and portable models. When not in use the portable model can be put away on the closet shelf—the console model folds into a handsome table to blend with your furnishings.

Console model electric sewing machines are made in styles that will harmonize with your other furniture. Portable models are smartly designed—easy to move wherever you wish to sew.

About the appliances we advertise nowadays

The appliances we are now advertising are limited to those we have on hand, or those that are made available without interference with war production.

They have all been selected because their normal operation in the home comes at a time of the day when our electrical facilities are more than adequate to meet present power requirements for both war production and civilian use.

Furthermore, we believe that their use in most cases will conserve energy and tend to release home labor for helpful wartime activities.

What's better for a Mother's day gift than a good permanent and a brand new coiffure that changes mother's look and her outlook? In this hair style, created for the mature woman by a member of the Chicago and Illinois Hairdressers' association, the back hair is brushed upward and into a pompadour, which is softened by a flip of the comb into a becoming fringe. It's a coiffure that's easy to manage and flatteringly youthful, because it gives the illusion of lift to her facial contour. The pompadour, which also holds the back hair tucked under, can be kept snug with combs.

Women in War Work . . . . By India Moffett

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and will answer questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

Letters pouring in from Seeing Eye graduates all over the country to the school at Morristown, N. J., tell of the work its alumni are doing in connection with the nation's war effort. In Chicago at present there are more than 20 blind persons who have learned independence thru guide dogs trained at the school. Their war tasks and those of other blind persons thruout the country include donating blood to the Red Cross, speaking as representatives from the Speakers' bureau established to acquaint the public with the work of the Civilian Defense council, spotting airplanes by hearing at observation posts, and assisting in the offices of the Civil Air patrol at local airports.

Mrs. William H. Mitchell.

Another wartime move of the school is its recent resolution to "aid the war effort, by endeavoring to provide, at no expense to the federal government, Seeing Eye dog guides for eligible persons, who, as members of the armed forces of the United States, have lost their sight in the line of duty, giving such persons priority over all other applicants for guide dogs." No dogs as yet have been provided under these conditions, but the Chicago committee is at work furthering the defense program by conducting its annual enrollment. Mrs. William H. Mitchell heads the Chicago committee.

The Illinois Manufacturers' association reports that in a survey of women war workers in this state it has been found that women in general, and blondes in particular, dislike oily tasks because the grease literally gets into their hair. Another bit of information the survey revealed is that if a job is a fingernail breaker, older women do it better than younger ones. The association, as a result of the survey, suggests that plenty of mirrors be put in the rest rooms of factories where women are employed in order to avoid losing more time than is necessary, and that dresses should be replaced by slacks or coveralls and that high heels and jewelry should be discarded completely during working hours.

Navy boys on the south side will no longer have a week-end wondering what to do with themselves. The Midway Service organization plans to answer the wonders with Saturday night dances, Sunday home dinners, and afternoon open houses. The organization has been established by the University of Chicago, Hyde Park, and Woodlawn communities, which have set up a steering committee to direct its activities.

The boys will have all the facilities of the university and the Hyde Park YMCA at their command, including the Ida Noyes hall in which to dance, and the YMCA's swimming pool and basketball, handball, and volleyball courts.

The steering committee members include Ensign Robert Steele of the navy, P. B. Jacobson, liaison officer between the university and the navy; Miss Marguerite Kidwell, recreation director of Ida Noyes; C. C. Lane of the Hyde Park YMCA, and Mrs. Jacob Viner, chairman, and Mrs. William Spencer, vice chairman, from the Hyde Park community. Mrs. John Hayes and Mrs. Charles Whittier are the members from Woodlawn.

The Kenilworth Girls' Service organization will entertain service men this evening at the Waukegan United Service organization's center. Mrs. Joseph Joyce is the president and director of the group.

The South Shore Country club chapter of the Red Cross will give a benefit bridge party and fashion show on the afternoon of May 20 at the club. The event, which will be open to the public, is to raise funds for the Red Cross.

There's no lack of patriotism at the National Youth Administration center in Rockford, Ill. Recently the center changed its name to the Gen. Douglas MacArthur NYA Resident Center for Girls; 40 of its 42 residents donated a pint of blood each to the Red Cross blood bank, and the entire group pledged to increase war production jobs in NYA machine, welding, sheet metal, and power sewing shops by 20 per cent.

In the next 12 months the NYA hopes to train 12,000 girls in Illinois to take over war jobs and release men for the armed forces. At present, in addition to the Rockford workers, 2,000 young women from 102 counties are preparing for industrial jobs. This number will be increased steadily, explains Miss Mary Stuart Anderson, state NYA administrator, by a training program on a three shift a day, seven day a week schedule.

Young women working in NYA shops in Joliet, Signal Hill, Metropolis, Rockford, Springfield, Quincy, and Jacksonville are becoming expert sheet metal workers, welders, machinists, and power sewers. At the Chicago production center, 153 West Huron street, girls are making 650 wind cone socks for the Civil Aeronautics association in the Chicago area. Within the last 20 days 56 girls have gone from the Huron street center into war jobs.

Young Artists Are Heard in Joint Recital

BY CECIL SMITH.

Paula Knight, Chicago soprano, and Arthur Eisler, Milwaukee pianist, shared a joint debut recital in Curtiss hall last night. The event was the first of three concerts constituting Charline Marmein's "Young American Artists Series."

Miss Knight, who was heard as Flora in "La Traviata" with the Chicago Opera company last fall, possesses a slight lyric soprano voice which is not without charm when she sings fluently. A muscular constriction, however, interferes with smooth melodic line, and makes a good many tones start with a sudden grip. It is unfortunate that her tone production is so hazardous, for in the exquisite aria "L'amerò, sarò costante," from Mozart's "Il Rè Pastore," and in songs by Debussy and Respighi, she showed discriminating taste in her interpretative approach. Adolph Heller was the accompanist, and Gladys Koptik played flute obbligati in the Mozart aria and an air from Liza Lehmann's "The Snake Charmer."

Mr. Eisler jumped the gun, I am afraid, by making a debut appearance before he has mastered either pianistic technique or musical substance. His Bach and Mozart were lily-livered, poorly phrased, and unintegrated structurally, and the Griffes sonata was mere disunified ranting. It would not be fair to encourage him to pursue a professional career unless he intends to find out what is worth communicating in the music he plays.

Correction.

A Chicago friend received a startling telegram the other day from Bess Johnson of radio fame. It read: "Please I need help stop how did you get your man?" The friend, knowing Bess to be happily married, was pretty much baffled and wired back for an explanation. The last word in the cry for "help" should have been "maid."

That Settled That.

Several Negro waiters at the French Lick Springs hotel were discussing the draft eligibility of the hotel's chef, who is a Swiss. One of them disposed of the argument by saying: "Why, he can't be drafted, because he hasn't got his civilzation papers yet."

Another Candidate.

In yesterday's mail:

"Here's my nominee for this week's selection for the White Feather club:

"Walter Winchell, columnist [born April 7, 1897].—H. J. S."

One of Those.

Over luncheon at the Mid-Day club one fine spring day two Chicago bankers, whose mutual interest is fishing as well as banking, were discussing the new difficulties and expense involved in indulging in their favorite sport. When one of them allowed as how be probably would forgo his annual spring jaunt this year, the other replied, pardonably boastful: "I'm leaving tomorrow for a fishing camp on Chesapeake bay. It may sound improvident in these times, but this is a WPA vacation—Woman Pays All. You see, my wife just came into a small inheritance, and she's standing treats."

Lament.

So much talk of espionage
And reconnaissance until now
Even you carry a flashlight
On your key ring chain
So that I can't go to a
Good sad show any more
And in the dark quiet
Enjoy crying in peace.

By the Way.

The station wagon seen around the loop, with the sign, "Rancho de Mortgage" printed on the door. . . . The young colored boy, tremendously proud in his seaman's uniform, smiling down at a gentle faced woman, presumably his mother. . . . The unfailing but never ostentatious kindness of the "57 bus" driver for the blind man who gets on at the Washington-Michigan transfer and alights at Dearborn street. Unless other passengers are getting off, the driver invariably guides the man to the curb. . . . The engaging name signed to a recent contribution, Violet Ray.

Good Morning!

That good little girl, Dorothy Lamour, who is serving her country so gallantly in the matters of war bond selling and benefit performances, is being vigorously applauded in her new movie, "The Fleet's In." AND with reason, for she has a rôle well tailored to her personality and ability.

Sarongless—but sarong suggesting—Dottie plays a hard boiled, soft hearted café singer, opposite William Holden as a shy, Shakespeare reading marine, who, due to a queer quirk of circumstances, gets the reputation of being a Casanova.

The hilarious action, singing, and dancing revolve around a bet. . . . Casey's buddies bet for and agin the probability of his being able to kiss the elusive "Countess" right out in public.

Of course the "Countess" hears of the bet and of course she does a bucking broncho act for about four reels, but — equally, of course — Casey "gentles" her, the while his indifference and indignation turn to love. . . .

And there you have it.

Miss Lamour is luscious and lightsome. . . . Mr. Holden is perfect as the SENSITIVE SOUL—not without both sand and dignity.

Eccentric singing and dancing are contributed with ability by Betty Hutton and Lorraine and Rognan. Gil Lamb hands out some swell comedy as a gangling marine, deeply and ominously interested in the outcome of the betting bee for reasons you'll learn, and Eddie Bracken is a honey as Casey's Meredith Wilson. Jimmey Dorsey and his band do a lot to help things along, and I know you'll like all supporting players.

Dialog sparkles in a rhinestoneish sort of way and laughs are culled thick and fast.

Locale is San Francisco and the time consists of four crowded days during which period United States training ships are anchored in the bay and their men are enjoying considerable shore leave.

See you tomorrow.

Looking at Hollywood . . . . By John Chapman

Bert Wheeler.

Hollywood, Cal., May 5.—It's too bad that Los Angeles and its dozen frantic suburbs make a bad show town, for the recent revival of vaudeville in New York could be topped here. "Priorities" started the trend on Broadway, has been followed by the Moore-Gaxton "Keep 'Em Laughing." In Hollywood there is talent for a couple dozen superb vaudeville shows—but nothing will happen for two reasons: Why should a movie actor work that hard when he has spent so many years climbing up from the vaudeville which spawned him? And who would go to see a show anyhow and pay what it was worth?

As one of the local trade sheets put it the other day, Los Angeles is a $2 town. Oscar Serlin moved his famed "Life with Father" here, had a $5.50 opening. It was a little saddening. The audience was not capacity and the audience wasn't funny. It was what is called cold—chilled at having laid out five and a half. Even at $3.30 top a play has tough sledding here.

Bert Wheeler was munching an apple on the first tee at Lakeside, which reminded me to ask him about vaudeville. [You will remember that little Bert probably ate enough apples twice a day when he was headlining years ago to keep all the doctors in the world away.]

"When vaudeville died," said Bert, "most of the headline acts, and many of the smaller ones, either came to Hollywood or went into radio. And when part of the radio entertainment moved to Hollywood to enable the performers to 'double in brass' in radio and pictures Hollywood became the vaudeville garden spot of the world. Only nothing has ever been done about it."

What Wheeler refers to is the fact that there is more great vaudeville talent in the movie capital today than ever centered in one spot before. And, with the success of the "Priorities" show recently in New York, which boasts such headliners as Phil Baker, Willie Howard, Paul Draper, and Hazel Scott, with Lou Holtz as the M. C., Bert is certain that vaudeville has a swell chance to stage a successful comeback with American theatergoers.

"If the war continues," said Bert, "I think vaudeville will become essential entertainment. After all, it is good old vaudeville we are giving them now at the army camps and navy bases. And the boys love it.

"Streamling vaudeville," advised Bert. "Cut out the old traditional deadwood, make 'em all headliners in quality, and vaudeville will come back with a bang."

The oldtime vaudeville bill always opened with a novelty act, usually acrobats; the No. 2 spot was always the weakest on the bill, a song and dance team; next some sort of sketch, and then a girl single or a comedy skit before the headliner in the No. 5 spot. Following would come a musical act, sometimes classical, and then in No. 7 another headline act. A novelty act would close the show.

Today, as Wheeler points out, audiences demand the best talent in everything. This is why the Priorities show in New York is a big hit. Also, the comic believes that vaudeville must be kept at a reasonable price, say a $2 top.

Asked to select an ideal vaudeville bill, Wheeler demurred because of the great array of talent. He did point out that many of the most famed stars of motion pictures and radio were once vaudeville folk, such as Bob Hope, Jack Benny, Fred Astaire, and Red Skelton. That other favorite performers, from vaudeville or not, would be terrific—Bing Crosby, Mickey Rooney, for example. He added that such famed comics as Leon Errol, W. C. Fields, Jimmy Durante, Bert Lahr, Joe Lewis, Jimmy Savo, Jack Haley, Bob Burns, George Jessel, Jim Barton, Bert Gordon, Bill Robinson, Victor Moore, and Billy Gaxton were still going strong. And, for dramatic and comedy sketches, said Wheeler, we have more star talent in Hollywood than vaudeville ever had.

The careful meal planner will use a wide variety of meat kinds and cuts in her weekly menus. She'll try to serve liver once a week for its nutritional value, and she'll often prepare other organ meats and specialties—kidney, heart, and tongue.

Beef tongue is all meat, fine in flavor, and may be prepared in many delicious ways, hot or cold. Hot, it usually comes in, or with, a spicy or flavorsome sauce.

TO COOK TONGUE.

Cover the tongue with salted water and cook at simmering, not boiling, temperature until tender, for 3 or 4 hours. Remove skin and cut away the roots.

Celery Sauce for Tongue.

1 cup sliced celery and tops
½ cup chopped onion
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
Salt, pepper
1 tablespoon vinegar or lemon juice
2 cups meat stock

Cook celery and onion in butter, gently, for several minutes. Add flour and seasonings and blend. Add vinegar, then stock in which tongue was cooked. Cook until smooth and thickened. Slice tongue into casserole dish and pour sauce over it. Bake in 325 degree oven for 35 minutes.

Vinaigrette Sauce for Tongue.

2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons capers or chopped pickles
1 clove garlic
¼ teaspoon sugar
Salt, pepper
½ cup salad oil

Combine vinegar, capers, garlic, sugar, salt, and pepper, and heat in the top of a double boiler. If garlic clove is cut, you'll get as much flavor as you want quickly. Remove clove before adding oil gradually. Stir and heat until thoroly hot, then serve with hot, sliced, beef tongue.

Cold tongue marinated for several hours in a sharp French dressing is good eating. So is a tongue and vegetable salad, dressed with a pickley mayonnaise.

Pineapple and Strawberry Dessert.

[Serves six.]

2 cups halved strawberries
1 cup diced fresh pineapple
1 dozen marshmallows, quartered
¼ cup sugar

Combine ingredients and chill for several hours before serving. The marshmallows cut down on the amount of sugar which would otherwise be needed to sweeten the fruit.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE

Dainty little chocolate muffins will lend grace to your tea or luncheon table. The recipe, submitted by Mrs. Bentlay McCloud Jr., 794 Vernon avenue, Glencoe, Ill., wins today's $5 prize. Mrs. McCloud writes: "Probably the worst thing I ever did was to send you a baked chocolate pudding recipe, thinking it was the one for chocolate muffins." We're glad she submitted the correct recipe at a later date.

Send your entry to Recipe Contest, CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Chocolate Muffins.

[About 20.]

2 cups sifted flour
½ cup sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
2 squares chocolate
½ cup butter
1 egg
1 cup milk

Mix and sift flour with other dry ingredients. Melt chocolate and butter together. Beat egg and add to milk. Stir melted chocolate and butter into milk, and add all to dry ingredients, stirring just enough to blend well. Turn into buttered muffin pans and bake in a moderate [350 degree] oven for 20 minutes.

[Send in your favorite recipe.]

A good looking addition to your bedroom or bathroom furnishings is a six sided, mirror paneled waste basket. The mirror is mounted on wood so the basket is sturdy and practical, yet highly decorative. Most such mirrored items are in the luxury class, but this is quite inexpensive. Its height is 11 inches.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

There are "tricks of the trade" at duplicate bridge which inexpert players would do well to study. For example, it sometimes is difficult to decide whether to stop at a small slam or to go on for the larger reward of a grand slam. In these cases there often is available a sort of temporizing bid. North used it to advantage in the following hand:

Match point duplicate.
North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♥ A Q
♦ K 9 6 3

WEST
♠ K Q 7 5
♥ J 8 4 3
♦ J 5 2

EAST
♠ J 9 3 2
♥ 10 6 5 2

SOUTH
♥ K 9 7
♦ A Q 10 7 4
♣ A 7 3 2

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 no trump	Pass	3 diamonds	Pass
3 spades	Pass	4 clubs	Pass
4 diamonds	Pass	6 diamonds	Pass
6 no trump	Pass	7 diamonds	Pass
Pass	Pass

There was nothing remarkable in this sequence of bidding. Each bid spoke more or less for itself, but I should like to call North's six no trump bid to my readers' attention.

North was on the fence, whether to stop at a small slam or to go on to a seven bid. He did not like to make the final decision solely on his own responsibility, hence adopted the simple expedient of bidding six no trump. This bid had two separate virtues. First, since the game was match point duplicate, North realized that it would not be advisable to play at diamonds if a mere small slam were the final contract. The higher scoring value of no trump would give a great superiority in a match point sense, and there did not seem to be much question that the combined hands would take 12 tricks at no trump. The second virtue of North's bid was that, if South really had unbalanced distribution and strongly preferred a suit contract, he would, of course, bid for a grand slam in his suit. Expert duplicate players naturally do not bid six no trump unless they are prepared to play at that denomination, but given that ability, they make the bid as a combination effort to invite seven, or [if the invitation is declined], to play at the higher trick score.

South felt morally certain that the hand would play one trick better at diamonds than at no trump, hence went to seven diamonds. His judgment proved sound. Seven diamonds was an absolute laydown, whereas North could have made only 12 tricks at no trump.

Young Wives Need Not Be Embarrassed Concerning This Intimate Problem

Because of natural shyness or lack of confidence in the knowledge of friends the uninformed young wife often hesitates to seek the advice of others. Instead, she risks health and happiness by use of over-strong solutions of acids for feminine hygiene which can actually burn, scar and harm delicate tissue.

Today such risks are needless. Science has given womankind Zonite. So powerful, it kills instantly all germs and bacteria with which it comes in contact. Deodorizes—by actually destroying odors. Protects personal daintiness. Yet! Zonite is non-caustic, non-poisonous, safe for delicate tissues. Over 20,000,000 bottles bought. Get Zonite at your druggist today.

White Elephant Movie Party Piles Up Gifts

BY ELEANOR PAGE.

The lobby of the Esquire theater yesterday was piled high with gifts to be sold at the White Elephant Rummage shop in East Ohio street as soon as they have been priced and put on display. The guests at a movie party exchanged the packages for seats at the show.

The articles include every sort of thing from a stunning set of Dresden china chocolate cups that belonged to the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Barnes, and which were brought to the theater by their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Nelson L. Barnes, to a cunning little "Don't Park Here" standard that really could come under the head of a "white elephant."

"We've sold everything that ever has been brought to the shop except an old gas stove," said Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, a member of the rummage shop committee. Mrs. Secor Cunningham, who was helping to receive merchandise at the theater, added that the committee no longer accepted pianos, as they cost too much to handle. Mrs. Augustus A. Carpenter failed to bring a "white elephant" with her, but her cash contribution was accepted with equal pleasure by the ladies checking in gifts.

Mrs. Cummings, Mrs. Charles W. Dempster, Mrs. William B. Greenlee, Mrs. Charles Foster, Mrs. Joseph King, and Mrs. Samuel T. Chase shared a large table at the Casino where some of the committee had luncheon before attending the movie party. Mrs. Frank Hibbard had ordered the luncheon, but was not present to enjoy it, for she remained at the theater to work with the rummage.

The White Elephant shop is conducted for the benefit of the Childrens' Memorial hospital, and for once it played second in luncheon conversation, for the women present were more concerned, it seemed, with the sugar registration. Mrs. Ralph James, who is an old hand at rationing, having experienced it in full during the last war when she lived in England, was trying to decide whether she should leave the movie early to register for her family's sugar book, and Mrs. Harold Howard regaled all with her story of a long wait to register, only to find that she couldn't have a book after all, as she had a sufficient amount of sugar on hand.

Mrs. Arthur Meeker, Mrs. Hugh J. McBirney, Mrs. Robert Hall McCormick, Mrs. Albert A. Sprague, Mrs. Edward E. Brown, and Mrs. C. Morse Ely were some of those at the long table shared by the six hostesses.

Mrs. Hutchins' Exhibit

Many at the Children's Memorial benefit went south in Michigan avenue later to the opening of an exhibit of Maude Phelps Hutchins' drawings, paintings, and sculpture in the Albert Roullier art galleries. The pretty artist, tall and distinguished in a navy blue silk suit, and her husband, President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago, and many friends were present to sip sherry and nibble at cookies.

Among them was beautiful Mrs. William A. Nitze, who arived wearing an unusual ornament—her own name pencilled on a piece of paper. "And I came all the way on the I. C.," wailed Mrs. Nitze, who explained she had attended a meeting where guests were identified by little tags.

The Walter S. Brewsters, the Potter Palmers, Mrs. Howard Willett, who had lent the largest piece of sculpture in the exhibit and who was wearing a corsage of savings stamps tied with a red, white, and blue ribbon; Mrs. John R. Winterbotham Jr., Mrs. Alice H. Patterson, Daniel C. Rich, Edwin Winter, and the Mortimer Adlers were a few of those who gathered to congratulate the artist.

Parents Are Mean to Mar Child's Union

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

We wonder how parents can have it on their consciences to go to the lengths of actually separating a young couple once they have been pronounced man and wife.

We have a case before us this morning, reported by the young man, but between the lines we read the unfortunate tale of parents' influence in breaking up the union. The young couple married only a year ago, at which time the husband had no job, but immediately obtained one and things went well until a strike developed at the plant at which he was working. However, within a week he had other work with a railroad. He says he makes only $6.50 a day now, but expects a raise soon, as he has been promised one and commended for his good work.

His father-in-law taunts him about the inferiority of his job and pay, the older man's salary amounting to $16 a day. The young wife is about to become a mother. She is living with her parents, while the poor, worried young husband is rooming elsewhere, practically forced out by the in-law oppression. The boy feels that he ought to be near his young wife for the baby's introduction into the world, but the parental influence on the girl's side makes this impossible.

Enough of the story to make you repeat: Why will parents work against the success of marriage, once it has been entered into? Why don't they give the young couple a break, even overlooking faults and shortcomings, even giving them a little financial lift into the bargain, when it can be afforded? There's something so heartless, brutal, and horrible when older people become a barrier to the successful working out of marriage by the young pair themselves.

How utterly stupid of the father, in this case, to taunt the youth with their salary differences. Six dollars and fifty cents a day is a good income for a young fellow and enough for the pair if unmolested by outside influences.

For goodness sake, parents, leave the poor children alone to work out their own destinies. They can do it, and will, if given the right encouragement and aid within one's power. Don't have it on your consciences that you ruined your child's career, for that is what you do with your stupid interference.

Satisfy the Child's Desire to Do Things

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

What are some of the signs that we think indicate destructiveness?

Your little boy has a hammer and he hits the seat of the desk chair with it. He's destructive, his father says.

Your small daughter cuts some blouse material with your scissors. Is she going to be a destructive child, you wonder?

Your little child marks with crayon on the wall of the hallway. Is that the way she's going to do, destroy a pretty home?

Not in the least necessarily. You can prevent these things, or at least, if you've been careless at first, you can prevent their happening more than once, if you're on the job and provide things to be hammered or drawn on or cut.

Billy has watched his daddy work with tools and make wonderful big noises and slam away at things in a captivating fashion. A wise father [or mother] will see that the boy has something he, too, can swing away with, and some tools suitable for his age. A good, broad, blunt hammer can be had and chunks or planks of soft wood. Nail holes can be started, so big nails will stand upright long enough for a small boy to hammer them home. Soon his skill will merit good tools.

Large crayons and big pencil, and later paints, will be used instead of a wall, if lots of paper in large sheets is provided.

Colored paper and, later on, fabrics should be at hand for the little girl's own blunt scissors to be used on. And let me point out that, while the points of the scissors should be blunt, the edge should not be dull. Nothing is more frustrating to a boy or girl than to be given tools that will not work.

These are only a few of the ways, and a few of the materials, that provide a child with a legitimate outlet for his constant urge to do, an outlet he must have. If you don't see that he has it, and don't take his accidents in the right spirit, the chances are he [or she] will become discontented or difficult, or develop habits that are really destructive.

What causes tantrums? How may a child be encouraged to be neat? What two things help the nervous child? For advice on these and other related topics read "You and Your Young Child," Mrs. Gladys Bevans' latest booklet, on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price 15 cents; postpaid, 18c.

War Job Training in Schools Urged at PTA Conclave

San Antonio, Tex., May 5 [Special].—Dr. Edwin A. Lee, dean of the school of education at the University of California, today called on high schools to train all students for direct participation in the war effort.

Addressing the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, Dr. Lee advocated drastic program changes and urged that schools "leave nothing undone" to make every boy "physically fit for the job ahead of him."

The speaker estimated that 70 per cent of the boys enrolled in high school will be able to pass physical tests of the army, navy, and air corps, and he asserted that "it is almost imperative" that the 30 per cent not inducted be prepared for war industries.

Dr. Lee urged that high schools train boys how to cook, as well as give them opportunities in photography, draftsmanship, radio, and other fields so that they may enter the army with special skills.

He insisted that schools offer "as much mathematics as the staff is capable of giving," adding that no boy should be without a basic training in physics.

Girls, "equal to serving the nation just as well as the boys," must be trained for war occupations and all sorts of clerical occupations, Dr. Lee said.

The outlook for education is the best it has been for a generation, Paul C. Packer, dean of the University of Iowa school of education, told the convention.

Prof. George I. Sanchez of the University of Texas declared Pan-Americanism should begin at home. He asserted it is presumptuous to attempt to understand South America while treating "unjustly" the 3,000,000 Spanish speaking people within this nation's borders. He described the segregation of Mexican children in the schools of the southwest as "a concentration camp idea, more harmful to Pan-Americanism than a shipload of Nazi agents."

CHANGED DRAFT RULES FORCE SHIFT FROM 4-F

Ailing Ear Not an Exemption Now.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Johnny Rigney, 27 year old White Sox star pitcher and most celebrated of the young men on the rolls of Cook county draft board No. 6 in suburban River Forest, last night was reclassified in 1-A.

John Rigney.

The action was taken, said A. F. Seegers, chairman of the board, because physical requirements have been relaxed since the United States entered the war and Rigney's physical defect no longer is listed for 4-F classification. He was given this on June 20, 1941, when he was rejected at a west side induction center because of a chronic ear condition.

Rigney, who was defeated yesterday in New York by the Yankees, but who has scored two of the four White Sox victories this season, will not be called in the May quota. It isn't even certain if he will be sent thru the induction center in June, Seegers said. It's all according to the number of men his board is asked to furnish next month.

Army Physicians Will Decide.

"This new classification does not necessarily mean that Rigney will be accepted in the service," explained Seegers. "But we are reëxamining all 1-B and 4-F men and since his ailment no longer is listed for deferment, we had no other course but to make him 1-A again. The final decision, of course, will be up to the army physicians at the reception center."

Under the prewar classification, men eligible for part-time service were placed in 1-B and those with more serious defects were put in 4-F.

Last spring, when the question of Rigney's draft status first came up, it was announced that in previous years he had been treated for chronic ear trouble, technically known as perforation of the membrane tympani.

1-A to 4-F to 1-A.

He was first examined for the service last March while the Sox were training in Pasadena. Dr. Z. T. Malaby, chairman of the medical draft board in that city, recommended a 4-F classification. When Rigney returned to Chicago he was reëxamined in River Forest and placed in 1-A.

He was placed in a group to be inducted on June 20, but asked for and received a 60 day occupational deferment. This was granted so that he would not be deprived of too great a percentage of his 1941 salary. Two days later Rigney withdrew the request and asked that he be restored to the quota called for service on June 20.

He reported to the center and was rejected by army physicians and placed in 4-F.

Everything Happens to Sox.

Because of his new status, Rigney and his fiancée, Dorothy Comiskey, treasurer of the White Sox and daughter of the club's president, Mrs. Grace Comiskey, were married on Oct. 9 in St. Thomas the Apostle church.

He was reëxamined on April 21, which led to last night's reclassification.

The imminence of Rigney's en-

WHITE SOX LOSE TO YANKEES, 5-4; INFIELD BENCHED

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 5.—Joe DiMaggio, hitting .284 and with a total of two homers going into today's Yankee final with the White Sox, booed unmercifully in recent games and his first time up today—broke out of his slump this afternoon in most painful fashion to lead the champions in a 5 to 4, 10 inning victory over the demoralized tail enders from Chicago.

Immediately after the game Manager Jimmie Dykes said his four infielders will be benched for a new set in tomorrow's series opener with the Red Sox in Boston. Murrell Jones, Texas league rookie, will play first; Skeeter Webb, utility infielder, will be at second; Leo Wells, freshman from St. Paul, will play shortstop, and Dario Lodigiani, last year's regular third baseman, will man that post. They are relieving Joe Kuhel, Don Kolloway, Luke Appling, and Bob Kennedy.

Jim's Speech Almost Pays Off.

It was in the fourth inning today that DiMaggio started whittling on a 4 to 0 Sox lead with a solo homer, first by any one this season off Johnny Rigney. In the sixth inning Joe bashed a homer after Buddy Hassett had walked, shaving the Chicago lead to 4 to 3. Later in the inning Bill Dickey drove in the tying run, singling to send home Charley Keller, who had walked and stolen second.

Mr. DiMag wasn't thru. After Tommy Henrich had been walked by Rigney at the start of the 10th, Joe smashed a triple which sent Henrich home with the winning run.

Before the game Jim Dykes, a frantic gent if ever you saw one, gave one of his series of inspirational lectures. Well, the boys recently have become sorta inoculated against Jim's piteous cries and threats, but for a while today it appeared they had been moved.

Helped by the fact that Manager Joe McCarthy had given Rookie Johnny Lindell his first start of the season [to save his regulars for the Indians], the Sox went to work with great zeal. They had all their four runs and seven of their eight hits, including a homer by Wally Moses, in three innings. Dykes, master psychologist, was beaming for the first time since the Sox took the city series from the Cubs.

The Sox Go to Work.

With two out in the first inning Don Kolloway singled to left and Myril Hoag sent him to second with a single to center. DiMaggio juggled the ball momentarily, then made a wide throw to Joe Gordon at second. Kolloway had kept right on running and got home when Gordon retrieved DiMaggio's bad throw and tossed the

Crosby, Hope Play Golf for Army Today

Thomas D. Armour and Charles Evans Jr., two Chicagoans who have played a spot of golf in their time, are going at it again this afternoon at the Edgewater Golf club in company with a couple of guys from California. The visitors registered yesterday under the names of Harry Lillis Crosby and Leslie Towne Hope. Both lads are understood to be very handy with a tee stick. There is even a rumor that they are also quite talented at giving out with witty sayings, and even a ditty or three.

Course Is Accessible.

If you doubt the gifts of this pair from the coast, forget their right names and just call them Bing Crosby and Bob Hope, for that's the way they're known to millions of radio and cinema fans. This afternoon, at 2 o'clock, Bing will join up with Evans against Bob and Armour, in the match whose proceeds will be turned over to the athletic and recreation fund at Fort Sheridan.

Edgewater, one of the district's oldest clubs, also is one of the most accessible, being one of the few layouts situated within the metropolitan area. It is located at Pratt boulevard and Ridge avenue, and can easily be reached by surface lines, elevated and the Northwestern railroad. A large parking lot will be available for golfers who motor to the course. The admission is only one dollar.

A Fairway Feud.

The promise of a fairway feud between the two comedians was renewed last night, when Hope, who has been master of ceremonies for the Caravan of Hollywood stars now touring the country, and who will fill that rôle again in the Stadium this evening, issued a challenge to Crosby for a series of matches within matches. They'll go out and play in the regular foursome setup, but will include a personal vendetta of their own at the same time. This argument will be on a match play basis, best three out of five, starting today.

PASSEAU, CUBS LOSE, 4-2; PHILS CAPTURE SERIES

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

As far as the Cubs are concerned there is something erroneous about the report that the Phils are the National league's tail enders. Hans Lobert's boys certainly didn't have the cellar atmosphere yesterday when they rose up in impressive style to dust off the Chicagoans, whose battle front included their ace pitcher, Claude Passeau. The score was 4 to 2, giving the eighth placers the honor of taking the series, two against one.

The Cubs didn't relish the pitching of Johnny Sigmund Podgajny, even tho they managed to sneak in 10 hits during the nine inning struggle. It wasn't quite enough to let them escape the charge they are keeping the lad in the league. He whipped them four times last season and won only five games from the other six teams.

The Phils Get Busy.

Passeau, who absorbed his third defeat instead of his third victory, was jolted severely enough in the first inning to be separated from two runs. He settled down in hopes of receiving good news eventually from the bats of his associates. He finally got back on even terms in the fifth but the situation didn't suit the Phils. They popped right back with a run in the sixth, an incident in which the young men around second base appeared to be experiencing slight attacks of confusion. This one run would have been sufficient, but in their desire to be playful the Phils scored another against their former mate in the ninth.

Passeau's disturbing first inning began with four wide pitches to Murtaugh, Al Glossop's single to right and a pass to Ernie Koy, creating a full house with none out. Dan Litwhiler helped solve Passeau's problem by popping to Phil Cavarretta. Nick Etten also aided by forcing Koy at second, but Murtaugh scored. With Glossop on third and Etten on first the Phils pulled a double steal which let the former score and sent Etten as far as third because of a wide return throw to the plate by Lou Stringer.

M'Cullough Scores Tying Run.

All the Cubs had to show for three innings against Polgajny was a lone hit. But assistance came their way when Stan Hack opened the fourth with a grounder to Murtaugh who heaved the ball into the dugout, entitling Hack to two bases. Bill Nicholson put Hack on third by beating out a hit to Glossop. Then Lou Novikoff hit a double play roller to Murtaugh, Hack scoring. Stringer beat out a bunt, the possible value of which was lost on Cavarretta's inning ending hopper to Glossop.

Clyde McCullough played the heavy

3 GREAT HORSES CLASH TODAY IN PIMLICO'S DIXIE

Baltimore, Md., May 5 (AP).—Whirlaway, Challedon, and Mioland—three of turfdom's great campaigners—were named today to meet for the first time in Pimlico's $20,000 added Dixie handicap tomorrow.

This meeting of the handicap division's kingpins in the 38th renewal of Pimlico's richest fixture for older horses adds luster to the Dixie and temporarily takes the play away from the candidates for Saturday's $50,000 added Preakness stakes.

Million Dollar Field.

Eight others were named to contest the mile and three-sixteenths issue with the big three whose combined earnings total $921,211. All told, the Dixie's field of 11 has earned well over a million dollars.

Whirlaway to date has picked up $352,536 for Owner Warren Wright and is third on the list of all-time money winners. Challedon has won $332,860 for W. L. Brann and is fifth on the list, while Mioland has collected $235,815 for C. S. Howard.

Others entered overnight were John L. Sullivan's Air Master, E. G. Hackney's Sir Alfred, H. C. Hatch's Filisteo, Col. E. R. Bradley's Best Seller, Brann's Pictor, Greentree stable's Century Note, Mrs. Parker Corning's Attention, and Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Impound.

Entire Field Has Class.

The three have never run in the same race, but Whirlaway beat Mioland at Belmont Park last year, and Mioland and Challedon have defeated each other. Whirlaway won his last outing in the Clark handicap at Churchill Downs, while Challedon nosed out Mioland in the Philadelphia handicap at Havre De Grace.

Other recent winners in the field include Air Master, Pictor, Century Note, and Impound. Best Seller was second to The Rhymer in the Widener handicap at Hialeah and Filisteo set a world's record for the seldom used distance of two miles and 70 yards in the Exterminator handicap last fall.

HEAFNER BARRED FROM PGA PLAY ON ETHICS COUNT

Frank Sprogel, national secretary of the Professional Golfers' association, last night confirmed the suspension of Clayton Heafner from the National PGA tournament, May 25-31 at Absecon, N. J. Heafner disclosed earlier in Durham, N. C., that he had been barred from the event.

Sprogel, who is in Chicago, said merely that the suspension was for breaking the code of ethics of the PGA and would carry thru the national PGA meet.

BEGINNERS AT 4 COURSES LEARN GRIP AND STANCE

Pros Find Pupils Receptive Lot.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The 10th annual free golf school conducted by THE TRIBUNE, No. 1 plan of group instruction in American sports, opened last night on the four courses of the Chicago park district in temperatures more suited to football than golf.

In spite of the chilliest background the school ever has encountered, a throng of approximately 15,000 men, women, and children came out to learn the ABC's of the game from the members of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' association.

Get These Figures—329,000 Lessons.

The enthusiasm reflected by those students who did appear in sweaters, windbreakers, and gloves was sufficient augury of another big year in the series of four lessons. That enthusiasm has come to be the expected thing in the eyes of the Illinois PGA faculty, which has, in the past, been forced to give lessons in spite of official postponement of the classes. On a number of occasions in previous schools, it was decided to call off a night's instruction because of rain. Thousands of eager seekers after golfing knowledge appeared at the four park courses, anyway, and last night's shivery airs proved no more of a stymie to the 1942 enrollment.

A total of 329,000 free lessons has been given by the PGA professors in the last nine years of the school, which has served as the original working model for more than 150 others thruout the country. A rise in temperatures within the next day should prove an impetus for an increase in attendance, and pupils who skipped last night's lesson are invited to attend the remaining three. The second class will be held on the same four courses at 7 o'clock tomorrow night, with the third scheduled for next Tuesday, and the fourth on Thursday night, May 14.

Jackson park, the city's oldest public course and cradle of many of our town's best swingers, attracted a remarkable gathering of 5,000. Matt Matteson of Ridge, secretary and treasurer of the Illinois PGA, handled the microphone at the south side lay-

Dolores Nolan learns all about how to grip a club at opening session of Tribune's free golf school yesterday in Jackson park. Her instructor is Johnny Bird.

This is part of the crowd which came out to Jackson park as pupils of golf teachers from the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' Association of America. Classes also were held in three other park district courses. The next class will be tomorrow evening. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

DODGERS BEAT CARDS, 3-1.

St. Louis, Mo., May 5 (AP).—Larry French, the 33 year old veteran whom the Brooklyn Dodgers almost cut adrift during their Florida training, pitched and batted the National league champions to a 3 to 1 11-inning triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals today. Working against 21 year old Howard Pollet, French kept the Cardinals to four scattered hits and would have had a shutout except for an error by Billy Herman in the eighth.

French himself drove in the first run of the game with a single in the seventh and again came thru with a single to drive in the run that broke the tie in the 11th. Score:

A Hustling Cub Is Out at First

rôle in registering the fifth inning run that put the Cubs in a tie for a few minutes. He led with a single to left and was prodded to second by Passeau's sacrifice. Charley Gilbert was disposed of on a pop fly to Murtaugh, but Len Merullo lined a single to center, McCullough counting. Merullo stole second but Hack failed to collaborate, striking out.

The Cubs got themselves tangled up a bit in the sixth after Etten had started the inning with a single to right. When Nick set out on a steal of second, Stringer, figuring Stan Benjamin was going to bunt, hustled over to cover first. Merullo was a bit late waking up to the fact that a stolen base was being perpetrated and by the time he arrived at second McCullough's throw had sailed into center and Etten continued to third, whence he scored on Ben Warren's single to right.

The Phils' ninth inning run was fabricated without delay. Murtaugh led off with his triple which sent Novikoff scooting into the left field corner. Glossop promptly drove in the run by whistling a single past Passeau's shoes.

PLAY REDS IN BENEFIT

The Cubs and Reds will work together while doing their bit for the Navy relief fund and the Army emergency relief fund, to which all the major league clubs will contribute the receipts of one game. The Cubs have set aside the May 27 battle with the Reds at Wrigley field and the Reds have named June 30, when the Cubs are in Cincinnati.

Preceding the May 27 game the Great Lakes Naval Training station team will play the Camp Grant nine for the service championship of northern Illinois.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, who have fully recovered from the wounds suffered in world series combat with the Yankees last October, will open a two day stay this afternoon at Wrigley field. The Dodgers are said to be weak against southpaws, so Johnny Schmitz will put 'em to the test in the first game. Whitlow Wyatt will start for the champs.

ball to the screen, Hoag reaching second. Joe Kuhel singled to center, scoring Hoag, then stole second. Sam West walked but Phil Rizzuto threw out Kennedy.

Tom Turner opened the second inning with a single, but Rigney bounced into a double play. Moses then knocked his homer into the right field boxes, the second homer of the year by a Sox player. Luke Appling popped to Gordon. With one down in the third inning Hoag again singled and then stole second. Kuhel was called out on strikes, but West walked and Kennedy doubled, scoring Hoag. Exit Johnny Lindell; enter Hank Borowy. Borowy gave Turner an intentional pass to load the bases. Rigney was called out on strikes.

Borowy Calls a Halt.

There was some hope the Sox would keep right on going when Moses opened the fourth with a single, but, alas, that single was the only hit off Borowy. Moreover, Moses was caught stealing. Turner walked in the ninth and was the only Sox to reach base after the fourth inning. Borowy struck out seven, getting Kuhel, West, Kennedy, and Turner in succession in the fifth and sixth innings.

The loss today was the 12th in 13 starts, the eighth in nine starts on this road trip, and the 17th in 21 games of the season.

LYONS VS. DOBSON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 5.—The White Sox left early this evening for Boston, where tomorrow they will open a two game series with the Red Sox. Ted Lyons, recovered from the shock of losing a four hitter to the Washington Senators his last time out, 1 to 0, will make another bid for his 247th victory, which again would tie him with Red Ruffing as the major's winningest pitcher. Joe Dobson is slated to pitch for the Red Sox.

trance into the army is just another incident in the unhappy existence of the White Sox since the American league pennant race started. Earlier yesterday, Mrs. Comiskey had said the club is exerting itself to purchase an outstanding outfielder to give the Sox some punch.

During the day the Sox were in communication with Ed Barrow, president of the Yankees, and Larry MacPhail, head man of the Dodgers. What headway was made, if any, was not disclosed.

"We've been doing everything possible to get some help," said Mrs. Comiskey. "But because of the uncertainties caused by the war, making deals isn't as easy as it used to be. The teams are keeping extra players around for protection in the event others are called for military service."

Jimmie Dykes, manager of the Sox, said in New York last night that he has spent at least $100 on telephone calls trying to land an outfielder.

out, and reported the best student spirit he has seen in years. While Matt conducted the class from a specially built stand, John Bird of South Shore; his assistant, Bob Shires, and Jack White of the Green Diamond Range, went about among the students, stressing instruction on the grip and the stance. White only recently recovered from an appendectomy.

Jerry Makes His Debut.

Jerry Glynn, the popular Knollwood pro who has been one of the most faithful teachers in the school for years, last night made a highly successful debut as master of ceremonies at the Diversey course in Lincoln park. Jerry never before had handled the microphone at a Tribune class, but his work last night established him permanently before the audience of more than 4,000 that greeted him and his associates.

While Glynn kept the action of the lesson going from the stand, a number of his associates went thru the class, giving individual tips on the grip and the stance. Among the instructors at Diversey who gave up work at their own clubs for the chilly hour of the school were Alex Cunningham of North Shore, president of the section and one of the school's stanchest supporters; two other Lake Forest faithfuls, Dick Dickerson of the Mill Road Farm course and Bob Ledger of Deerpath; Willis Foland, Cunningham's assistant; Lew Waldron, unattached, and Johnny Gibson of Westmoreland, his assistant. Gibson, who Monday qualified for the National PGA again, gave a demonstration of why he is regarded as one of the longest hitters in the district.

Marquette Draws 3,000.

Marquette park's classroom attracted an attendance of 3,000 southwest siders. They saw a proof of the PGA's contribution to the nation's armed forces in the person of Seaman Charley Blasgen, late of Westgate Valley and presently stationed at Great Lakes. While Charley's former boss, Tom Walsh, past national president of the PGA, handled the mike, Blasgen, Maurie White of La Grange, Harry Kinnell of Edgewood Valley, and Packey Walsh of Marquette carried on the work of individual teaching.

Bill Gordon of Tam o' Shanter, the Illinois section's tournament chairman, and his colleagues at Columbus park's lessons also had a class of 3,000. Feature of the night was the ball hitting demonstration given by Pete Thomas of Park Ridge, one of Illinois' seven qualifiers for the National PGA tournament at Atlantic City. Bill and Pete were aided by Bill Cunningham and John Chovanec, both of Tam o' Shanter, and Bill Foley of the home club. Dick Metz of Oak Park will give a demonstration at tomorrow night's Columbus park lesson.

SHUT OUT MAY GO TO POST IN EQUIPOISE MILE

Shut Out, the Kentucky Derby winner, and 12 of the 14 horses which finished behind him at Churchill Downs are eligible for the Arlington Classic and American Derby, Chicago's two $50,000 added stakes for 3 year olds.

Shut Out probably will come to Arlington in time to compete in the second annual Equipoise mile—which would add a sentimental touch to the handicap, for Shut Out is one of the last sons of the dead Equipoise. Howard Wells' Equifox, which won the handicap mile last year, also is a son of Equipoise.

Masonic Home Preps Defeat Pullman, 11-6

Illinois Masonic home of La Grange scored eight runs in the seventh inning to defeat Pullman Tech High school, 11 to 6, in a Southwest Suburban league game on the Pullman Tech diamond yesterday. The winners made five hits, including a triple and double, and took advantage of five Pullman errors and two passes to pile up their last inning total.

Crane Tech extended its winning streak to seven games by blanking Marshall, 13 to 0, in a Chicago Public High School league west section game. Jerry Abrams limited Marshall to two singles. Gus Skizas and Tony Amato hit home runs.

Proviso of Maywood pulled into a second place tie with Waukegan by defeating New Trier, 6 to 2, in a Suburban league battle in Winnetka. Bob Brust of Proviso hit a home run with one on in the sixth.

Ralph Cheney, ineligible for league play this year, limited Holy Trinity to two hits as Schurz won a nine inning practice game, 1 to 0, at Kilbourne park. Cheney doubled in the ninth and was singled home by Tony Klimek for Schurz's lone run.

YouWin, Lady, and Pity the Poor Bookies!

Milwaukee, Wis., May 5 (AP).—Throw away your forms and tipsheets, boys, here's a new way to beat the bangtails.

How good is it?

Alice, who saw her first Kentucky Derby last Saturday, bet on Shut Out, Alsab, and Valdina Orphan to finish in that order. They did.

"How did you pick those horses?" she was asked.

"Well," she explained, "everybody was telling us this horse and that one and finally I just sat down on the grass and picked three horses to get it over with."

"Uh-huh."

"But why those three?"

"Well, I knew Alsab wasn't going to win, but they said he was a good horse, so I picked him for second."

"Yes, yes, but Shut Out to win—?"

"O, I didn't really pick him. You see, everybody seemed to think Devil Diver was awfully good and when I found out that 'entry' meant you would get two chances I thought that would be a good bet. It was, too, because Devil Diver didn't win but I won anyway."

"And Valdina Orphan for third?"

"I didn't really pick Valdina Orphan either. That was another entry, so I bet to get two chances."

On second thought, however, maybe you better not use Alice's system. She thought the horse that won was named "Shut Eye."

PLENTY OF TIME TO CATCH WHITE BASS IN THE WOLF

More Fun to Take Them on Way Downstream.

BY BOB BECKER.

Illinois fishermen who want to catch a mess of white bass in the Wolf river, Wisconsin, still have plenty of time for their trip because these fish will stay in the river for quite a while. In fact, it's more fun to take the bass after they have finished their upriver trip and are on the way downstream. Then they're nearer the surface and one can use a fly rod to advantage. And the bait caster doesn't need to get 'way down deep for his fish, which means he can dispense with sinkers.

The bass do a lot of traveling this month, for their schedule calls for an upstream migration against the current and then down they come for Lake Winnebago to spend their time until April, 1943. When we were on the river last week we had to get down pretty deep for fish because the ones we were catching were males and they were sticking close to the bottom.

Missed Wolf River Trip.

There was one trip on the Wolf that we didn't make last week—one that we hated to miss because it called for an exhibition of fishing by one of the boys who lives on the stream. Bud Puls, a resident of Fremont, had in mind taking us down river from Fremont about eight miles. The idea was to fish spots going down and then he was going to rig up a spinner and fly to see if he could get bass to strike where the water was shallow.

The river boys rig up a long cane pole with a short line and spinner for this fishing, which reminded us of the way the guides on Reelfoot fish for bass. They also use a cane pole and a spoon and quietly work up to the haunts of the bass in order to whirl that spoon right over the fish which may be around or on top of stumps in the lake.

Wind Too Strong.

On the Wolf much the same tactics get white bass in certain places. But we didn't have time for the eight mile trip, and the wind was too strong to travel down stream for that distance.

When we were at Fremont the guides figured the white bass then running were from Poygan. They predicted another heavy run from Winnebago. For Illinois fishermen, Winneconne, Fremont, Gills Landing, and Weyaumega are good places to go. If you want the most fun, have one of the boys wire you when the bass are coming down stream so you can take 'em near the surface. That type of fishing is due later in the month.

Other matches will bring together Eddie Slake and Ole Olson, Andy Rascher and Jack Zeravich, Gerard Lauth and Earl Malone, and Ned Taylor and Jack Ross.

Harry Teaney, Cleveland lightweight, and Tony Motisi, Catholic Youth organization welterweight, who fought 10 rounds to a deadlock in Chicago Stadium on April 10, yesterday were rematched for the west side building's May 20 program. The 10 round encore will serve as a semiwindup to Johnny Colan and Anton Christoforidis.

Now as never before Quality Counts

Most men find good tobacco a magnificent "refresher" when they are working at top speed. In these strenuous days, the best is never too good in keeping a man's morale in high gear.

For an army of smokers, El Producto is the ideal smoke—mild enough to smoke all day long, yet with a distinctive taste that gives real enjoyment with every puff. It is the quality cigar—in the blend of its fine tobaccos; in the superb workmanship that gives a cool, even-burning smoke.

THIS IS THE DAY; SPORTSMAN'S TO GIVE ALL TO WAR

BY HOWARD BARRY.

This is the day when Sportsman's Park turns over its gross receipts to the war effort. The National Jockey club, which operates the track, will distribute checks among the army relief fund, the navy relief fund, and the service men's center for a sum which will consist of all the money made on mutuel betting take-out, gate admissions, and sale of programs.

In addition other substantial amounts will be contributed by owners, trainers, jockeys, valets, guineas, mutuel clerks, and concessionaires. The owners will contribute 2½ per cent of the purses they receive for the entire meeting. They voted unanimously on this step so as to assure coöperation from every one, whether a member of a horseman's association or not.

They'll All Pitch In.

The jockeys and valets will contribute one-half of the amount they earn today. Jockey Andy Lo Turco, however, is turning over all of the money he gets this afternoon. The mutuel clerks and guineas are taking up a collection among themselves. The concessionaires will donate their entire profits.

Units of the marines, soldiers, and sailors will be on hand to take part in the ceremonies connected with the event. So will a navy band from Great Lakes.

The first serious accident of the meeting occurred in the third race yesterday when Clarence Davidson's Fin Try fell as he was going around the club house turn. The jockey, Eddie Franklin, was knocked unconscious and the horse was unable to get up due to a broken shoulder. Meanwhile the field was coming on around the track.

Just Lucky, That's All.

The boy was picked up and carried off so that he would be out of danger of being trampled before the horses were able to pull up after this five furlong dash. It was fortunate that his injuries were not serious, because if he had incurred any broken bones he would have been much better off by taking the remote chance of being stepped on rather than submit to the well-meaning but amateurish handling of the guineas who picked him up in sections.

Medical authorities are agreed that the greatest menace to a thrown jockey is not the fall itself or even the hoofs of the horses behind him. It is the good hearted people who rush out to carry him away, arm by arm and leg by leg.

Miss Militant Wins.

While Franklin was being transported out of the way, the outrider, Harry Miller, got on the job to flag the field away from the fallen horse, which could not be seen by the oncoming jockeys because of the hedge on the turn. Meanwhile J. W. Frye, who had fallen from Lissa in the course of the crowding was walking back unhurt. Franklin came round with treatment, but his horse was so gravely injured that it was expected to be destroyed.

WAR TO MAKE US TOUGHER PEOPLE, KELLY ASSERTS

Departs from His Text to Rap Congress.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

More than 200 delegates to the 37th annual convention of the Boys' Clubs of America attended the physical fitness luncheon yesterday noon in the Drake hotel. They were addressed by John B. Kelly, assistant national director of the Office of Defense, Health, and Welfare.

Kelly, who at one time envisioned Americans marching in orderly formation down the road to glowing health under the auspices of his physical fitness branch of the OCD, unloaded a cargo of ire against congress. He interrupted his prepared text to say that congress had been picking on him.

And Congress Snickered!

Congress snickered at his request for $1,000,000, ignored his threats to resign his post if he wasn't given at least $300,000, and finally cut him off with little more than the proverbial penny, Kelly said. Why did they do this? Just to take the spotlight of publicity off themselves immediately after they had voted the much discussed—and later tabled—pensions for congressmen bill, according to Kelly.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.], who headed the senate committee which investigated the budget requests—including Kelly's—drew a pun from the physical fitness director:

"The budget has always been a 'bird' sanctuary."

Defends Mayris Chaney.

Then he defended Mayris Chaney, the blonde night club dancer who as a protégé of Mrs. Roosevelt was given a $4,600 a year job with the OCD. Miss Chaney, who is from Kelly's home town, Philadelphia, was never a fan dancer, he said. She was an artist whom the members of congress took a dislike to and forced to resign, he explained.

At that point Kelly reverted to his prepared speech and upset a widely held medical opinion that men today are heavier and more muscular than men of 80 years ago. Kelly admitted the soldier of today weighs an average of 150 pounds compared with an average of 136 in the Civil war.

It's Just Plain Fat.

But what are those 14 pounds? "Fat, automobile fat, or sitting down fat," Kelly stated, "whatever you want to call it." Then he added:

"There is no question of doubt that we will be a tougher people for the experience of having to fight to keep things many of us now know are worth fighting for. I mean things like life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. You men know our youth problem. You have worked under trying conditions. You have been playing your part and will continue to help make America physically fit.

"We have dependable, unbreakable morale and physical strength in the youth that you have been working with. Youth under your leadership has learned courage, sacrifice, devotion to an ideal, respect for the rights of others, submergence of self for the good of the whole, hard work, and fortitude."

The conventions of the Boys' clubs, to which Chicago is host for the fourth time since the organization was founded in Boston in 1906, will conclude tomorrow evening when the annual banquet is held. Herbert Hoover, chairman of the board of directors, will preside. Speakers will be William E. Hall, president of the Boys' Clubs of America, and Paul V. McNutt, administrator of the Federal Security agency.

The Answer.

Grandma Waller's lilacs are out
Two weeks ahead of time.
Aunt Susie Conlon's bridal wreath
Is already beginning to climb,
And passin' Miss Heck's this morning
I noticed a feather of red—
That vine along her old side porch
Is a good 10 days ahead.

Mamie Reuschel's fruit trees
Along her old rock wall
Are bursting with bloom, and Mamie says
She can't understand it at all;
But I think the answer is simple,
I've made my own deduction,
Mother Nature must o' got wind
Of our all-out to speed up production!

This Is War.

Men enlisting, women weeping,
Thousands marching to the fight,
Bugles blowing, banners floating,
Sirens screaming in the night.
Cannons booming, bombshells bursting,
Hell exploding in a roar.
Struggling, fighting, bleeding, dying,
God have mercy—THIS IS WAR.

Smokestacks belching, engines hissing,
Factories working overtime,
Brains inventing, muscles straining,
Millions sweating in the grime.
Tanks a-rolling, airplanes whirring,
Warships sailing off the shore.
Millions struggling, sacrificing,
God have mercy—THIS IS WAR.

FIVE POINT TAX REDUCTION PLAN OFFERED STATE

Illinois C. of C. Asks for Cut in Waste.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

The Illinois Chamber of Commerce yesterday urged a five point program to reduce waste in the 15,000 tax spending governments in the state and to strengthen tax collection efforts.

Arthur Kaiser, chairman of the organization's taxation committee, asserted that elimination of wasteful spending and revisions of antiquated tax laws would save millions of dollars.

"These savings would lighten the ever-increasing burden of federal levies needed for the war," Kaiser said. "It is not too much to ask that our tax spending officials cut their expenditures to the bone and increase the efficiency of their administration in this war emergency."

Five Points in Program.

The chambers' program follows:

1. Eliminate tax delinquency, which is as high as 30 per cent in some counties, by amending state laws and enforcing the amended laws. Chiefly, pass laws that will make it practical for tax buyers to get good title to properties owing back taxes, thus discouraging nonpayment of taxes.

2. Adopt uniform accounting and regular audits of the finances of tax levying bodies. There are no laws in Illinois requiring a uniform system of accounting for all taxing bodies, and it is therefore impossible to obtain accurate information on public revenues and expenditures.

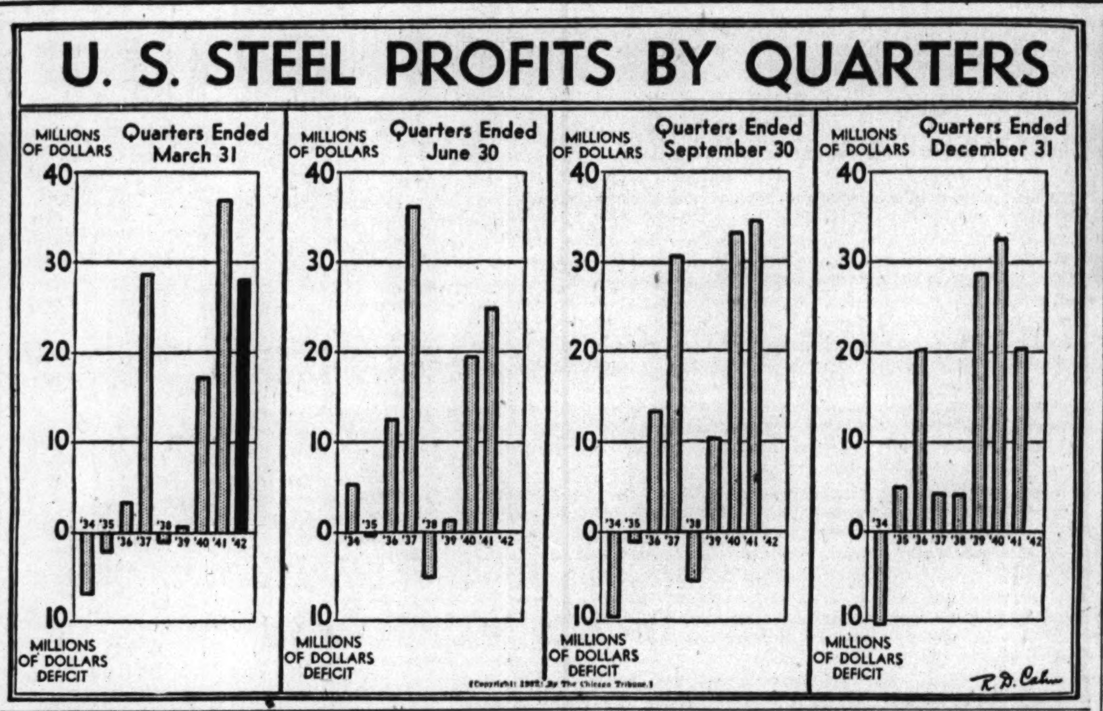
3. Strengthen the budget laws affecting local governments, making mandatory the preparation of budgets and strict adherence to them. Under present laws budgeting is voluntary and hence tax spending bodies which need budgets most are least likely to have them.

Ask Uniform Assessments.

4. Revise assessment methods so that property assessment thruout the state will be made on a uniform basis. At present, the chamber found, there are hundreds of township assessors in the state, most of whom make assessments according to a variety of individual ideas.

5. Reduce the number of local governmental units, which total 15,000 in Illinois, or more than any other state. The result of having such a large number of governmental bodies is that it is impossible for even the most public spirited taxpayer to attend meetings at which officials decide how to spend his taxes.

Kaiser reported that only 667,080 of the 1,673,911 automobiles licensed in Illinois for 1940 were assessed for tax purposes.



CARE OF EQUIPMENT URGED ON TRUCKERS BY DIRECTOR OF ODT

More than 500 motor freight representatives attended a meeting called by the Office of Defense Transportation yesterday in the Stevens hotel for an explanation of ODT general orders regarding pooling of equipment, the shortage of part and tire replacements, and loading of war materials. A statement from Joseph B. Eastman, ODT director, urging immediate action to prevent the impending of war material transport was read.

"In 1941, 700,000 new trucks were put into service," Eastman's message read. "There is a normal depreciation of 420,000 trucks each year, but to replace these there will be allotted only 150,000 trucks during 1942 and 1943. Therefore, this great discrepancy must be made up by drastic measures, pooling of equipment, loading to capacity and utmost care in maintenance of equipment and tires."

Joseph H. Welker, common carrier member of the ODT advisory committee, and Harry F. Chaddick, president of the Central Motor Freight association, were speakers and answered questions of the truckers.

Grants More Cash to Probe War Profits

Washington, D. C., May 5.—The house today unanimously approved an additional appropriation of $40,000 for the investigation by the naval affairs committee of profiteering in war contracts. The committee has exhausted a fund of $20,000 previously allotted it.

A number of members arose to praise the work of the committee headed by Rep. Carl Vinson [D., Ga.] and its chief counsel, Edmund M. Tolan. The investigation has disclosed not only excessive profits by contractors but huge gains derived by labor unions as the result of the government's extraordinary war spending program.

Vinson reported that the committee's inquiry has resulted thus far in direct and indirect savings to the government of $507,208,277. He presented a table showing savings as the result of renegotiated contracts in the following cases:

Sperry corp. [army and navy]	$100,000,000
North Amer. Aviation [army]	74,000,000
Bendix Avia. [army and navy]	73,354,000
Continental Motors [army]	39,000,000
Jack and Heintz [army]	9,500,000
TOTAL	$337,208,277

Indirect savings caused by the publicity given what the committee has labeled "unconscionable" profits has saved the navy another 17 millions, Vinson estimated. Many contracts are being renegotiated, he reported, and additional millions are being saved.

EITEL AND WYNNE GET PERMANENT POSTS AS WPB BRANCH CHIEFS

Joseph L. Overlock, regional director of the war production board, yesterday named permanent managers of the Chicago office of two principal departments, the priorities division and the contract distribution branch. Both appointees, Edmund H. Eitel in priorities and Thomas N. Wynne in contract distribution, have been acting managers of the offices.

COL. ARMSTRONG TO SPEAK BEFORE ORDNANCE GROUP

A report on progress of rearmament in the Chicago area will be given tomorrow by Col. Donald M. Armstrong, deputy district chief of the Chicago ordnance district, before 500 manufacturers and army ordnance officials, members of the Chicago post of the Army Ordnance association, at a luncheon in the Palmer House.

Col. Armstrong expects to discuss the change in methods of ordnance contracting, the future impact of ordnance procurement on private business in the Chicago area, problems confronting his department, and progress made thru branch offices.

ECONOMY NEED IS DISCLOSED BY BIG FOOD FIRM

New President Cuts His Own Pay.

James S. Adams, new president of Standard Brands, Inc., struck the high note of interest at a series of annual stockholders' meetings yesterday when he announced he had voluntarily reduced his annual pay from $100,000 to $75,000 to set an example for "the severe economies I must exact thruout the business." However, he cautioned the shareholders, meeting in New York, that he expected restoration of the higher figure when the big food company's earnings improve to a point justifying the increase.

Some of the 250 stockholders attending the meeting criticized the action of directors last February in omitting payment of a common dividend. Adams justified this as a means of conserving working capital and assured the meeting the question of dividends would be reviewed during the year.

Position on Dividends.

"If we are able to keep up adequate earnings after taxes and also maintain the strong current asset position essential to the survival of any business during and after the war," he said "we will at once consider the payment of dividends to common stockholders."

With reference to his salary cut, Adams said, "I simply felt I should be in a fairer position to insist upon such economies if I set the example." He said the company's maximum pension rate had been reduced from $25,000 to $6,000 a year. Pensions had also been the subject of criticism, but before the meeting closed many of those who had berated Adams were praising him.

Sales Up, Profits Down.

Adams said that altho Standard Brands' first quarter gross sales were much larger, net profits had fallen to $1,489,980, equal to 10 cents a share on common stock, from $2,484,512, or 18 cents a share, in the three months ended March 31, 1941.

Addressing shareholders of the Radio Corporation of America, also meeting in New York, David Sarnoff, president, asserted that the new products and services growing out of

Ward, Sears Sales at Quarter Peaks; War Hits April Totals

Montgomery Ward & Co. and Sears, Roebuck & Co., both of Chicago, reported yesterday that sales for the three months ended April 30, first quarter of their current fiscal years, were largest on record for the period. Sears also reported that April volume established a new peak, while Ward sales fell below the year ago total in April.

Montgomery Ward's mail order and retail volume for the three months totaled $151,429,627, an increase of 11.02 per cent over the $136,393,336 in the corresponding 1941 period. The April total was $57,604,275, compared with $58,068,072 in the month a year ago, or a decrease of 0.8 per cent.

War Curbs Cut Volume.

The April decline was attributed by officials to the fact that the big Chicago mail order company was unable because of war restrictions to meet demand for tires, radios, refrigerators, and other merchandise which normally accounts for a large portion of its sales. Last month was the first time since October, 1938, that monthly volume failed to exceed the corresponding period of the preceding year.

Sears reported that April volume was $76,301,080, or a gain of 0.8 per cent over the $75,718,580 a year ago.

PLAN FOR PROTECTING INSURANCE OUTLINED TO INVESTORS GROUP

A program designed to protect the interests of the country's 65 million insurance policyholders was outlined yesterday at the annual meeting of the American Federation of Investors in the Palmer House.

Dr. Hugh S. Magill, president of the federation and chairman of its national policyholders' committee, said the organization planned to work for control of inflation, against taxation of insurance, and against socialization of the business.

The committee, he said, would support insurance executives in any worthwhile demands made upon congress, particularly in opposing any government attempts to take over life insurance, its 120 billion dollars of policies, and its 30 billion dollars of reserves against policies.

The program will be administered by a board of 10 members of the federation, including Alexander Benz of Appleton, Wis., president of the Aid for Lutherans' association and past president of the National Fraternal congress.

The number of federation directors was increased to 15 with the election of Lester O. Schriver, general agent of the Aetna Life Insurance company at Peoria, Ill.

CONGRESS TURNS TO INDIVIDUAL TAX RATE TODAY

Washington, May 5 [Special].—The house ways and means committee decided today to begin consideration tomorrow of individual income taxes, laying aside several important points in the corporate levy program for further study.

It was agreed that among other corporate tax proposals to be shelved for the present would be that for postwar refunds to corporations in the form of bonds.

What phase of the individual income tax program would be undertaken tomorrow was not made clear by Rep. Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.] chairman, but it was indicated the members would discuss surtax rates, proposed by the treasury to be increased all along the line.

Priority and Price Experts to Explain Their Policies

WPB and OPA priority and price experts will come from Washington to explain their policies and objectives to the nation's steel distributors at a meeting in the Drake hotel May 13, it was announced yesterday. Arrangements are being made for the meeting by the American Steel Warehouse association. More than 800 steel men are expected to attend.

G. M. REJECTS WLB'S DOUBLE TIME PAY ORDER

Asks Labor Hearing Open to Press.

Detroit, Mich., May 5 [Special].—On the eve of contract negotiations with the United Auto Workers before a panel of the War Labor board, C. E. Wilson, president of the General Motors corporation, disclosed that the corporation had turned down the board's suggestion that double time pay for Sunday and holiday work be continued until May 18 while negotiations proceed.

C. E. Wilson.

At the same time, Wilson made a formal request that the hearings beginning tomorrow morning in Washinngton be open to the press. Walter P. Reuther, director of the General Motors division of the union, previously said the union was agreeable to the proposal. The board is expected to rule on this question at the opening session.

Wilson's Message to WLB.

Wilson's disclosure came in the release of correspondence between the corporation, the union, and the board from April 27 to today.

Wilson, in his message to the WLB, said:

"We protest and do not agree to comply with your directive order contained in your telegram of May 1 ordering double time pay between April 28 and May 18. This order was based on ex parte consideration of this matter by the WLB. Our case involves many other issues, and an attempt to settle any of them in advance we consider prejudicial.

Position of Corporation.

"Our fair and practical offer to the union, a copy of which was sent to the board, provided an adequate method of handling this and all other economic considerations."

In a letter to Reuther, dated April 27, the corporation stated its position

I never heard of a Living Trust until my lawyer suggested it

He said it would save my estate plenty

Best of all, it shows the Trust Company how I want things handled

Far too often, the Trustee of an estate begins his work with no more knowledge of the maker's wishes than those conveyed in the trust document itself. Many men, preferring to have their intentions well understood, choose a Living Trust, which eases their own cares in their lifetime, and which permits the Trustee to learn at first hand the more personal implications and desires behind the written word.

In a Living Trust, the principal decisions may still remain with the maker. Under some conditions, the trust may be revoked. Here is flexibility of management, with the continuity of intention which every man hopes for.

Perhaps a Living Trust will be the solution to your estate problems. There are many interesting phases of the subject which might be touched upon in a half hour's discussion with one of our Trust Officers. May we make an appointment for you and your attorney?

Utilities Waver as Rails and Aircrafts Sag.

New York, May 5 (AP).—Irregularly higher tendencies ruled in the stock market today, with steels, motors, and specialties making recoveries of fractions to a point or more.

Recently buoyant utilities on the big board inclined to waver at the start and rails, aircrafts and coppers were in difficulties. Altho plus marks were well distributed at the close, numerous issues were lower and many finished unchanged. Dealings were sluggish at 272,900 shares against 259,711 Monday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .2 of a point at 33.6, after being unchanged yesterday in the wake of a 4 day upturn.

War News Aids Sentiment.

The British attack on Madagascar aided sentiment to some extent, brokers said, altho the news of war and business generally provided scant speculative or investment inspiration. Bidding, as in the last week, apparently still was based on the belief the list was due for further technical improvement because of its lengthy retreat.

Allied Chemical was up 2½ points on a light turnover. Lesser advances were retained by United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, American Can, du Pont, United States Rubber, and Montgomery Ward.

Empire Gas senior stocks were up 10 to 15 points in the Curb as the company's revised recapitalization program was reported ready for consideration.

TREND UP IN CHICAGO.

Fractional gains were in the majority in trading on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Trading volume approximated 17,000 shares and involved 77 issues, of which 39 advanced, 23 declined, and 15 closed unchanged. Commonwealth Edison and General Motors were among the more active issues showing slight advances. Consumers company preferred rose ¼ point to a new 1942 high at 7¼, in limited trading. Sears, the volume leader with 1,150 shares changing hands, closed fractionally lower. Prices were without trend in the half hour of trading after the New York exchange close.

CAR UPHOLSTERY MAKER VOTES TO OMIT DIVIDEND

Directors of Collins & Aikman corporation, New York, manufacturer of upholstery fabric for automobiles, announced yesterday that the regular dividend on common stock usually paid at this time would be omitted. The firm has been paying 25 cents quarterly. Restrictions on automobile manufacturing were given as the reason for the move.

W. A. Sheaffer Pen company declared an extra dividend of 25 cents on common stock in addition to the regular 50 cent dividend on the issue. Similar extras have been paid in previous quarters.

URGES MILITARY POWER OF VETO ON WIRE MERGER

Admiral Says FCC Is Not Qualified to Decide.

Washington, D. C., May 5 (AP).—Rear Adm. S. C. Hooper, speaking for the navy department, asked congress today to give the armed forces a veto power over any communications merger, contending that the Federal Communications commission had "little knowledge of the military requirements and principles involved."

Adm. Hooper appeared before a senate interstate commerce subcommittee considering legislation which would authorize a merger of domestic telegraph companies into one system and consolidation of international communication companies into one system, subject to FCC approval.

Fears Foreign Control.

Hooper expressed disapproval of permitting international radio communications to be merged with cable companies, asserting that under such a merger "Europeans will once again control radio in addition to the cables."

The British, the admiral said, "own and dominate the cable system," except for certain links.

"Whatever you decide," he declared, "we of the navy department ask that congress lay down fundamentals and not turn it over to any one government agency, and at least allow the armed forces to have a veto power in mergers.

Says FCC Lacks Sympathy.

"I am opposed to the principle of delegating the responsibility of determining fundamental policies underlying the development and organization of our communications systems to any one agency of the government, and especially to the Federal Communications commission, an agency which has so little knowledge of the military requirements and principles involved.

"Experience has shown that a nonmilitary commission has very little sympathy with the needs of the armed services, as compared with those of the public, and that these services must rely upon congress to protect their interests."

Hooper urged that for the present congress authorize only the merger of Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies, including the cable interests of both.

W. L. Allen, president of the Commercial Telegraphers' union, opposed the merger, contending that "if the industry were properly regulated a merger would not be necessary."

OFFER NEW PLAN FOR MOPAC ROAD REORGANIZATION

New York, May 5 (AP).—A new plan for reorganization of the Missouri Pacific railroad was outlined today by a committee headed by Robert R. Young, chairman of Alleghany corporation, which holds a sizable portion of the road's bonds and a majority of the common stock.

The proposal would call for immediate payment in cash of $14,433,500 of the road's underlying bonds, mostly Pacific Rail Road of Missouri issues, and of about $31,750,000 owed the Reconstruction Finance corporation, banks, and the Railroad Credit corporation, it was explained.

Col. T. C. Davis, executive vice chairman of the group, called the Missouri Pacific System Investors Reorganization committee, said further meetings would be held this week to complete the plan. He said the committee included holders of each bond issue.

Young said there had been no decision as to treatment of the Missouri Pacific first and refunding 5s, a large number of whose owners are represented by another committee, headed by J. W. Stedman.

CANADA TO SEIZE TIRES IF RUBBER IS TOO SCARCE

OTTAWA, Ont., May 5 (AP).—Nonessential automobiles will be stripped of their tires if rubber requirements cannot be met otherwise, William Knightley, associate national director of salvage, said today.

"By the end of May we will need 50 million pounds of scrap rubber and if we cannot obtain that amount the stripping of tires from nonessential vehicles is in prospect," he said. "Canadians now are able to enjoy their automobiles, but it must be recognized that war needs are paramount and existing conditions cannot be allowed to continue unless the necessary supplies of salvage are obtained."

NEW FINANCING

The Public Service Electric and Gas company yesterday filed a registration with the Securities and Exchange commission covering 15 million dollars of 3 per cent first and refunding mortgage bonds, due 1972. Proceeds of the issue will be added to cash funds, the company said, which may be used for property improvements and additions. The bonds are to be sold by competitive bidding.

Philip Morris & Co., Ltd., Inc., registered an issue of 49,666 shares of cumulative preferred stock, par value $100, and 893,988 rights in connection with the issue of subscription warrants evidencing rights to subscribe to the preferred stock. The preferred shares first will be issued to common stock holders at the ratio of one share of preferred for 18 common shares. Proceeds will be used in reduction of bank loans.

Halsey, Stuart & Co. and associated bankers are offering $5,800,000 of Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, 1⅞ per cent bonds, due serially May 1, 1943 to 1972, at prices to yield 0.50 to 2.10 per cent.

Oklahoma county, Oklahoma, awarded $1,225,000 of road bonds to the Harris Trust and Savings bank on a bid which represents an interest cost to the issuer of 1.76 per cent.

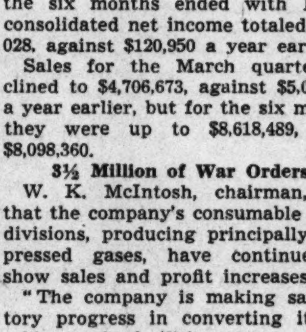
PARKER PEN NET INCOME LARGER FOR FISCAL YEAR

Sales Climb with Letters to Armed Forces.

Parker Pen company, Janesville, Wis., yesterday reported that in the fiscal year ended Feb. 28 it realized a net income of $885,416, equal to $4.38 a share, compared with $530,390, or $2.70 a share, in the preceding year.



Kenneth Parker.

Kenneth Parker, president of the company, said sales increased "mainly because of a vast increase in letter writing by and to members of the armed forces."

Parker Fountain Pen Co., Ltd., of Toronto, had a profit of $76,326, and pen sales in the dominion were 70 per cent larger than in the preceding year, the report showed. The Canadian unit is devoting 75 per cent of its efforts to munitions production, Parker said.

Liquid Carbonic Net Dips.

Liquid Carbonic corporation, Chicago manufacturer of compressed gases, soda fountains, and bottling machinery, reported declines in earnings and sales for the quarter ended March 31, but said it is making "satisfactory progress" in converting part of its facilities to war work.

Profit for the quarter was $175,495, compared with net income of $257,399 in the corresponding 1941 period. For the six months ended with March consolidated net income totaled $301,028, against $120,950 a year earlier.

Sales for the March quarter declined to $4,706,673, against $5,015,252 a year earlier, but for the six months they were up to $8,618,489, from $8,098,360.

3½ Million of War Orders.

W. K. McIntosh, chairman, said that the company's consumable goods divisions, producing principally compressed gases, have continued to show sales and profit increases.

"The company is making satisfactory progress in converting its durable goods facilities to war work. Contracts or continuing orders already arranged for will exceed 3½ million dollars. Only a small part of this business has been shipped and some of it will not be shipped until the next fiscal year," McIntosh said.

Liquid Carbonic's fiscal year ends Sept. 30.

Reductions of ¼ to ½ cent in wholesale egg and butter prices were reported yesterday by Chicago dealers. Wholesale prices of best eggs were reduced to 30 to 31½ cents a dozen and of best butter to 38 to 39 cents a pound. Egg futures closed .15 cent higher on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. Butter futures declined sharply early in the session but recovered part of the losses to close .05 cent higher to .25 cent lower.

Telephone Installations by Bell System Decline

New York, May 5 (AP).—The American Telephone and Telegraph company reported today the Bell system added 93,700 telephones to its service during April, compared with increases of 105,700 last March and 112,500 in April of 1941. For the first four months net additions totaled 416,200 against 483,800 in the corresponding period last year.

Insurance Companies Heavy Buyers of Government Bonds

New York, May 5 (AP).—Tabulations by some of the large financial houses today showed that big insurance companies were heavy buyers of the treasury 2½ per cent bonds, issued as part of the May-June financing aimed at raising 4 billion dollars for the war effort, and bought to a smaller degree in the new 2 per cent bonds. The 2½s mature in 20 to 25 years and the 2s in seven to nine years.

The Equitable Life Assurance society of the United States purchased $100,000,000 of the 2½s and subscribed to $50,000,000 of the 2s. The company said this investment in the war effort was equivalent to virtually all of the premiums it had received on policies outstanding so far this year.

Purchases by Prudential.

The Prudential Insurance company bought $100,000,000 of the 2½s, pushing the company's total holdings of government securities to more than $1,300,000,000.

Mutual Life Insurance company bought $60,000,000 of the 2½s. The New York Life Insurance company said it had taken $50,000,000 of the 2½s, bringing its total holdings of government obligations to $996,000,000, or 48.6 per cent of all bond holdings and ⅓ of total assets.

The bond market today encountered an increasing amount of opposition to the recent upward move, but had sufficient reserve to finish with a small majority of issues in the plus column.

Rails and utilities made the best showing, aided by moderate upturns in some foreign loans and a more nearly even course in United States governments. The latter were backward all day Monday.

Total sales of $9,361,100, par value, were compared with $8,835,600 the day before.

Issue Oversubscribed

Washington, D. C., May 5 [Special].—Preliminary reports indicate that the 1¼ billion dollars of 2 per cent bonds maturing in 1951 offered Monday were oversubscribed two and one-half times, treasury officials reported today.

It was announced that the treasury department will give a full day's advance notice before closing the books on the sales of the 2½ per cent bonds due in 1962-'67 in an unspecified amount.

AMERICAN CAR AND FOUNDRY.

Please report on American Car and Foundry. Why did the court recently stop payments of dividends to common stockholders and order additional payments to holders of preferred shares?—G. D.

Answer: The American Car and Foundry company is ranked the second largest domestic builder of railway freight and passenger cars and railroad equipment. Plants are located in eastern and middle western states. The company is producing military tanks on a large scale at present. Other war activities include production of shells and shell forgings, mine sweepers, pontoon bridge equipment and numerous other war requirements. Unfilled orders reported in October last year amounted to about 181 million dollars, the bulk of which were war orders.

Capitalization is 599,400 no par common shares outstanding, and 289,450 shares 7 per cent $100 par noncumulative preferred. The company has no funded debt. Total assets as of the company's fiscal year ended April 30, 1941, were $118,587,697.

The preferred stock has prior rights to noncumulative dividends not exceeding 7 per cent for each fiscal year ended April 30 in which the dividends are earned.

Dividends on the common stock can be paid only from surplus net profits remaining after the full dividend on the preferred shares, to the extent earned, has been paid from the earnings of each preceding fiscal year.

The effect of the prior rights of the preferred stock is to make preferred dividends cumulative, only to the extent earned, and payable before common dividends can be declared. Thus, the preferred share holders are assured payment of all past earned dividends before common stock holders can share in profits.

A recent Jersey City, N. J., Chancery court order restraining distribution of common dividends and directing payment of a preferred dividend for 1936 and additional preferred dividends for 1938, was based on a finding that the company neglected to include in its earnings for these years dividends received from 9 wholly owned subsidiaries. Instead, consolidated earnings of all 10 companies were reported.

As a result a loss was shown in 1936 and a smaller net profit in 1938 was reported than the court ruled was actually earned. The court held the preferred share holders were entitled to dividends on these unindicated earnings before any subsequent common dividend distribution. A record of recent financial operations for the fiscal years ended April 30 follows:

Iceland and U. S. Agree on Stabilizing Exchange

Washington, D. C., May 5 [Special].—Secretary Henry Morgenthau Jr. of the treasury department and Thor Thors, Icelandic minister, today signed an exchange stabilization agreement under which $2,000,000 of the United States stabilization fund will be used for stabilizing the United States dollar-Icelandic krona rate of exchange. The National Bank of Iceland as well as the Icelandic government are signatories to the agreement.

"Moreover, they should help provide new employment for man, money, and machine, and thereby contribute to stabilization of the postwar economy," he asserted.

R. C. A.'s first quarter net profits amounted to $2,030,988, against $1,922,174 a year ago, but Sarnoff cautioned the shareholders the figure would undergo adjustment with any important change in the federal tax rate. The corporation set aside $5,853,700 for the March quarter's federal taxes, compared with $2,307,000 a year earlier.

Chicago's only annual meeting was the customarily quiet one of the Diamond T Motor Car company, attended by a few stockholder-directors who heard an outline of the company's operations, swelled by war orders, from Charles A. Tilt, president. Officers and directors were reëlected.

Kennecott Copper Earns More.

Stockholders of the Kennecott Copper corporation, meeting in New York, were told that earnings for the three months ended with March were approximately $20,400,000, compared with $17,875,000 a year earlier. E. T. Stannard, president, estimated that first quarter taxes, based on the highest proposal so far made in congress, would be about 11 million dollars, 3 millions more than a year earlier.

Charles J. Hardy, president of the American Car and Foundry company, sent stockholders a letter outlining war-bolstered operations in the fiscal year ended April 30, in which business reached the highest level in the company's history. Sales billed during the year exceeded 200 million dollars, and the company entered the current fiscal year with a carryover substantially more than that amount, he said.

Schedule Special Meeting.

A special meeting of Fairbanks, Morse & Co. stockholders is scheduled for today to vote on amended by-laws relating to indemnification of officers and directors, compensation, and contracts between the company, its officers, and other corporations.

Four new directors were elected at the annual meeting of the Pere Marquette railway in Detroit. They were Harvey D. Gibson, president of the Manufacturers' Trust company; Carl O. Hoffman, attorney; James G. Blaine, president of the Marine Midland Trust company, and James M. Nicely, vice president of the Guaranty Trust company, all of New York.

Public Service Company of Indiana, Inc., announced the election of two Indianapolis men as directors—Dudley R. Gallahue, president of the American States Life Insurance company, and Kurt F. Pantzer, law firm partner. They replace Laurence K. Callahan of Chicago, recently commissioned an army major, and Leo S. Ganter Jr., Muncie, Ind., who soon will report as a captain in the army reserve corps.

PLASTIC PAINT SALES.

Manufacturers of plastic paints have advised the census bureau that March sales increased to 584,398 pounds worth $42,754, compared with 458,856 pounds worth $36,474 in February and 652,756 pounds worth $42,582 in March of last year.

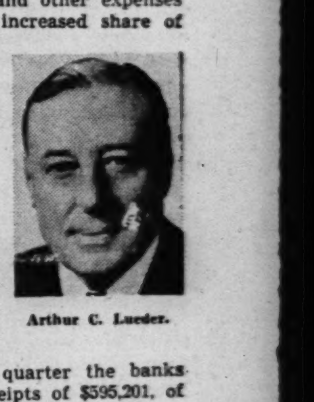
EXPENSES CLAIM MORE OF CLOSED BANKS' INCOMES

Lueder Reports Condition of 96 in County.

BY HAROLD SMITH.

Legal, clerical and other expenses are claiming an increased share of the net receipts of the 96 closed state banks in Cook county that are still in receivership. This is revealed in statements released yesterday by State Auditor Arthur C. Lueder showing the condition of the receiverships at the close of the first 1942 quarter.



Arthur C. Lueder.

In the March quarter the banks had total net receipts of $595,201, of which $166,004, or 27.8 per cent, went for liquidating expenses, leaving $429,197 toward future repayments to depositors and other creditors. The proportion compares with 23.2 per cent for the final 1941 quarter and 16.5 per cent for the first quarter last year.

Gross Receipts Drop.

Gross receipts of the banks totaled $870,332, a sharp drop from the $1,319,461 income of 109 banks in the preceding quarter. Of this new total, $382,021 was from the stock assessment account, $8,291 was in loans from the Reconstructon Finance corporation, and $480,332 represented refunds of money that had previously been advanced to protect assets, as well as income from miscellaneous sources.

Preferred and secured creditors received $54,114 during the quarter. The RFC was repaid $40,728. General creditors, which includes the depositors, got $387,546 from the six banks which made new distributions.

These six banks and the precentage payments each made were: Cragin State, 3.25 per cent; Columbia State Savings, 2.75 per cent; Ridge State, 3 per cent; and Noel State, Prudential State Savings, and Reliance Bank and Trust, each 5 per cent.

Expense Total Analyzed.

Of the $166,004 liquidating expense, nearly half, or $81,116 went for such items as clerical and stenographic hire and the salaries of deputy receivers. Legal fees took $12,774. The three receivers got a total of $4,875. Interest on current bills payable took $5,631. Miscellaneous expenses totaled $61,606.

Lueder's report showed that 21 of the 96 banks have paid all they can to creditors and now await legal termination of their receiverships.

Lueder reported that the 499 state banks in Illinois in operation on April 4 had total resources of $1,528,819,567 and deposits of $1,396,061,153. The 23 state banks in Chicago had resources of $977,615,929 and deposits of $902,610,820.

Leuder said an analysis of resources indicated the banks held $645,459,397 in investments of which $461,189,351 was by Chicago banks. Loans and discounts of $340,730,518 were reported, with the Chicago banks' share amounting to $186,436,774.

SEC APPROVES DISSOLUTION OF INLAND POWER

Philadelphia, Pa., May 5 (AP).—The Securities and Exchange commission approved today dissolution of the Inland Power and Light company, a subsidiary of the Pacific Light and Power company. The commission stipulated, however, that Pacific "shall not hereafter declare or pay dividends on its common stock except on 30 days' advance notice to this commission."

In addition, the SEC told Pacific that future balance sheets of the company should contain an explanation of the origin and restrictions on a "special reserve" of $1,135,113 to be created in connection with transactions in the dissolution of Inland.

WPB GRANTS PAY HIKE ON 10 TYPES OF BUILDING JOBS

Denies Raise to 14 Other Crafts in Detroit.

Washington, D. C., May 5 [Special]. —In the first decision made since President Roosevelt recently announced his wage stabilization policy, a board of arbitration of the War Production board has granted wage increases to 10 of the 24 crafts belonging to the Detroit building trades council. Increases were denied the other 14.

The board of review of WPB's labor production division said today the decision was unanimous. It is effective as of May 1 and is to continue in effect for a year.

All of the unions had asked considerable increases, but agreed to submit their demands to arbitration without the threat of a strike.

Highest Boost 12½ Cents.

The highest increase granted was 12½ cents an hour, which was won by brush painters and reinforced steel workers, in each case bringing hourly rates up to $1.50.

The decision declared:

"Thruout the discussions in the executive sessions of the board of arbitration and the board of review, the thought has been ever present that in these days of war emergency, necessitous high production, and extreme care of the preservation of our institutions and as a helpful hedge against inflation, there should be no attempt to alter the wage scales more than to stabilize them and to bring into line some that seemed definitely out of line."

Board a Permanent Body.

The arbitration board is a permanent body established under an agreement reached with the AFL building trades last August, under which all war construction disputes were to be settled peaceably. The board has final action in any dispute arising under the agreement, but takes part in no other types of labor disputes.

The decision is final and binding because the unions and employer groups signed agreements pledging themselves to abide by the board's rulings.

INTER-AMERICAN POOL IS FORMED TO HELP SHIPPING

Washington, D. C., May 5 (AP).—Formation of an inter-American shipping pool to alleviate the growing merchant marine problem of the western hemisphere was disclosed today by Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Uruguayan Ambassador Juan Carlos Blanco.

Blanco said Uruguay was donating one vessel to the pool and that he would sign a transfer contract in the near future.

Hull told his press conference that Uruguay was showing additional interest in the allied cause by contributing the ship, which he said he believed was a Danish vessel seized by the Uruguayan government last summer.

It was assumed that other American nations which seized refugee ships last summer would contribute to the pool.

Meanwhile the inter-American defense committee is working out a hemispheric convoy plan to meet the shipping shortage. The lack of shipping—heightened by the sinking of vessels of five Latin-American nations —is the hemisphere's major current problem.

CALLS ON WOMEN TO PREPARE FOR ENGINEERING JOB

Women were called upon yesterday to assume a new and vital rôle in the war effort, that of supplementing the inadequate ranks of men in mechanical engineering and similar work in connection with war production. J. I. Yellott, chairman of the defense training committee of the Illinois Institute of Technology, addressed the 20th annual Midwest Safety conference in the Hotel Sherman and declared women must assume an increasingly important position in the war drive.

Private industry, the army, or the navy each could readily absorb this year's male engineering graduates, many of whom will be included in the fighting forces rather than pursue their professions in industry, Yellott said. The introduction of women into these fields is made increasingly necessary because of a diminishing number of men taking postgraduate engineering courses, he said.

He said that about 1½ million persons skilled in engineering would be needed to supervise the work of the 15 million plant employés estimated to be required for war production by next year.

Chester Decides to Remain on Job with General Foods

New York, May 5 (AP).—Directors of General Foods corporation have persuaded Colby M. Chester, chairman for many years, to continue in his present duties, owing to heavy demands upon the company brought on by the war, Clarence Francis, president ,announced today. At the recent annual meeting the veteran chief executive officer told stockholders it might be the last time he would preside.

Stocks of domestic oil decreased 563,000 barrels for the week and foreign crude increased 73,000 barrels. Daily average production for the week was 3,581,000 barrels.

G. M. REJECTS WLB'S DOUBLE TIME PAY ORDER

Seeks Labor Hearing Open to Press.

"In order to avoid any misunderstandings or interruptions during the period the current issues with your union are before the War Labor board, we propose that until such time as a final agreement has been consummated, on or before Aug. 1, 1942, the following shall govern:

"All existing national and local written agreements will be continued in effect until a final national agreement is reached, except that pending a final adjustment of these issues, double time will not be paid for Sunday and holiday work. If economic concessions are granted in the final settlement, they will be retroactive to April 28, 1942."

WLB Head Expects Accord.

Washington, D. C., May 5 [Special]. —William H. Davis, chairman of the War Labor board, tonight said that he did not construe General Motor's latest answer as a refusal to comply with a WLB temporary order on double pay and expressed confidence that the dispute would be ironed out at hearings. Davis said that the board panel had been instructed to take up the double pay question at once. The controversy between the union and the company is complicated because the corporation has an unusual swing shift arrangement under which many men work seven consecutive days before taking a day off.

GROCERY CHAINS SIGN CONTRACTS BOOSTING WAGES

Wage increases of $3 to $8 a week were granted yesterday to 5,100 employés of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company and the National Tea company, in new contracts signed with the Retail Clerks International Protective association [AFL].

Vernon Housewright, international representative of the union, who announced the increases, said the companies also have established a 48 hour week for clerks and other workers, who are members of six local unions of the RCIPA in Chicago and vicinity.

Two other wage contracts embodying similar benefits were signed several weeks ago with the independent grocery store owners who are members of the Cook County Food Dealers association and the Community Stores association, Housewright announced.

Beatty to Retire as Head of Big Machinery Company

C. W. Sensenbaugh, chairman of the board of the Western Austin Manufacturing company, large maker of earth moving machinery, announced yesterday that Samuel F. Beatty had resigned as president, effective Aug. 1, and will retire to his farm in Virginia. He has been with the company 43 years. McClure Kelley, who has been vice president and treasurer, will succeed Beatty.

Federal Orders Portend Increased Demand.

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

Grains recorded minor gains on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday as government actions portended further expansion in the processing requirements. Processors already are using corn and other grains at a record rate but a further increase is indicated by the following events of the last few days:

1. The War Production board has ordered beverage alchohol distilleries to devote 75 days' output of high wines to production of industrial alcohol for munitions;

2. The Agricultural Marketing administration has announced award of lend-lease contracts for 16,900,000 pounds of corn starch pearl and an equal amount of corn starch powder, and

3. Lend-lease buyers have awarded contracts for 20 million pounds of edible linseed oil.

Corn Needs to Be Huge.

Grain men estimate that corn requirements of the distilleries during the next two and a half months may range from 15 to 20 million bushels. Some say even larger amounts will be required. The grain is expected to come mainly from government owned stocks, reduced on May 1 to 68 million bushels.

While Commodity Credit corporation officials report they have been shipping regular small amounts of grain to the distilleries, grain men said the biggest volume of the government corn has been sold to industrial consumers. The industrial demand is expected to expand as much as facilities will permit and the processors likely will require government grain when working on government contracts, dealers said.

The processors have estimated they will require close to a million bushels of corn to fill current lend-lease contracts. Trade sources estimate even more than a million bushels of flaxseed will be required to fill the linseed oil contracts.

Grains Move Narrowly.

In yesterday's trade wheat futures advanced ⅛ cent with May closing at $1.21⅝ a bushel. Corn was unchanged to ⅛ cent higher; oats, unchanged to ⅝ cent higher; rye, unchanged to ⅛ cent lower and soy beans 1⅛ to 1⅞ cents higher.

Flour mills were inquiring for wheat again in small amounts, elevator interests said, but no sales were reported. Brokers said there was little evidence of mill support in the futures.

C. M. Galvin, grain statistician of James E. Bennett & Co., estimated on the basis of May 1 conditions the winter wheat crop this year would produce approximately 638,715,000 bushels. This compares with the estimate made by Mrs. E. H. Miller last week of a crop of 645,227,000 bushels and the April 1 government prediction of 624,983,000 bushels.

CONFEREES STILL SILENT ON SHIP WAGE AGREEMENT

More than 300 shipbuilders, government, and union representatives attending the national shipbuilding conference continued their wage deliberations in the Hotel Sherman yesterday without public announcement of any conclusions reached. The sessions are closed to the public.

The conferees considered President Roosevelt's position, expressed by telegram, that any wage increases would interfere with federal efforts to control war costs.

Under contracts calling for wage increases based on advancing living costs, higher wages would be provided in the Pacific and Gulf coast shipbuilding districts. Efforts are being made to formulate contract provisions on a national scale.

Philip Morris Sales Up 32 Per Cent in Past Year

Philip Morris & Co. yesterday reported the sale of 18½ billion of its principal brand of cigarets during the fiscal year ended March 31, an increase of 32 per cent over sales in the preceding fiscal year, and nearly double the volume for the year ended March 31, 1939.

FARMERS BOOST HOG SHIPMENTS BUT PUT FEW CATTLE ON SALE

Heavier selling of 1941 fall pigs by farmers thruout the corn belt caused a slight recession of prices at the Chicago stockyards yesterday. The market eased 5 to 10 cents under pressure of the increased volume, but demand was broad.

Packers paid an average of $14 a hundred pounds for the day's supply, down 5 cents and only 5 cents above the lowest daily average since April 3. Top loads were bought at $14.10, down 10 cents for the day.

Resenting the recent slashing of cattle prices by packers trying to bring live costs in line with the beef ceilings that become effective next Monday, farmers reduced the cattle run to 5,000, the smallest Tuesday supply since last July. The market responded slightly with some classes recovering a small part of the big price reduction.

Steady prices were paid for fat lambs, the best bringing $14.60.

G. P. M'NEAR FAILS TO APPEAR FOR RAIL PAY HEARING

A hearing to arbitrate the stormy labor dispute which resulted in the government seizure of the 239 mile Toledo, Peoria and Western railroad opened in Chicago yesterday without the appearance of either George P. McNear Jr., president of the road, or a management representative. After waiting more than an hour, Justice Benjamin C. Hilliard of the Colorado Supreme court, arbitrator named by the War Labor board, issued a formal invitation for McNear or a railroad representative to be present at any stage of the hearing.

Justice Hilliard, telling assembled union representatives he was "embarrassed that so far the carrier hasn't appeared," ordered the hearing to proceed without such representation. Acting on the assumption that no management representative would attend during the day, the arbitrator cut the hearing short and recessed it until 10 a. m. today in the Stevens hotel.

EXPLAIN STANLEY OUTPUT PLAN TO 450 PRODUCERS

Details of the Stanley plan designed to step up war production by facilitating subcontracting were explained last night to about 450 Illinois manufacturers at a meeting in the La Salle hotel sponsored by the Illinois Manufacturers' association.

Landry said the machine tool industry is geared to produce 2 billion dollars worth of products this year, 2½ times the 1941 output.

PERMITS VARIED SALES PRICES IF MARKET SHIFTS

New York, May 5 [Special].—Denying a claim for triple damages for alleged discrimination under the Robinson-Patman act, a federal jury has upheld the right of a seller to charge varying prices on similar goods to the same class of customers when the variations merely reflect rapid market changes.

The Robinson-Patman act provides that the same grade and quantity of merchandise cannot be sold to a similar class of customers at different prices.

The case, reportedly the first of its kind, was brought by F. W. Huber, Inc., New York flour jobber, against the Pillsbury Flour company, Minneapolis, for $300,000 damages on charges that Pillsbury sold a certain grade of flour to competitors at lower prices than to Huber.

The defense contended that during the period covered the wheat market fluctuated widely and that the prices charged by Pillsbury reflected these market changes, which frequently were on an hour to hour basis.
